Crisis In Germany Is Faced By Chancellor Hitler

PAPEN AIDE ARRESTED BY NAZI POLICE

Conservatives and Stahlmen Are Openly Aligned Against Nazi Forces

CURB STORM TROOPS

Rumors That Troopers Will Be Disbanded Is Denied By Leaders of Group

BERLIN, June 28.—(UP)—Two of the most powerful elements in Germany—the conservatives and the Stahlmen—were openly aligned against the radical Nazis today.

With a crisis apparently inevitable, none knew the extent of underground strength of 12,000,000 socialist and communist voters who at the last election in March, 1933, won 201 seats—nearly 1-3 of the total—in the Reichstag.

On both the conservative and Stahlmen fronts the radical Nazis, personified by Paul Joseph Goebbels, fiery minister of propaganda, seemed to have suffered reverses.

To the affront given them by the recent speech of Vice Chancellor Franz von Papen, representing the conservatives, was added a rebuke from Chancellor Adolf Hitler, "Die Fuehrer," himself.

Nazi secret police struck back at von Papen by arresting Edgar Jung, a writer who helped prepare his speech. First they searched his apartment and that of Walter Schott, a fellow writer, seeking copies of the speech.

Papen Intervenes

Von Papen intervened with secret police heads in an effort to obtain Jung's release. The result was not known.

Jung was understood to be still in prison. It also was understood that Schott, who is editor of the semi-private, conservative news service Der Fuehrer Briefe, also was arrested.

There were increasing signs that the storm troops, who tried vainly to absorb the Stahlmen—the steel helmet organization, composed of World War veterans being curbed as part of the government's policy.

As von Papen conferred with Hitler to obtain assurance of continued confidence in him after his denunciation of Nazi radicals, so Franz Seidte, Stahlmen leader,

ELLSWORTH TO GO SOUTH

LOS ANGELES, June 28.—(UP)—On the first leg of a projected flight over the South Pole, Ellsworth, noted explorer, and Bernt Balchen, famous airplane pilot, will leave here Monday for San Francisco.

They plan to leave that port July 13 for Melbourne, Australia. Mrs. Ellsworth will accompany the fliers to Melbourne and remain there until they return from the antarctic.

A former attempt by the two men to fly over the pole ended in failure last January when an ice ship broke and cast their supply ship adrift.

Skills of their plane, the Polar Star, slipped through the ice and was damaged so badly the flight was abandoned.

Votes First Time at 81 Years Of Age

LAGUNA BEACH, June 28.—"Better late than never" runs an old saying, the truth of which apparently is appreciated by James H. Clear, 860 Anita street, who, today at the ripe old age of 81, for the first time since he was born back in Maryland, registered here as an elector. His registration was taken by Miss Daisy Aiken, deputy registrar of voters, maintaining an office in the chamber of commerce building. While still a child, Clear accompanied his parents to Washington, D. C., where he remained for 65 years. As a bona fide resident of the District of Columbia he was prevented by law from voting no facilities being provided that end in the national capital.

MERRIAM BARED AS HEAD OF LAND FIRM SUED FOR FRAUD

PRESIDENT TO TALK TONIGHT OVER NETWORK

Will Tell Nation of His Plans for Greater New Deal for Recovery

(Editor's Note: President Franklin D. Roosevelt's address over the radio this evening will be at 9:30 o'clock E.S.T., which is 8:30 o'clock Pacific Coast time. The message will be broadcast over KFI and KHJ.)

WASHINGTON, June 28.—(UP)—President Roosevelt in his fireside chat to the nation tonight is expected to bring personal word to the country on his plan for a "greater new deal."

The president's proposed broad social program probably will divide attention with his account of congressional stewardship.

Phases of the social program which will be whipped into shape during the summer in readiness for presentation to congress early next year, were gone over informally by Mrs. Roosevelt.

He discussed his plans with Harry Hopkins, federal emergency relief administrator; Secretary of the Interior Harold I. Ickes, Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, and Donald Richberg, chief NRA counsel.

It was thought likely that the President will also give an explanation of his long-range planning program calling for systematic government expenditures through orderly development of public works and the complete utilization of land and water resources.

The President put the finishing touches to his address today and turned to consideration of important pending legislation that includes communications, stock market control and housing.

The personnel of the communications commission doubtless will be forthcoming before nightfall with the bare possibility of action also on the others.

A mass of names has been submitted to Mr. Roosevelt for appointment. As yet, it was insisted, no definite decisions have been made. Ferdinand Pecora, chief counsel of the stock market investigating committee is expected to head the markets board.

Anxious to get under way by Saturday morning on his cruise to Hawaii but openly considering the possibility he may not be able to leave before Monday the President was making rapid progress in disposing of routine administration matters.

Since his return to Washington two days ago he has acted on several hundred bills, vetoing a goodly portion of them.

MILWAUKEE STREET CARS, BUSES IDLE

MILWAUKEE, June 28.—(UP)—Milwaukee street-cars and bus service was disrupted today by refusal of operators at several barns to take their cars onto the streets.

Police and American Federation of Labor officials said the operators acted in sympathy with union car men, bus drivers and electricians of the Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light Co., already on strike.

Company executives said that the men were intimidated by two riots last night which forced a complete suspension of street car service for 10 hours.

Thousands of Milwaukeeans walked and hitch-hiked to work.

BINGHAM'S SON JAILED

PERSEY CITY, N. J., June 28.—(UP)—Alfred M. Bingham, editor of the magazine Common Sense and son of former U. S. Senator Hiram Bingham of Connecticut, was sentenced to 30 days in jail today for picketing activities at a furniture plant.

Judge William J. McGovern in criminal court sentenced Bingham on a charge of being a disorderly person. The youthful editor was arrested last Friday in front of the Miller Parlor Furniture company.

Corliss Lamont, son of the financier, was jailed yesterday at the scene of the picketing.

Apparently It's Hot In Nebraska

ELBA, Neb., June 28.—(UP)—Pop corn popped on the ear in the sun scorched fields of Nebraska today.

Several farmers reported the unusual incident, and Ben Gasst brought a number of popped out ears into town to prove the story.

LIFE OF NOTED ACTRESS FAST EBBING TODAY

No Hope Held Out for Recovery of Marie Dressler, Reports Say

HOLLYWOOD, June 28.—(UP)—The life of Marie Dressler, beloved stage and screen comedienne, seemed ebbing fast today.

Bulletins from the Santa Barbara bedside of the actress indicated she was losing her valet two year fight against a complication of diseases generally held incurable but which the indomitable Marie thought she could defeat.

Her friends here—she is the most highly respected and most popular of all the stars—studied physician's reports and then sadly agreed that she probably was making her last stand.

"Her condition is grave and the outcome dubious," a late bulletin read. "It is not anticipated that she will pass on immediately."

Until the past few days every

BROTHERS HOP OFF ON POLAND FLIGHT

NEW YORK, June 28.—(UP)—The brothers Adamowicz took off from Floyd Bennett field today on a projected flight to Warsaw, Poland. They will stop at Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, to refuel before venturing out over the Atlantic.

The brothers, Joseph and Benjamin, expected to reach Harbor Grace by 3 p. m. today. They hoped to hop off on the 3800 mile ocean course toward Warsaw within 24 hours thereafter. Preparing for the flight a year ago, they cracked up the same plane they flew today at Harbor Grace.

Today's take-off was perfect. The Bellanca monoplane, powered by a 360 h. p. whirlwind engine and christened the City of Warsaw, glided down the runway under a light load and rose without difficulty at 6:40 a. m. (EDT.)

WIFE OF GANGSTER IS FOUND GUILTY

DEDHAM, Mass., June 28.—(UP)—Nineteen-year-old Norma Brighton Millen today was found guilty of being an accessory to two murders and a robbery committed by her husband. The verdict, carrying no recommendation of mercy, could result in a maximum sentence of 21 years imprisonment.

The jury of 12 men re-entered a tiny courtroom stuffed with the avidly curious, after deliberating seven hours. A crowd of 4000 waited outside and when the news was conveyed to it through loudspeakers a chorus of groans arose. Norma received the verdict without a whimper. Her rougish and pallid face remained immobile and the protective arm of a court officer, who thought she might faint, was not needed.

NEWSPAPERS IN SAN FRANCISCO BEING GUARDED

Receive Threats of Bombing for Attitude Over Stevedores' Strike

(Copyright, 1934, by United Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 28.—(UP)—Private detectives guarded San Francisco newspaper plants today after the Chronicle received notes threatening to bomb its building unless it changed its attitude toward the Pacific coast maritime strike.

San Francisco's other newspapers, the News, the Examiner and the Call Bulletin, were guarded. The publications refused to support the strike, although none have condemned seriously the demands of strikers.

Nature of the threats against the Chronicle were not revealed. Officials of that newspaper refused to make a statement. Police also were reticent. However, it was significant that the other newspapers immediately posted guards on their buildings.

As President Roosevelt's special labor board continued the second day of its mediation efforts in the major industrial crisis involving 23,000 workers and the entire commerce with the orient, industrial leaders issued a third ultimatum.

They said curtly that they would open the port of San Francisco—by force if necessary—by noon Friday unless the union men returned to work.

There was some hope the president's mediation board, headed by Archbishop Edward J. Hanna, might bring peace soon in the situation which has plagued coast ports since May 9.

However, leaders of both the shipping interests and unions told the United Press informally that they believed a truce could be effected only after President Roosevelt "shook a bigger stick than he has so far."

What the leaders would not say, National guardsmen and police were prepared for any emergency should the shipping interests, through the industrial association of San Francisco, carry out their threat to open the port here at noon Friday.

Violence was sure to follow any such move, leaders of both factions agreed.

Assistant Secretary of Labor Edward F. McGrady, sent here by Secretary of Labor Perkins for a second time in an effort to effect conciliation, warned workers that the industrial association's threat meant immediate action toward settlement was imperative.

He pleaded with strikers to return to work. Union leaders, headed by Harry Bridges, refused to take the shipper's threats seriously.

While dock workers were adamant in their demands for recognition of their union and control of hiring halls—the crux of the dispute—the strike movement spread. Passenger service of river boats operating from San Francisco to Stockton and Sacramento was suspended.

LUTHERANS ATTACK INDECENT PICTURES

ALBANY, N. Y., June 28.—(UP)—A resolution assailing "indecent" motion pictures and urging a united campaign by citizens against such movies was adopted today at the 19th annual convention of the Atlantic district, Lutheran Missouri Synod.

"There has been a deplorable degeneration in the moral ideals of our American youth together with an alarming increase in juvenile delinquency, due in large measure to the debasing moral tone of the moving pictures," the resolution charged.

The resolution urged adults to withhold their patronage from "immoral" motion pictures and called on parents, teachers and "others responsible for the upbringing of our young people to use their influence against the regular and unsupervised attendance at motion pictures shows by children."

Victims Of Company To Press Suits

Reveal Concern's Permit to Operate Cancelled in Two States

MEDFORD, Ore., June 28.—(UP)—Effort to bring up the long-drawn suits of alleged victims of the old Crescent City investment company, against three surety companies, will be made soon, George Neilson, Medford attorney, said today.

The suits have been in court more than a year and have been delayed by demurrer after demurrer, Neilson said. The present suit was brought by Bert Lowry and five other Jackson county residents who bought lots in a proposed addition to Crescent City, Calif., in 1928 and 1929, from the Crescent City investment company, of which Frank E. Merriam, now governor of California, was then president.

Refunded Money

Several years ago the company refunded money paid by two aged Jackson county men, and subsequently a suit of 25 others who bought the property, brought against the surety companies, was won by the plaintiffs and judgments entered.

According to Neilson, hundreds of lots in the proposed addition were sold in Oregon and California. C. B. Day was resident agent for the company in Oregon and R. T. Hamilton was sales manager.

The company allegedly told prospective buyers that a half-million dollar hotel was to be built in the addition, the town of Crescent City moved there and a huge waterfront development made by oil companies. The land is still unimproved.

Cancel Permit

Upon complaint of some of the buyers, the right of the company to operate in Oregon was cancelled by Real Estate Commissioner C. B. Johnson, who also brought the matter before the California commission, resulting in cancellation of the company's California permit also.

Johnson made several trips to California and was promised, Neilson said, by the company that refunds would be made in any cases where affidavits charging fraud or misrepresentation were filed. Those of two aged men, however, allegedly were the only known instances of restitution.

The present suit, involving about $3500, has been in court here more than a year. It is against the surety companies which signed the bond of the Crescent City investment company.

"The suit was of necessity brought against the surety companies," Neilson said today, "because a judgment against the Crescent City investment company would not be collectable."

LATE NEWS FLASHES

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28.—(UP)—Another check to Tom Mooney's long fight to gain freedom was registered today when Federal Judge A. F. St. Sure denied a petition asking the judge to submit Mooney's latest appeal to the U. S. circuit court of appeals.

LONDON, June 28.—(UP)—Great Britain today enacted into law a retaliatory measure against the German debt moratorium which becomes effective Sunday.

HARBOR GRACE, N. F., June 28.—(UP)—Joseph Adamowicz and his brother Benjamin, landed here at 3:44 p. m. in their monoplane, "City of Warsaw" on a projected one-stop flight from Floyd Bennett airport, New York, to Warsaw, Poland.

BROOK HOLLOW COUNTRY CLUB, Dallas, Tex., June 28.—(UP)—Lawson Little, British amateur champion, was eliminated from the trans-Mississippi golf tournament in the first round of match play today.

Zell Eaton, Oklahoma City, co-medalist, took the measure of the Californian in an 18-hole match, 2 and 1.

GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON RENEWS ATTACK ON CLARENCE DARROW AS FINAL REPORT COMPLETED

WASHINGTON, June 28.—(UP)—Gen. Hugh S. Johnson and Clarence Darrow today resumed their battle of adverbs, adjectives, and anathema over who will save the little business man.

Johnson answered the Recovery Review board's second report, saying it was typified by "unfairness, untruth, temper, spirit, and utter worthlessness," and had not produced "one little drachm of evidence" of monopoly or oppression.

Within 48 hours, Darrow will carry to the White House the third and final report citing monopolies existing under protection of 11 more codes, seven related to the construction industry. The report will offer general conclusions on code operation which one member said will "startle the country" and show NRA is "headed for the junkheap."

The review board, in closing its fifteen-week study of NRA, feels satisfied its efforts will result in a retreat from code provisions unfair to small business. One board member said a revolt is under way throughout the country.

Johnson's letter to the president accompanying the NRA answer termed the second Darrow report as "even more inaccurate and inconsequential than the first."

Citing the board's statement that it had received 600 complaints, Johnson pointed out that 2,500,000 concerns operating under codes, the ratio of complaints is "6 out of every 25,000, or 99.76 per cent of non-complainants."

TEN KILLED IN 100 REPORTED EXPLOSIONS IN DEAD AS HEAT POWDER PLANT SWEEPS NATION

Six Others Reported to Be Seriously Hurt; Four Burn at Hanford

OLYMPIA, Wash., June 28.—(UP)—Ten persons were killed and six others fought for their lives today after two terrific explosions wrecked the Denn Powder company plant near here.

While state fire marshal's investigators searched the blackened walls and charred debris seeking to determine exact cause of the blasts, six employees were near death in a hospital. Little hope was held for their recovery.

Among the dead was H. J. DENN, mixing room worker, and relative of J. A. Denn, president of the company. Other victims were:

CHARLES CARPENTER, 65, Black Lake.
HAZEL EPLEY, 37, Olympia.
ANDREW HAYDEN, 29, laborer, Olympia.
J. Q. ADAMS, laborer, Olympia.
JOHN CLAUSEN, 24, Black Lake.
CLARENCE and EARL ULERY, brothers, Olympia.
OLIVER WILSON, 21, Olympia.
ALVIN SMITH, 29, Olympia.

Seven were killed outright by the explosions, which occurred late yesterday shortly after the day shift had reported for work. Three were injured so badly they died shortly after reaching a hospital.

Gruesome Scene

The plant, located at Hawk's Prairie, a suburb eight miles northeast of here, presented a gruesome scene today. So great was the force of the blasts that bodies were blown to bits and scattered widely in all directions. Surrounding country in a four mile radius felt the shock.

The explosions originated in the mixing plant where 40 tons of dynamite was stored. The first blast started a fire in the structure and ignited a powder magazine. Most of the employees apparently escaped injury in the first explosion, only to receive full force of the second while they were attempting to extinguish the blaze.

Burning debris hurled by the blasts started several brush fires, and for a time a second storage house was threatened. Volunteer firemen from Olympia, assisted by

ONLY 100 INVITED TO ASTOR WEDDING

NEWPORT, R. I., June 28.—(UP)—It will be "the one hundred" instead of "the four hundred" on Saturday at the Astor-French wedding, an event of Newport's 1934 social season.

Establishing a new all-time record for exclusiveness, it became known that the list of guests invited to witness the marriage of young John Jacob Astor III to Ellen Tuck French had been pruned to an even hundred. Only 350—a mere handful according to Newport social standards—will attend the subsequent reception.

The list of the "chosen few" was withheld.

SAYS BONUS TO BE PASSED NEXT YEAR

SAN DIEGO, June 28.—(UP)—Confidence that the next congress would pass the bonus bill was voiced here today by James E. Van Zandt, national commander of the veterans of foreign wars.

"We have our groundwork completed in a major move to get this bill through the house and senate," Van Zandt said. "I am sure we will get the bonus from the next congress."

Van Zandt is to speak late today before the annual convention of the Arizona-California department of the veterans of Foreign Wars.

Officers were to be elected in the final session today.

Last night the Gresham Post, No. 8, of Los Angeles, won the degree team championship. San Jose, Monterey and Tulare posts won awards for publicity achievements.

BOARD WILL BE SELECTED IN FEW DAYS

MORTGAGE INSURANCE

National Companies to Be Established to Finance Mortgages for Owners

WASHINGTON, June 28.—(UP)—The housing bill, one of the major efforts in the administration's recovery program, designed to stimulate construction throughout the nation, was signed today by President Roosevelt.

There is no indication as yet, however, as to the personnel of the board that will administer the measure.

The bill provides for improvement in housing standards and conditions with a system of mutual mortgage insurance.

President Roosevelt approved a joint resolution to amend the settlement of the war claims act of 1928 and a joint resolution providing an additional appropriation for expenses of special and select committees of the house for the fiscal year 1935.

First Business

Reports that Mr. Roosevelt was concerned over a clause in the housing bill concerning the borrowing by congressmen from federal agencies apparently were unwarranted as he made the approval of the housing bill the first order of today's business.

Meanwhile, it was explained at the White House, that he was making steady progress toward the appointment of various boards and commissions. It was indicated that all of them might not be filled before he leaves Saturday for Hawaii and that he would complete the job by navy radio from the cruiser Houston.

Faced with a busy week, Mr. Roosevelt later in the day hoped to put the finishing touches to his nation-wide address that he will make tonight at 9:30 o'clock.

Restores Activity

The housing bill establishes machinery by which it is hoped to restore activity to the building trades and capital goods industries.

Its major provisions: Insurance for credit accounts up to $2000 per line to finance modernization and rehabilitation work where needed. A $200,000,000 appropriation is expected to guarantee $1,000,000,000 of activity.

Mortgage insurance to entice mortgage money into the market in the hope it will encourage the building of new homes and encourage the construction of low cost housing.

Permits establishment of national mortgage companies which will be authorized to issue evidences of indebtedness up to ten times the value of their capital stock. They will be allowed to finance mortgages and operate properties which they are obliged to take over through foreclosure.

Insurance deposits in savings and loan association to place such agencies on an even competitive basis with banks whose deposits are insured.

THREE WOMEN ARE KILLED IN BLAST

CHEYENNE, Wyo., June 28.—(UP)—Three women were killed late last night when an explosion, followed by a fire, wrecked nearly an entire business block here.

The dead, all permanent guests of the Mecca and Starr rooms on the second floors of the buildings, were Margaret Mitchell, Jane Reed and June Monroe.

The bodies of Mrs. Mitchell and Miss Monroe were recovered early today. Firemen raked the debris for the third body after the fire had been brought under control quickly.

Two other women occupants of the rooming houses and an unidentified soldier were injured but none critically.

100 REPORTED DEAD AS HEAT SWEEPS NATION

during the last week, according to a United Press nationwide survey. The weather bureau said that in most sections the tortuous hot weather will continue for at least two days and that the only prospects of relief from rain were in the northwestern states, Minnesota and the Dakotas.

The greatest toll of life was in Illinois where 12 drownings and four heat deaths were reported. Ohio reported 10 drownings and three other deaths directly attributable to the humid heat.

The heat, coupled with reports that corn was withering on its stalks in the great farmlands of Nebraska and Iowa, sent the price of corn up from 11-3 to nearly 2 cents on the Chicago board of trade. Wheat prices rose more than a cent as also did oats.

The choicest grade of heavy steers commanded $10.40 a hundredweight, the highest price since January, 1932.

Blown 200 Feet

First eye-witness account of the disaster was given by Edward Parker, an employee, who was blown about 200 feet by the second blast while running from the building.

He said a stick of dynamite caught fire in the grinder and spread to an adjoining supply while he and several other employees attempted to extinguish the blaze with hoses.

Falling in this, Parker ran from the building and was crawling through a barbed wire fence 25 feet away when the second blast rocked the plant. He was hurled into a wood, but despite his injuries, he came back and assisted in the removal of other injured.

Most of the victims were mangled so badly that identification was difficult. One man was decapitated by a flying object. Others were armless and legless. Several were killed instantly.

WILL ROGERS says:

BEVERLY HILLS, June 28. (To the Editor of The Register:) Well, tonight Mr. Roosevelt is going to talk to the country. I doubt if ever in the history of any country, at any time, was the talks of one man so earnestly listened to. The best example we have that he actually feels that we are headed out of the brush is that he is going on this trip to Honolulu. Firemen don't stop for a nap in the middle of a fire. If he feels like it's coming out all right, why the rest ought not to worry, for he has more invested in it than any man in it.

BURN TO DEATH

HANFORD, Cal., June 28.—(UP)—Four persons were burned to death today, three of them within a few feet of safety, when fire trapped them in their four-room ranchhouse near here.

A. Kolff, 47, rancher. Matthew Kolff, 10, a son. Jennie Kolff, 11, a daughter. Mrs. Jennie Larkoff, 45, housekeeper.

Albert Kolff, 13, eldest son of the rancher, at first believed to have been trapped with the others of his family, was located in Le-moore, where he was visiting friends.

Cause of the fire was not determined. A city fire truck was sent to the ranch when neighbors reported the blaze, but the building by then was razed.

Adopt Resolution Of Condolence

A resolution of condolence has been adopted by Calumet camp, United Spanish War Veterans, expressing the sympathy of the camp to Commander A. F. effort was made to conceal the fact that the actress passed a half dozen grave crises since she first was stricken seriously two years ago.

The admission that the outcome was dubious and that her immediate death was not anticipated carried the inference to her friends that she never would arise from her present sick bed although the very nature of her ailments might permit her to linger for weeks.

Knowledge that her health was not good and that she had beaten back previous serious attacks was general in Hollywood. Of late years, when she worked, she put in never more than a few hours a day at picture making. Even this abbreviated schedule was condemned by physicians and friends but she went right ahead turning out some of the greatest of Hollywood's box office attractions.

Her health was failing when she made "Min and Bill" which won for her the annual award of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences for the best performance by an actress. Another year she was runner up for this honor for her work in "Em-ma." Still later "Tugboat Annie" broke box office records everywhere.

Forced to her bed finally late last fall the actress still held to the belief she would return for still greater screen triumphs.

Born in 1893, Miss Dressler's age was militating against her in this apparent final fight.

Ralph S. Foulger Dies At His Home

The body of Ralph S. Foulger, 42, who passed away at his home, 1909 Hickory street in Santa Ana, following a heart attack Tuesday night, was shipped by the Smith and Tuthill funeral home today for burial in Salt Lake City, Utah, Foulger's birthplace.

Foulger, who had lived in Santa Ana for two years and in California for 12, is survived by his wife, Mrs. Helen Foulger, and a daughter, Miss Shirley Foulger, both of this city. He was a representative for Dunn and Bradstreet.

METHODISTS JOIN WAR ON INDECENT FILMS; OUTLINE COMPREHENSIVE PROGRAM

LONG BEACH, June 28.—Methodists of Southern California yesterday pledged cooperation to the "Legion of Decency" of the Roman Catholic Church in its fight against indecent motion pictures and outlined a comprehensive social program.

A report presented to the fifty-ninth annual Southern California conference of the Methodist Episcopal church by the committee on social problems, international relations and the state of the church declared:

That Methodists will aid Catholics in their campaign for a sweeping reform in film fare, and that the conference places no confidence in promises made by the Motion Picture Producers' association of removal or prevention of objectionable features of cinema releases.

The committee report was the outstanding feature of the second day of the conference, which continues until July 2.

Besides the indecent film indictment, other important recommendations contained in the report and approved by the conference included:

Strong objection to block booking of motion pictures.

"The fact is," Johnson said, "that after three months of suppression of all favorable testimony, omission of testimony from the record, refusal to permit NRA opportunity to defend itself, incitation of malcontents, and encouragement of exaggeration, this board has not been able to produce as much as one little drachm of evidence that there is any monopoly or oppression at all."

New Evidence

The NRA administrator found new evidence that the board is using its high office "not to perform its functions of showing us our errors, giving us the truth or in any way protecting the little fellow—but solely to manufacture false material for any politician who may be demagogue enough to use this kind of political coin as honesty money."

Johnson said the Darrow attack on the asbestos code was based on provision "never yet approved and, therefore, non-existent." The boot and shoe code was attacked for curtailing style shows. These were characterized by the administrator as "a racket."

The statement that larger companies dominate the cement code authority is "the exact reverse of truth," Johnson said.

Criticism of cement basing points is challenged by the reply that "the code provides for no basing points."

Changes in the retail code after acceptance by the industry, and vigorously attacked by the review agency were defended by Johnson and Division Administrator Harry O. King as known to the president when the code was signed and reported at once to the industry.

The lumber code report is called a disagreement with NRA's determination on several debatable economic issues.

Donald R. Richberg, NRA counsel said the board's demand that retailers be prevented from advertising, even truthfully, that they undersell competitors, is "price control and restraints upon competition."

It was alleged by Chief George Franzen and Officer V. G. Wolfe, the arresting officers, that Trujillo backed his truck around a corner and into a parked car while under the influence of liquor.

Tom Groves, 32, Alhambra, was booked at the jail at 11 o'clock last night for drunkenness by California Highway Patrolman Walter Meyer.

Charged with driving drunk, Lester Hayes waived his preliminary hearing in justice court yesterday afternoon and was held to answer in the superior court by Judge Kenneth Morrison.

Editor Register:

When Paul Witmer resigned from the city council recently, it appears the taxpayers lost a friend and defender. He upheld economy and was ever ready to guard the treasury against unjustified raids and donations to privately-controlled organizations.

The question arises in my mind, if such a good friend of the people must resign because of holding another public office, why it is that others continue to hold two public jobs, at taxpayers' expense, and continue to do so.

Specifically, some of us would like to know how and why William Penn continues to sit upon the council and vote for tax donations to the National Guard, hiring unnecessary firemen, and other things which cost taxpayers unnecessary money, when he is on the county taxpayers' payroll also as a welfare department worker.

Should he not resign either from the city council, which pays him $25 of city tax money, or from his welfare jobs which pays him $121.50 of county tax money plus mileage. It doesn't matter which he gives up, but I believe this interlocking city and county connection is detrimental to city taxpayers, and one of the public jobs which he now holds should be sacrificed in the public interest.

I would also like to know what pressure was used, or what factors, influenced Bruns and Rowland, as one of their first official acts after appointment to the council, to support and vote for appropriations which the previous elected economical council had refused to sanction as an unnecessary burden upon us.

PAPEN'S AIDE COURT ORDERS ARRESTED BY CONSTABLE TO NAZI POLICE LIMIT ACTIONS

sought and obtained assurances yesterday.

Seldte not only is a cabinet minister but he is president of the Stahlhelm.

Retain Identity

Seldte said Hitler promised the Stahlhelm would be permitted to retain its identity. It was said also that Hitler gave strict orders to newspapers and storm troop leaders that their campaign against the Stahlhelm must be stopped.

The campaign always going on under the surface and occasionally reaching the open, exploded with a roar after a fight between a Stahlhelm man and a Nazi storm troop leader at Quetzin last week end.

Hitler, apparently torn between opposing forces, told Seldte, according to Nazi authorities, that he personally was not in sympathy with the storm troopers' demand.

As for the storm troopers themselves, though it is denied that they are to be disbanded, recent orders have shown a decided trend away from the dominance they had accomplished.

There was an order June 16 that rallymen members of the storm troops must have at least 10 hours of rest before going to work. They were advised by the storm troop staff to withdraw because they would hardly ever be able to drill.

On June 17, the staff advised local leaders to make sure that storm troop activities did not interfere with harvesting or general farming.

A plan discussed for weeks would demobilize those storm troops who either have official or private jobs, leaving 100,000 men in uniform—mostly unemployed or boys. Under this plan many of the 100,000 would be housed in barracks like an army.

Following asserted improper action in office on several occasions, culminating in a reported failure to enter a court collection on the date received, Constable Cornish Roehm has been ordered by Judge Kenneth Morrison not to serve any papers from his court where the collection of money is involved, it was learned today.

Judge Morrison's edict was given to Roehm last Thursday, it was learned, after the constable had collected $7 from a Mexican in Delhi on a writ of execution and failed to deposit the money or make any record of it until reprimanded by the court several days later. Roehm finally produced the money and then certified in his records that it was collected on June 21 instead of June 16, when the actual collection was made, according to office attaches.

Roehm was given the execution writ against Liberator Cayuse of Delhi on Saturday, June 16, and collected the money in cash that day, according to Jesus Gallegos, employer of Cayuse who actually paid the money. Mrs. Adela Rodriguez, defendant in the action, came to the constable's office Wednesday, June 21, to collect her money, knowing that it had been collected by Roehm.

Finding no record of the collection in Roehm's office she went to Judge Morrison who verified the fact that there was no record of the collection. Roehm was asked Thursday to account for the discrepancy and told Morrison that he had received a check for the

during the last week, according to a United Press nationwide survey. The weather bureau said that in most sections the tortuous hot weather will continue for at least two days and that the only prospects of relief from rain were in the northwestern states, Minnesota and the Dakotas.

The greatest toll of life was in Illinois where 12 drownings and four heat deaths were reported. Ohio reported 10 drownings and three other deaths directly attributable to the humid heat.

The heat, coupled with reports that corn was withering on its stalks in the great farmlands of Nebraska and Iowa, sent the price of corn up from 11-3 to nearly 2 cents on the Chicago board of trade. Wheat prices rose more than a cent as also did oats.

The choicest grade of heavy steers commanded $10.40 a hundredweight, the highest price since January, 1932.

Blown 200 Feet

First eye-witness account of the disaster was given by Edward Parker, an employee, who was blown about 100 feet by the second blast while running from the building.

He said a stick of dynamite caught fire in the grinder and spread to an adjoining supply while he and several other employees attempted to extinguish the blaze with hoses.

Falling in this, Parker ran from the building and was crawling through a barbed wire fence 50 feet away when the second blast rocked the plant. He was hurled into a wood, but despite his injuries, he came back and assisted in the removal of other injured.

Most of the victims were mangled so badly that identification was difficult. One man was decapitated by a flying object. Others were armless and legless. Several

WILL ROGERS says:

BEVERLY HILLS, June 28. (To the Editor of The Register.) Well, tonight Mr. Roosevelt is going to talk to the country. I doubt if ever in the history of any country, at any time, was the talk of one man so earnestly listened to. The best example we have that he actually feels that we are headed out of the brush is that he is going on this trip to Honolulu. Firemen don't stop for a nap in the middle of a fire. If he feels like it's coming out all right, why the rest ought not to worry, for he has more invested in it than any man in it.

BURN TO DEATH

HANFORD, Cal., June 28.—(UP)—Four persons were burned to death today, three of them within a few feet of safety, when fire trapped them in their four-room ranchhouse near here.

A. Kolff, 47, rancher. Matthew Kolff, 10, a son. Jennie Kolff, 11, a daughter. Mrs. Jennie Larkoff, 45, housekeeper.

Albert Kolff, 13, eldest son of the rancher, at first believed to have been trapped with the others of his family, was located in Le-moore, where he was visiting friends.

Cause of the fire was not determined. A city fire truck was sent to the ranch when neighbors reported the blaze, but the building by then was razed.

Adopt Resolution Of Condolence

A resolution of condolence has been adopted by Calumppit camp, United Spanish War Veterans, expressing the sympathy of the camp to Commander A. F. LIFE OF NOTED ACTRESS FAST EBBING TODAY effort was made to conceal the fact that the actress passed a half dozen grave crises since she first was stricken seriously two years ago.

The admission that the outcome was dubious and that her immediate death was not anticipated carried the inference to her friends that she never would arise from her present sick bed although the very nature of her ailments might permit her to linger for weeks.

Knowledge that her health was not good and that she had beaten back previous serious attacks was general in Hollywood. Of late years, when she worked, she put in never more than a few hours a day at picture making. Even this abbreviated schedule was condemned by physicians and friends but she went right ahead turning out some of the greatest of Hollywood's box office attractions.

Her health was falling when she made "Min and Bill" which won for her the annual award of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences for the best performance by an actress. Another year she was runner up for this honor for her work in "Emma." Still later "Tugboat Annie" broke box office records everywhere.

Forced to her bed finally late last fall the actress still held to the belief she would return for still greater screen triumphs.

Born in 1893, Miss Dressler's age was militating against her in this apparent final fight.

Ralph S. Foulger Dies At His Home

The body of Ralph S. Foulger, 42, who passed away at his home, 1985 Hickory street in Santa Ana, following a heart attack Tuesday night, was shipped by the Smith and Tuthill funeral home today for burial in Salt Lake City, Utah, Foulger's birthplace.

Foulger, who had lived in Santa Ana for two years and in California for 12, is survived by his wife, Mrs. Helen Foulger, and a daughter, Miss Shirley Foulger, both of this city. He was a representative for Dunn and Bradstreet.

METHODISTS JOIN WAR ON INDECENT FILMS; OUTLINE COMPREHENSIVE PROGRAM

LONG BEACH, June 28.—Methodists of Southern California yesterday pledged cooperation to the "League of Decency" of the Roman Catholic Church in its fight against indecent motion pictures and outlined a comprehensive social program.

A report presented to the fifty-ninth annual Southern California conference of the Methodist Episcopal church by the committee on social problems, international relations and the state of the church declared:

That Methodists will aid Catholics in their campaign for a sweeping reform in film fare, and that the conference places no confidence in promises made by the Motion Picture Producers' association of removal or prevention of objectionable features of cinema releases.

The committee report was the outstanding feature of the second day of the conference, which continues until July 2.

Besides the indecent film indictment, other important recommendations contained in the report and approved by the conference included:

Strong objection to block booking of motion pictures.

"The fact is," Johnson said, "that after three months of suppression of all favorable testimony, omission of testimony from the record, refusal to permit NRA opportunity to defend itself, incitation of malcontents, and encouragement of exaggeration, this board has not been able to produce as much as one little drachm of evidence that there is any monopoly or oppression at all."

New Evidence

The NRA administrator found new evidence that the board is using its high office "not to perform its functions of showing us our errors, giving us the truth or in any way protecting the little fellow—but solely to manufacture false material for any politician who may be demagogue enough to use this kind of political coin as honesty money."

Johnson said the Darrow attack on the asbestos code was based on provision "never yet approved and, therefore, non-existent." The boot and shoe code was attacked for curtailing style shows. These were characterized by the administrator as "a racket."

The statement that larger companies dominate the cement code authority is "the exact reverse of truth," Johnson said.

Criticism of cement basing points is challenged by the reply that "the code provides for no basing points."

Changes in the retail code after adoption by the industry, and vigorously attacked by the review agency were defended by Johnson and Division Administrator Harry O. King as known to the president when the code was signed and reported at once to the industry.

The lumber code report is called a disagreement with NRA's determination on several debatable economic issues.

Donald R. Richberg, NRA counsel said the board's demand that retailers be prevented from advertising, even truthfully, that they undersell competitors, is "price control and restraints upon competition."

THREE BOOKED ON DRUNK CHARGES

Randolph Trujillo, 23, Highgrove and Iwen Enright, 52, Los Angeles, were brought to the jail by Orange police yesterday afternoon, where Trujillo was booked for drunken driving and Enright for drunkenness.

It was alleged by Chief George Franzen and Officer V. G. Wolfe, the arresting officers, that Trujillo backed his truck around a corner and into a parked car while under the influence of liquor.

Tom Groves, 32, Alhambra, was booked at the jail at 11 o'clock last night for drunkenness by California Highway Patrolman Walter Meyer.

Held For Trial On Driving Count

Charged with driving drunk, Lester Hayes waived his preliminary hearing in justice court yesterday afternoon and was held to answer in the superior court by Judge Kenneth Morrison.

He is being held in jail under $500 bail.

Editor Register:

When Paul Witmer resigned from the city council recently, it appears the taxpayers lost a friend and defender. He upheld economy and was ever ready to guard the treasury against unjustified raids and donations to privately-controlled organizations.

The question arises in my mind, if such a good friend of the people must resign because of holding another public office, why it is that others continue to hold two public jobs, at taxpayers' expense, and continue to do so.

Specifically, some of us would like to know how and why William Penn continues to sit upon the council, and vote for tax donations to the National Guard, hiring unnecessary firemen, and other things which cost taxpayers unnecessary money, when he is on the county taxpayers' payroll also as a welfare department worker.

Should he not resign either from the city council, which pays him $25 of city tax money, or from his welfare jobs which pays him $121.50 of county tax money plus mileage. It doesn't matter which he gives up, but I believe this interlocking city and county connection is detrimental to city taxpayers, and one of the public jobs which he now holds should be sacrificed in the public interest.

I would also like to know what pressure was used, or what factors, influenced Bruns and Rowland, as one of their first official acts after appointment to the council, to support and vote for appropriations which the previous elected economical council had refused to sanction as an unnecessary burden upon us.

PAPEN'S AIDE COURT ORDERS ARRESTED BY CONSTABLE TO NAZI POLICE LIMIT ACTIONS

sought and obtained assurances yesterday.

Seldte not only is a cabinet minister but he is president of the Stahlhelm.

Retain Identity

Seldte said Hitler promised the Stahlhelm would be permitted to retain its identity. It was said also that Hitler gave strict orders to newspapers and storm troop leaders that their campaign against the Stahlhelm must be stopped.

The campaign always going on under the surface and occasionally reaching the open, exploded with a roar after a fight between a Stahlhelm man and a Nazi storm troop leader at Quetzin last week end.

Hitler, apparently torn between opposing forces, told Seldte, according to Nazi authorities, that he personally was not in sympathy with the storm troopers' demand.

As for the storm troopers themselves, though it is denied that they are to be disbanded, recent orders have shown a decided trend away from the dominance they had accomplished.

There was an order June 16 that railwaymen members of the storm troops must have at least 10 hours of rest before going to work. They were advised by the storm troop staff to withdraw because they would hardly ever be able to drill.

On June 17, the staff advised local leaders to make sure that storm troop activities did not interfere with harvesting or general farming.

A plan discussed for weeks would demobilize those storm troops who either have official or private jobs, leaving 100,000 men in uniform—mostly unemployed or boys. Under this plan many of the 100,000 would be housed in barracks like an army.

Following asserted improper action in office on several occasions, culminating in a reported failure to enter a court collection on the date received, Constable Cornish Roehm has been ordered by Judge Kenneth Morrison not to serve any papers from his court where the collection of money is involved, it was learned today.

Judge Morrison's edict was given to Roehm last Thursday, it was learned, after the constable had collected $7 from a Mexican in Delhi on a writ of execution and failed to deposit the money or make any record of it until reprimanded by the court several days later. Roehm finally produced the money and then certified in his records that it was collected on June 21 instead of June 16, when the actual collection was made, according to office attaches.

Finding no record of the collection in Roehm's office she went to Judge Morrison who verified the fact that there was no record of the collection. Roehm was asked Thursday to account for the discrepancy and told Morrison that he had received a check for the money which he had given to a banker to collect. The banker had not seen the check or talked to Roehm, he told Morrison in Roehm's presence.

Morrison threatened court action unless the money was deposited that day and ordered Roehm to stop serving papers from his court, where collections were involved. When Roehm deposited the money that afternoon in his office, he certified that it had been collected only the day before, whereas Gallegos had a receipt showing the collection on Saturday, it was reported.

Roehm is a candidate for reelection to his office.

NAME MEN TO BOOST DRIVE FOR GEO. CREEL

Organization of an Orange County Creel-for-Governor committee directed by Horace C. Head, well known Santa Ana Democrat, was announced today, representing all districts of the county.

The executive committee includes Head, John W. Estes, Santa Ana; O. W. Sissons, Orange; H. E. W. Barnes, Jr., Anaheim; D. W. Huston, Huntington Beach; and George Thompson, Laguna Beach.

The speakers committee consists of C. Harold Dale, Paul Witmer, and J. B. Blee. The finance and club organization committee consists of William H. Bentley, of Westminster, John Crum, of Anaheim; Frank Harwood, of Santa Ana; Merrill R. Gregory, of Fullerton; Carl A. Romer, of Capistrano; Dr. C. C. Violet, of Garden Grove; Charles P. Patton, of Huntington Beach; W. C. Miller, of Buena Park; L. M. Hopper, of La Habra; S. W. McColloch, of Placentia; C. W. Te Winkle, of Costa Mesa and J. Raymond Nunn, of Orange.

Meeting last night to make preliminary plans for the campaign to secure for George Creel the Democratic nomination for governor, the committee authorized the opening of county Creel headquarters at 311 North Main street, in the Odd Fellows building, and the organization of Creel-for-Governor clubs throughout the county, some of which have already been started. It was reported.

Santa Ana voters interested in securing the Creel nomination and election, "so that the California state government may be allied in close harmony with the Roosevelt administration at Washington," were invited to meet at the local headquarters next Monday evening for organization of a Santa Ana Creel-for-Governor club to carry on the campaign locally.

Members of the county committee expressed the belief that George Creel, a personal friend of the late President Woodrow Wilson and the great President Franklin D. Roosevelt, is the one Democratic candidate who can be elected governor of California if nominated, and pledged themselves to intensive work in his behalf at the primary election August 28.

MURDER CASE DEFENDANT ON STAND TODAY

Al Brunner, Long Beach fishing boat captain who is being tried on a murder charge in Judge James L. Allen's department of superior court in connection with the deaths of three women in an automobile accident on March 11 on the Coast Highway near Dana Point, told his version of the accident when Defense Attorney L. W. Blodgett put him on the witness stand today.

Brunner said that he had left Long Beach at 3:30 o'clock the morning of the fatal crash, and drove to San Diego, to Robbins Machine company store to make purchases for repairs on his boat. On the return journey, he said, he had one drink of wine which had been secured. He said he first saw the car driven by Max Devitt, in which the women who were killed were passengers, when it came over a rise in the pavement. When he saw the car, he testified, it was about 500 feet in front of him.

Brunner said he thought the Devitt car was going to make a left turn into a side road, so he (Brunner) cut his car to the left. The Devitt car, he said, was straddling the center of the road when he first saw it. Suddenly, he said, instead of turning to the left, the Devitt car swerved back right in front of him and he crashed into the car.

Attorney Blodgett had Dr. H. A. Johnston, Anaheim, on the witness stand at the close of the morning session and was asking questions to give evidence that Brunner might have suffered concussion of the brain at the time of the wreck and was not intoxicated as others have testified.

SHOW INCREASE IN DODGE DELIVERIES

For Dodge dealers, the week ending June 16 proved another busy chapter of retail activities and increasing sales—according to figures just released by L. D. Coffin, Santa Ana Dodge dealer.

During the six-day period the company's dealers made retail deliveries amounting to 4,091 passenger cars and trucks. This sales volume marks an increase of 22.5

Scout Groups To Meet Next Friday

Orange county Boy Scouts will have an opportunity to learn about the Libby Scout plan, worked out by the Libby, McNeill and Libby company, with the cooperation of national Scout headquarters to enable boys to pay annual dues, camp fees and weekly dues, as well as getting official uniforms and equipment, at a meeting to be held Friday night at 7 o'clock at the Lathrop Junior high school. It was announced today by Scout Executive Harrison White.

Troop 34, of which Vern Whitson is scoutmaster, will play host to a number of troops for the evening. All Boy Scouts are invited to attend. H. O. Tinsman, scout representative for the Libby company, will give a short talk on the Fourth International Jamboree held in Hungary last summer. Two reels of motion pictures will complete the program for the evening.

"LOST PATROL" ON SCREEN AT STATE

With a four star rating as an outstanding picture, "The Lost Patrol" is the main attraction on the current double feature bill at Walker's State theater. The other film is "Coming Out Party," a story of high society with Frances Dee and Gene Raymond in leading roles.

"The Lost Patrol" is an epic of gallantry set in the grim desert of Mesopotamia when a lone patrol becomes lost after its officer is killed. Its great cast is headed by Victor McLaglen, Boris Karloff, Wallace Ford and Reginald Denny. No women are in the picture. The story of the detachment of British troops marooned in an oasis while Arab enemies kill them off, is lightened frequently with comedy and touched by pathos.

per cent over the business of the preceding week and a gain of 36.3 per cent over sales in the corresponding week of 1933.

The year-to-date total of Dodge dealers' retail deliveries, on June 16, accounted for 89,726 passenger cars and 20,380 trucks, or for a total of 110,106 vehicles. Compared to 58,999 passenger cars and trucks delivered during the like five and one-half months of 1933, the year's turnover so far shows a gain of 86.6 per cent.

SANTA ANA'S WINNERS AT ARTS FESTIVAL

Santa Ana has placed two first prize winners in the Southern California Competitive Festival of Allied Arts now under way in Los Angeles, according to announcement by judges of the various departments.

Miss Olive Eleanor Schweitzer, 12, was awarded first place in the elementary piano group yesterday, and Philip N. Hood Jr., 19, received first in the flute competition the previous day.

Miss Schweitzer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Schweitzer of 13154 South Main street, and formerly residents of 1024 Kilson drive. She has been studying piano for the past six years, and for three years has been a pupil of Miss Leonore Tompkins.

Twenty-four were entered in the preliminaries on Tuesday. The talented young Santa Ana girl placed among the four highest, and in the final competition yesterday emerged the winner. Her competition numbers were "Hark, Hark, the Lark," (Schubert-Liszt) by Casella, and the Turkish march, "A Major Sonata," Mozart.

Miss Schweitzer was introduced from the platform last night at the Biltmore hotel, at a large banquet arranged in honor of the contest winners to date. Among her awards are a six months piano scholarship, and a group of musical compositions. The young artist is widely known from many public appearances throughout Orange county. Upon several occasions she has appeared with John Hart Stout, talented young violinist of Orange.

RESUME WORK ON PICTURE HERE TODAY

Shooting of scenes on the picture, "Peck's Bad Boy," was resumed in Santa Ana today with the advent of sunny weather. The picture is a Sol Lesser production for Pathe.

The Hollywood company was on location again this morning at the colonial home of Dr. D. A. Harwood on Riverside Drive, and, according to Robert Ives, assistant director, scenes were to be taken there throughout the day.

Tomorrow scenes will be taken at the Harwood home and the Santa Fe depot, while the following day the Church of the Messiah and Dr. Harwood's home will be used.

Thomas Meighan, noted screen actor, was to arrive in Santa Ana this afternoon to take part in the picture. Other well known actors who arrived here today include Jackie Cooper, Jackie Searle, who is a Fullerton boy, Dorothy Peterson and O. P. Heggie, noted character players. Twenty-five Hollywood boys and their mothers also arrived today.

The picture is being directed by Eddie Cline, who will have as his guests here tomorrow Mrs. Frank Jacon, widow of the well known player, and her daughter.

ASK REPORT FROM HAY THEFT VICTIMS

Orange county farmers who have had hay stolen during recent months are asked to contact the sheriff's farm detail in connection with the arrest of Ross Pollock, 35, and Hubert Newman, both of Burbank, on grand theft charges.

Pollock was arrested at Yorba Linda last week and was scheduled for a preliminary hearing July 2, but this date was continued yesterday in justice court until August 27 to give Los Angeles authorities an opportunity to prosecute the two men on eight counts of grand theft.

Newman was arrested in Los Angeles county, and both men have been connected with hay stealing in both counties, according to sheriff's officers. It is believed that there may be other stealing cases here that have not been reported.

Pollock is under $3000 bail here and both men are under $15,000 bail in Los Angeles.

SECOND SCOUT GROUP LEAVES FOR MOUNTAINS

Eight boys from Placentia Troop 100, Pine Tree patrol, winners of the county camporee this spring, were given a week free at camp for winning the annual event.

Alvin Koenig, camp director, today reported a remarkable spirit among boys now in camp. Campfire meetings especially are being enjoyed by the Scouts, featuring the reading of the "Walling Wood-pussy," camp daily newspaper. Stunts and stories with appropriate sound effects, feature the fire meetings. A court of honor is held each week to award merit badges earned during camp.

The boys are inspected twice each day for fatigue or illness and are kept constantly under the supervision of staff members. The camp staff is composed of members of Knights of Dunamis, new eagle Scout fraternity. Harrison E. White, Orange county Scout executive, is in charge of camp.

Any boy may attend camp sessions, whether or not he is a Scout. The fifth and sixth periods are to be given over to boys of 9, 10 and 11 years of age.

The younger boys will be given special supervision and instruction in their games and hobbies. Trucks leave every Wednesday with the exception of the third period, when they leave Tuesday, July 3, and return July 4, on Wednesday. The fee this year is $5.25 for a week in camp, which includes transportation to and from camp. Parents should telephone the Boy Scout headquarters, 715 North Sycamore street, Santa Ana, for information or applications.

MARBLE GAME ARREST MADE BY L. A. POLICE

LOS ANGELES, June 28.—Believing that marble game machines are gambling devices, police last night arrested a clerk in a downtown cigar store on a charge of conducting a gambling game and will institute a test case on the device.

Acting under orders from Captain Stanley Stone, head of the vice squad, three detectives "raided" a cigar store on South Spring street, where two of the machines were in operation. They arrested James Martin, 29, clerk, after the officers had played a machine in the store.

Officers Murphy, Larson and Kitcherside reported they played one of two machines in the store, won a small amount and arrested Martin when he paid them. The machine was confiscated as evidence.

The clerk was booked under Section 330 of the Penal Code, which prohibits conducting of a gambling game.

The City Attorney's office ruled, following conferences between city officials and police heads, that most of the thousands of the marble games operated in the city were gambling devices, and could not meet a test as games of skill.

Word of the arrest and probability that the games would be classified as gambling went out with startling rapidity to the thousands of lessees, and within an hour after the arrest, most of the games in the downtown area were halted.

Father Seeks Annulment Of Son's Wedding

A youthful romance and elopement seemed doomed to be blasted as a result of a suit filed by V. A. Porter in superior court to have the marriage of his son, Frank H. Porter, to Betty Porter, annulled.

The young couple eloped and were married in Yuma, Ariz., the complaint indicated, without the consent of parents of either. The boy, it was said, is 20 years old, while the girl was said to be under 18. They were married November 5, 1933, at Yuma.

EDUCATION IS SUBJECT FOR LUTHERAN MEET

Christian education of children and youth held the spotlight at the Southern California Lutheran convention in Anaheim Zion church yesterday. Discussions were led by R. Stenske and Edwin Dankworth of Los Angeles.

Stenske stressed the imperative need of placing the education of children under Christian influence in order to form and stabilize their character. Dankworth presented the need of Christian education in the home by the parents.

The mission report committee surveyed the work done in the following Mission congregations: Grace, Escondido, Rev. L. Jagels, pastor; Fifth Avenue, Los Angeles, Rev. E. T. Coyner, pastor; First Lutheran, Fontana, Rev. O. Henkel, pastor.

Dr. W. R. Dau continued his portrayal of Paul's first missionary journey in Asia Minor. Referring to the determined opposition and persecution experienced in Antioch of Pisidia, Dr. Dau stated "Contradiction of divine truth usually springs from the muddy fountain of envious pride."

Commenting on Paul's frank decision and statement to turn from the Jews to the Gentiles, the speaker said: "Fearless frankness comes from the heart of God to the heart of the preacher, and from the heart of the preacher to the heart of the people. While the shades of night settled upon the opposing Jews, the Gentiles greeted with joy the dawn of the new gospel day."

Vice President Frederick Randt presented the financial status of the synod at large. "Although the situation is fraught with difficulties and will demand the concerted effort and action of all members, the outlook is not hopeless. Utilizing the means at our disposal with full consecration to the great task imposed upon us by the Lord, we shall not fail," were the prevailing sentiments of the convention.

At the special service last night the Rev. O. Skov of Hemet, spoke on "Missions" and the Rev. Carl Berner of Los Angeles on "Christian Education." A brief address in the German language was given by Dr. W. H. T. Dau.

The pastoral service with Holy Communion will be held Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, the Rev. William Schmoeck of Santa Ana preaching the sermon. The confession address will be by Rev. Theo. Schoessow of Los Angeles.

LYON OPENS SALE OF GOODRICH TIRES

Offering motorists of Orange county the new Goodrich Safety Silvertown tires on a budget pay plan, Orval Lyon, Goodrich dealer at First and Broadway, is opening a 10-day Fourth of July sale.

The new tire with the Life-Saver Golden ply is said to be three times safer from blowouts at high speeds. Under the new budget pay plan, a new set of tires can be secured with no money down and easy payments as desired. The license certificate is all that is needed for identification and no additional charges are made for credit, Lyon stated.

With the Goodrich tires is given a 12-month guarantee against all road hazards, punctures and driving on flat tires excepted. There is a six-month guarantee in commercial service.

Drunken Driver Fined At Orange

Ike Monroe, 28, 354 East Culver street, Orange, paid $10 of a $50 fine and had his license suspended for 60 days when he appeared before Judge A. W. Swayze of Orange yesterday on reckless driving charges.

Monroe was arrested by Motorcycle Officer Pete Winslow of Orange and booked at the jail for drunken driving. He was taken into custody in front of his home.

Air Mail Rate Reduced Next Sunday

Effective on July 1, a reduction in rates to be charged for air mail service will be made throughout the country. It was learned today from Postmaster Terry Stephenson.

Six cents postage will be required for the first ounce, and six cents for each additional ounce. The present scale of postage requires eight cents for the first ounce and 13 cents for each additional ounce.

The reduction was included in a bill recently passed by Congress carrying recommendations from the post office department.

MISS ZLACKET IS WINNER IN QUEEN CONTEST

Miss Martha Zlacket, representing the Dunton Ford garage of Santa Ana, won first prize in the Mid-Summer Motor Pageant queen contest and presided over the motor races and varied entertainment at the Santa Ana Municipal Bowl last night. She will receive a week's vacation trip to Catalina Island.

Miss Zlacket secured 192,900 votes and was followed in second place by Miss Hazel Lee, representing the Reid Buick garage, who had 166,510 votes. Following revised tabulations, the third place winner was Miss Marjorie Waites, of Hockaday, Harlow and Phillips, who had 111,760 votes. It was originally announced that Miss Waites was sixth and Miss Roberta Brown of the Orange Ford garage, was third.

Miss Brown took fourth place with 83,830 votes, Eleanor Mitchell of the Grand Central garage was fifth with 80,870 and Mildred Wells, of Knox Brothers Cadillac garage, was sixth, with 62,000 votes.

The other queens, and their standings, were as follows: Rose Lo Porto, Orange County Auto Parts, 43,070; Dorothy Mallory, Santa Ana Motor Parts, 32,020; Naomi Granger, Jackson Chevrolet garage, La Habra, 25,780; Pearl Christianson, American Legion drill team, 23,800; Evelyn Ellington, Orange County Ignition Works, 23,380.

OFFICERS AID SEARCH FOR TAXI BANDIT

Police of the Southland are searching for a daring bandit who last night used a gun to force a San Diego taxi driver to drive him north to Orange county, and then commandeered an oil truck when the taxi was ditched when it went off the highway.

The bandit is believed to be Ralph Pulliam or a man named Bernhard and is described as 20 years of age, 5 feet 11 inch tall, weighing 160 pounds and dressed in blue coat and white trousers.

According to reports from Laguna Beach police and sheriff's officers, the taxi stalled six miles below the Orange county line and the bandit stopped an oil truck driven by R. N. Lee and Ernest Miller, both of Los Angeles. They gave the man a ride to a San Clemente garage and continued north.

In the meantime, the taxi driver got his car out of the ditch and speeded to Laguna Beach, where he and police stopped the truck when it came through town. The taxi driver told his story of being robbed and being forced to drive north and a search was started for the missing man.

Through a misunderstanding, Merle Dean and G. F. McKelvey from the sheriff's office were informed that the man was still riding on the truck so they speeded to Seal Beach and stopped the truck again.

COUNTY OSTEOPATHS ATTEND CONVENTION

A large group of Orange county members of the California Osteopathic association are attending sessions of a state convention now in progress in Long Beach and which will end tomorrow. It was announced today.

Santa Ana osteopaths attending the convention include Dr. John S. Helmcken, Dr. Horace W. Leeding, Dr. Peryl B. Magill, Dr. H. J. Howard, Dr. Lawrence Young, Dr.

Hester Olewiler and Dr. Julia Hinricks.

ter Bigham, Anaheim, and Dr. Harriett Bigham, Anaheim.

Eight boys from Placentia Troop 100, Pine Tree patrol, winners of the county camporal this spring, were given a week free at camp for winning the annual event.

Alvin Koenig, camp director, today reported a remarkable spirit among boys now in camp. Campfire meetings especially are being enjoyed by the Scouts, featuring the reading of the "Wailing Wood-pussy," camp daily newspaper. Stunts and stories with appropriate sound-effects, feature the fire meetings. A court of honor is held each week to award merit badges earned during camp.

The boys are inspected twice each day for fatigue or illness and are kept constantly under the supervision of staff members. The camp staff is composed of members of Knights of Dunamis, new eagle Scout fraternity. Harrison E. White, Orange county Scout executive, is in charge of camp.

Any boy may attend camp sessions, whether or not he is a Scout. The fifth and sixth periods are to be given over to boys of 9, 10 and 11 years of age.

The younger boys will be given special supervision and instruction in their games and hobbies.

Trucks leave every Wednesday with the exception of the third period, when they leave Tuesday, July 3, and return July 4, on Wednesday. The fee this year is $5.25 for a week in camp, which includes transportation to and from camp. Parents should telephone the Boy Scout headquarters, 715 North Sycamore street, Santa Ana, for information or applications.

MARBLE GAME ARREST MADE BY L. A. POLICE

LOS ANGELES, June 28.—Believing that marble game machines are gambling devices, police last night arrested a clerk in a downtown cigar store on a charge of conducting a gambling game and will institute a test case on the device.

Acting under orders from Captain Stanley Stone, head of the vice squad, three detectives "raided" a cigar store on South Spring street, where two of the machines were in operation. They arrested James Martin, 28, clerk, after the officers had played a machine in the store.

Officers Murphy, Larson and Kitcherside reported they played one of two machines in the store, won a small amount and arrested Martin when he paid them. The machine was confiscated as evidence. The clerk was booked under Section 330 of the Penal Code, which prohibits conducting of a gambling game.

The City Attorney's office ruled, following conference between city officials and police heads, that most of the thousands of the marble games operated in the city were gambling devices, and could not meet a test as games of skill.

Word of the arrest and probability that the games would be classed as gambling went out with startling rapidity in the thousands of jukeboxes, and within an hour after the arrest, most of the games in the downtown area were halted.

Father Seeks Annulment Of Son's Wedding

A youthful romance and elopement seemed doomed to be blasted as a result of a suit filed by V. A. Porter in superior court to have the marriage of his son, Frank H. Porter, to Betty Porter, annulled.

The young couple eloped and were married in Yuma, Ariz., the complaint indicated, without the consent of parents of either. The boy, it was said, is 20 years old, while the girl was said to be under 18. They were married November 5, 1933, at Yuma.

EDUCATION IS SUBJECT FOR LUTHERAN MEET

Christian education of children and youth held the spotlight at the Southern California Lutheran convention in Anaheim Zion church yesterday.

Discussions were lead by R. Stenske and Edwin Dankworth of Los Angeles. Stenske stressed the imperative need of placing the education of children under Christian influence in order to form and stabilize their character. Dankworth presented the need of Christian education in the home by the parents.

The mission report committee surveyed the work done in the following Mission congregations: Grace, Escondido, Rev. L. Jagels, pastor; Fifth Avenue, Los Angeles, Rev. E. T. Coyner, pastor; First Lutheran, Fontana, Rev. O. Henkel, pastor.

Dr. W. R. T. Dau continued his portrayal of Paul's first missionary journey in Asia Minor. Referring to the determined opposition and persecution experienced in Antioch of Pisidia, Dr. Dau stated: "Contradiction of divine truth usually springs from the muddy fountain of envious pride." Commenting on Paul's frank discussion and statement to turn from the Jews to the Gentiles, the evangelist said: "Fearless frankness comes from the heart of God to the heart of the preacher, and from the heart of the preacher to the heart of the people. While the shades of night settled upon the opposing Jews, the Gentiles greeted with joy the dawn of the new gospel day."

Vice President Frederick Randt presented the financial status of the synod at large. "Although the situation is fraught with difficulties and will demand the concerted effort and action of all members, the outlook is not hopeless. Utilizing the means at our disposal with full consecration to the great task imposed upon us by the Lord, we shall not fail," were the prevailing sentiments of the convention.

At the special service last night the Rev. O. Skov of Hemet, spoke on "Missions" and the Rev. Carl Berner of Los Angeles on "Christian Education." A brief address in the German language was given by Dr. W. H. T. Dau.

The pastoral service with Holy Communion will be held Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, the Rev. William Schmoeck of Santa Ana preaching the sermon. The confession address will be by Rev. Theo. Schoenow of Los Angeles.

LYON OPENS SALE OF GOODRICH TIRES

Offering motorists of Orange county the new Goodrich Safety Silvertown tires on a budget pay plan, Orval Lyon, Goodrich dealer at First and Broadway, is opening a 10-day Fourth of July sale.

The new tire with the Life-Saver Golden ply is said to be three times safer from blowouts at high speeds. Under the new budget pay plan, a new set of tires can be secured with no money down and easy payments as desired. The license certificate is all that is needed for identification and no additional charges are made for credit, Lyon stated.

With the Goodrich tires is given a 12-month guarantee against all road hazards, punctures and driving on flat tires excepted. There is a six-month guarantee in commercial service.

Drunken Driver Fined At Orange

Ike Monroe, 28, 354 East Culver street, Orange, paid $10 of a $50 fine and had his license suspended for 60 days when he appeared before Judge A. W. Swayze of Orange yesterday on reckless driving charges.

Monroe was arrested by Motorcycle Officer Pete Winslow of Orange and booked at the jail for drunken driving. He was taken into custody in front of his home.

Air Mail Rate Reduced Next Sunday

Effective on July 1, a reduction in rates to be required for air mail service will be made throughout the country, it was learned today from Postmaster Terry Stephenson.

Six cents postage will be required for the first ounce, and six cents for each additional ounce. The present scale of postage requires eight cents for the first ounce and 13 cents for each additional ounce.

The reduction was included in a bill recently passed by Congress carrying recommendations from the post office department.

MISS ZACKET IS WINNER IN QUEEN CONTEST

Miss Martha Zacket, representing the Dunton Ford garage of Santa Ana, won first prize in the Mid-Summer Motor Pageant queen contest and presided over the motor races and varied entertainment at the Santa Ana Municipal Bowl last night. She will receive a week's vacation trip to Catalina Island.

Miss Zacket secured 192,900 votes and was followed in second place by Miss Hazel Lee, representing the Reid Buick garage, who had 160,910 votes. Following revised tabulations, the third place winner was Miss Marjorie Waites, of Hookaday, Haverly and Phillips, who had 111,760 votes. It was originally announced that Miss Waites was sixth and Miss Roberta Brown of the Orange Ford garage, was third.

Miss Brown took fourth place with 82,930 votes, Eleanor Mitchell of the Grand Central garage was fifth with 90,670 and Mildred Wells, of Knox Brothers Cadillac garage, was sixth, with 62,000 votes.

The other queens, and their standings, were as follows: Rose Lo Porto, Orange County Auto Parts, 43,070; Dorothy Mallory, Santa Ana Motor Parts, 32,020; Naomi Granger, Jackson Chevrolet garage, La Habra, 28,780; Pearl Christianson, American Legion drill team, 23,800; Evelyn Ellinger, Orange County Ignition Works, 23,380.

Edna Flood, Headley Studebaker garage, 15,400; Maxine Hogan, Hudson garage, Huntington Beach, 10,200; Josephine Blair, Haan Chrysler garage, 9000; Mildred O'Brien, West Brothers, Anaheim, 8200; Bobbie Fore, Chevrolet garage, Santa Ana, 7800; and Betty Boyer, Chevrolet garage, Orange, 5000.

The queens were paraded around the track in a caravan of new

OFFICERS AID SEARCH FOR TAXI BANDIT

Police of the Southland are searching for a daring bandit who last night used a gun to force a San Diego taxi driver to drive him north to Orange county, and then commandeered an oil truck when the taxi was ditched when it went off the highway.

The bandit is believed to be Ralph Pulliam or a man named Bernhard and is described as 20 years of age, 6 feet 1 inch tall, weighing 160 pounds and dressed in blue coat and white trousers.

According to reports from Laguna Beach police and sheriff's officers, the taxi stalled six miles below the Orange county line and the bandit stopped an oil truck driven by R. N. Lee and Ernest Miller, both of Los Angeles. They gave the man a ride to a San Clemente garage and continued north.

In the meantime, the taxi driver got his car out of the ditch and sped to Laguna Beach, where he and police stopped the truck when it came through town. The taxi driver told his story of being robbed and being forced to drive north and a search was started for the missing man.

Through a misunderstanding, Merle Dean and G. F. McKelvey from the sheriff's office were informed that the man was still riding on the truck so they sped to Seal Beach and stopped the truck again.

COUNTY OSTEOPATHS ATTEND CONVENTION

A large group of Orange county members of the California Osteopathic association are attending sessions of a state convention now in progress in Long Beach and which will end tomorrow, it was announced today.

Santa Ana osteopaths attending the convention include Dr. John S. Helmken, Dr. Horace W. Leeling, Dr. Percy E. Magill, Dr. H. J. Howard, Dr. Lawrence Young, Dr.

Hester Olewiler and Dr. Julia Hinricks.

ter Bigham, Anaheim, and Dr. Harriett Bigham, Anaheim.

Scientific discussions regarding public health, reduction of hospital and professional service costs, the osteopathic treatment of poliomyelitis and its remarkable

DENY HEARING ON VALENCIA H. S. QUESTION

Question of the legality of the withdrawal of the Valencia high school district at Placentia from the Fullerton Union high school district was ended yesterday when Deputy District Attorney William F. Menton received a notice from supreme court that a hearing sought by opponents of the formation of the new district has been denied.

The case started when the board of supervisors withdrew the Valencia district from the Fullerton district. Opponents of the move questioned the assessed valuation of the newly proposed district, stating that the law provides that a district cannot withdraw if it reduces the assessed valuation of the district from which the withdrawal is contemplated below $20,000,000 or if the valuation of the new district is not more than $5,500,000. Following the district election in July, on August 2 the board of supervisors made an order withdrawing the territory from the Fullerton district and made another order forming the Valencia high school district. Certain taxpayers attacked the order on a writ of review, claiming that the assessed valuation of the new district was less than permitted by law. Assistant District Attorney Menton, however, when the case came to trial in Judge G. K. Scovel's department of superior court, held that in determining the facts the assessed valuation of 1933-34 must be used, because the assessed valuation figures for 1933-34 were not compiled at the time proceedings were instituted. After upholding the legality of the district, the case went from Judge Scovel to the district court of appeals, where his action was concurred with. The refusal of the supreme court to hear the case upheld both actions.

Court Notes

Blaine Cox, charged with drunkenness, will work out a $25 fine received in police court yesterday.

Lola Bowers paid a $5 speeding fine and C. C. Marsh paid a $1 minor traffic violation fine in police court yesterday.

Frank Earley, 69, 1925 West Washington avenue, charged with disturbing the peace in the office of J. S. Warner, 108 West Fifth street, pleaded not guilty in police court yesterday and had a trial without a jury set for Friday at 10 a. m.

Politically Speaking

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 28.—(UP)—Returning to his native state after months of activity in Washington, Senator Hiram W. Johnson reiterated his intention to play a lone hand in politics, refraining from giving support to any seekers of state offices.

With Democrats and Progressive Republicans strongly in favor of his re-election, he was expected to have little difficulty returning to congress either as a Republican or a Progressive, despite the enmity of reactionary Republicans who have not forgotten his opposition to Herbert Hoover two years ago.

Raymond L. Haight, young Los Angeles attorney and descendant of a pioneer California family, who is a gubernatorial candidate, deserted the Republican ranks and registered with the Commonwealth party for the purpose of assuring himself of a place on the November ballot.

"It was a good political move," his supporters said. "If Governor Merriam wins the Republican nomination and Upton Sinclair the Democratic, Haight will stand an excellent chance of being elected governor, because progressive people won't vote for a reactionary or for one whom they consider a radical."

At any rate, Haight's shift makes it unnecessary for him to top Merriam, John R. Quinn and C. C. Young, G. O. P. candidates. In order to participate in the general election, a candidate must win the nomination of the party in which he is registered. Only a few hundred persons are registered Commonwealth, and Haight should have no opposition there. In the general election, voters may disregard party lines and support anybody on the ballot.

Gubernatorial candidates have become more active in their campaigns. Young and Quinn are making personal speaking tours of the valleys, and George Creel, Democrat, is cruising about the state. Merriam refuses to talk politics, openly, while in the governor's office, but is busy after hours. His duties as governor were expected to prevent him from doing much campaign traveling.

Dr. Z. T. Malaby, Pasadena Democrat who was first to qualify for the governorship race, has not been discouraged by reports of swift gains by Sinclair and Creel. He insisted he was in the fight to the finish.

Talk of a special session has quieted somewhat. Merriam said he would not call one unless he had assurance the majority of legislators would support whatever program he advanced.

Creel, in a Sacramento speech, criticized Merriam for his attitude concerning the Central Valley Water project. Merriam sidestepped the power issue, saying controversies should be avoided in the interest of the project as a whole; that water conservation was the immediate problem and that the power issue would take care of itself later.

"Development of power lies at the very heart of the project and is vital to the prosperity of California," Creel said. "Any attempt to dodge it is to admit the power trust rules the state and that Californians must continue to live under its domination."

DIRECTOR ASKS PROJECTS FOR RELIEF PLAN

Activities of the Professional Technical and Women's Work division of the Orange county SERA program were well under way today after Fred P. Jayne, manager of the division, had sent out letters asking for immediate submission of projects which will be handled through his division.

Jayne addressed letters to all city councils, library boards and school boards in the county, pointing out that under the new SERA setup it is desirable, and for the sake of the unemployed, almost imperative that every public and private organization in Orange county join in an effort to put men and women to work without delay.

Six projects have been submitted to this division. It was learned, which will be forwarded at once to state SERA headquarters for approval. Many more projects are in the office, Jayne said.

The Santa Ana board of education submitted a project to teach English to illiterates during the summer months. This would employ four persons at a cost of $715.50.

A delinquency prevention project was submitted for approval by the city of Fullerton. This project is for playgrounds and would cost $1040.

The Orange Union High school district asked for approval of a project to teach English to illiterates which would give employment to three persons at a cost of $549.

The board of supervisors asked for consideration of a project for additional work in the Orange county library. This would give work to two persons at a cost of $218.

A project submitted by the city of Orange calls for a program of recreational activities under the direction of the Orange department of recreation. This project would give five persons work at a cost of $840.

Costa Mesa elementary school district sent in a project for recreational activities during the summer months which would give two persons employment at a cost of $434.

General plans are being outlined for a series of public events under the direction of the department, including the staging of plays, organization of a county-wide band with an unlimited number of members and other events.

The department, Jayne said today, stands ready to cooperate with sponsors in fostering any worth-while project designed to accomplish this purpose under the following lines:

1—Production and distribution of goods needed by the unemployed; food, clothing, clothing.

2—Public welfare; nursing, public health surveys.

3—Recreation; delinquency prevention.

4—Cultural; music, art, drama, literature.

5—Educational; nursery schools, Americanization and citizenship, vocational training.

6—Engineering; clerical assistance.

7—Library workers; research, surveys.

SET JULY 15 AS FINAL DATE ON CWA CLAIMS

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28.—The deadline for filing financial claims against CWA in California is July 15.

This announcement was made today by Captain Edward Macaulay, retiring Civil Works administrator, acting upon instructions from Washington, D. C.

Activity incident to a final conclusion of all CWA business in the state is now concentrated at 49 Fourth street, San Francisco. The great volume of detail work necessary to terminate the vast program has been diminished to the point where a definite closing date can be named, Captain Macaulay said.

The administrator's statement follows: "Pursuant to instructions from Washington, D. C., the business of the Civil Works administration, state of California, will be definitely and finally closed out on July 15, 1934."

"Any and all creditors, vendors, lessors, or any person having monies due and owing from the Civil Works administration shall be required to make demand for same in due form on or before the date mentioned."

PLYMOUTH ANNOUNCES THE SPECIAL SIX

LET'S TAKE A LOOK AT BOTH SIDES

Mr. A
Pays by Cash

He carries his money upon his person. On several occasions he has lost varying amounts of cash, and once was held up to the tune of $120.00. He spends considerable time making the rounds to pay obligations. He is always waiting for change and asking for receipts. And he never knows what has and what hasn't been paid until the bills roll in the first of the month.

Consider both sides, then profit by the experiences of Mr. A and Mr. B... have a Checking Account at this bank for SAFETY and CONVENIENCE.

Mr. B
Pays by Check

He carries a checkbook instead of cash. If he loses his checkbook or is held up, his funds are still safe. When paying obligations he saves time by writing checks for the exact amounts and mailing them. He needs no receipts — his cancelled checks are legal evidence of payment. His check stubs show exactly what he has paid and the amount of money he has on hand.

RECENTLY you read about important reductions in Plymouth prices. This week Plymouth again makes news.

It's the introduction of THE SPECIAL SIX... and it changes the whole picture in the low-price field.

When Plymouth announces a new model, thousands of people go to see it. We urge that you take a few minutes of your time and join them.

It will pay you to do this for two reasons. One of them is the car itself... and the other its price.

You'll find a big car... a new "luxury" model... with all the major Engineering Features that made Plymouth famous... yet a 4-door Sedan costs practically the same as comparable models of the very lowest-priced cars — WITHOUT ALL THESE FEATURES!

Consider that statement. Think what it means.

It means that without spending an extra penny, you can own this Special Six with Hydraulic Brakes... instead of a car with ordinary brakes.

It means that your family can ride surrounded and protected by a BODY OF SAFETY-STEEL... instead of the ordinary composite kind.

DENY HEARING ON VALENCIA H. S. QUESTION

Question of the legality of the withdrawal of the Valencia high school district at Placentia from the Fullerton Union high school district was ended yesterday when Deputy District Attorney William F. Menton received a notice from supreme court that a hearing sought by opponents of the formation of the new district has been denied.

The case started when the board of supervisors withdrew the Valencia district from the Fullerton district. Opponents of the move questioned the assessed valuation of the newly proposed district, stating that the law provides that a district cannot withdraw if it reduces the assessed valuation of the district from which the withdrawal is contemplated below $20,000,000 or if the valuation of the new district is not more than $5,500,000. Following the district election in July, on August 2 the board of supervisors made an order withdrawing the territory from the Fullerton district and made another order forming the Valencia high school district.

Certain taxpayers attacked the orders on a writ of review, claiming that the assessed valuation of the new district was less than permitted by law. Assistant District Attorney Menton, however, when the case came to trial in Judge G. K. Scovel's department of superior court, held that in determining the facts the assessed valuation of 1932-33 must be used, because the assessed valuation figures for 1933-34 were not compiled at the time proceedings were instituted. After upholding the legality of the district, the case went from Judge Scovel to the district court of appeals, where his action was concurred with. The refusal of the supreme court to hear the case upheld both actions.

Court Notes

Blaine Cox, charged with drunkenness, will work out a $25 fine received in police court yesterday.

Lola Bowers paid a $6 speeding fine and C. C. Marsh paid a $1 minor traffic violation fine in police court yesterday.

Frank Earley, 69, 1925 West Washington avenue, charged with disturbing the peace in the office of J. S. Warner, 105 West Fifth street, pleaded not guilty in police court yesterday and had a trial without a jury set for Friday at 10 a. m.

Politically Speaking

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 28.—(UP)—Returning to his native state after months of activity in Washington, Senator Hiram W. Johnson reiterated his intention to play a lone hand in politics, refraining from giving support to any seekers of state offices.

With Democrats and Progressive Republicans strongly in favor of his re-election, he was expected to have little difficulty returning to congress either as a Republican or a Progressive, despite the enmity of reactionary Republicans who have not forgotten his opposition to Herbert Hoover two years ago.

Raymond L. Haight, young Los Angeles attorney and descendant of a pioneer California family, who is a gubernatorial candidate, deserted the Republican ranks and registered with the Commonwealth party for the purpose of assuring himself of a place on the November ballot.

"It was a good political move," his supporters said. "If Governor Merriam wins the Republican nomination and Upton Sinclair the Democratic, Haight will stand an excellent chance of being elected governor, because progressive people won't vote for a reactionary or for one whom they consider a radical."

At any rate, Haight's shift makes it unnecessary for him to top Merriam, John R. Quinn and C. C. Young, G. O. P. candidates. In order to participate in the general election, a candidate must win the nomination of the party in which he is registered. Only a few hundred persons are registered Commonwealth, and Haight should have no opposition there. In the general election, voters may disregard party lines and support anybody on the ballot.

Gubernatorial candidates have become more active in their campaigns. Young and Quinn are making personal speaking tours of the valleys, and George Creel, Democrat, is cruising about the state. Merriam refuses to talk politics, openly, while in the governor's office, but is busy after hours. His duties as governor were expected to prevent him from doing much campaign traveling.

Dr. Z. T. Malaby, Pasadena Democrat who was first to qualify for the governorship race, has not been discouraged by reports of swift gains by Sinclair and Creel. He insisted he was in the fight to the finish.

Talk of a special session has quieted somewhat. Merriam said he would not call one unless he had assurance the majority of legislators would support whatever program he advanced.

Creel, in a Sacramento speech, criticized Merriam for his attitude concerning the Central Valley Water project. Merriam sidestepped the power issue, saying controversies should be avoided in the interest of the project as a whole; that water conservation was the immediate problem and that the power issue would take care of itself later.

"Development of power lies at the very heart of the project and is vital to the prosperity of California," Creel said. "Any attempt to dodge it is to admit the power trust rules the state and that Californians must continue to live under its domination."

DIRECTOR ASKS PROJECTS FOR RELIEF PLAN

Activities of the Professional Technical and Women's Work division of the Orange county SERA program were well under way today after Fred P. Jayne, manager of the division, had sent out letters asking for immediate submission of projects which will be handled through his division.

Jayne addressed letters to all city councils, library boards and school boards in the county, pointing out that under the new SERA setup it is desirable, and for the sake of the unemployed, almost imperative that every public and private organization in Orange county join in an effort to put men and women to work without delay.

Six projects have been submitted to this division. It was learned, which will be forwarded at once to state SERA headquarters for approval. Many more projects are in the offing, Jayne said.

The Santa Ana board of education submitted a project to teach English to illiterates during the summer months. This would employ four persons at a cost of $715.50.

A delinquency prevention project was submitted for approval by the city of Fullerton. This project is for playgrounds and would cost $1040.

The Orange Union High school district asked for approval of a project to teach English to illiterates which would give employment to three persons at a cost of $549.

The board of supervisors asked for consideration of a project for additional work in the Orange county library. This would give work to two persons at a cost of $215.

A project submitted by the city of Orange calls for a program of recreational activities under the direction of the Orange department of recreation. This project would give five persons work at a cost of $840.

Costa Mesa elementary school district sent in a project for recreational activities during the summer months which would give two persons employment at a cost of $434.

General plans are being outlined for a series of public events under the direction of the department, including the staging of plays, organization of a county-wide band with an unlimited number of members and other events.

The department, Jayne said today, stands ready to cooperate with sponsors in fostering any worth-while project designed to accomplish this purpose under the following lines:

- 1.—Production and distribution of goods needed by the unemployed; food, clothing, clothing.
- 2.—Public welfare; nursing, public health surveys.
- 3.—Recreation; delinquency prevention.
- 4.—Cultural; music, art, drama, literature.
- 5.—Educational; nursery schools, Americanization and citizenship, vocational training.
- 6.—Engineering; clerical assistance.
- 7.—Library workers; research, surveys.

SET JULY 15 AS FINAL DATE ON CWA CLAIMS

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28.—The deadline for filing financial claims against CWA in California is July 15.

This announcement was made today by Captain Edward Macaulay, retiring Civil Works administrator, acting upon instructions from Washington, D. C.

Activity incident to a final conclusion of all CWA business in the state is now concentrated at 49 Fourth street, San Francisco. The great volume of detail work necessary to terminate the vast program has been diminished to the point where a definite closing date can be named, Captain Macaulay said.

The administrator's statement follows:

"Pursuant to instructions from Washington, D. C., the business of the Civil Works administration, state of California, will be definitely and finally closed out on July 15, 1934.

"Any and all creditors, vendors, lessors, or any person having monies due and owing from the Civil Works administration shall be required to make demand for same in due form on or before the date mentioned."

PLYMOUTH ANNOUNCES THE SPECIAL SIX

RECENTLY you read about important reductions in Plymouth prices. This week Plymouth again makes news.

It's the introduction of THE SPECIAL SIX... and it changes the whole picture in the low-price field.

When Plymouth announces a new model, thousands of people go to see it. We urge that you take a few minutes of your time and join them.

It will pay you to do this for two reasons. One of them is the car itself... and the other its price.

You'll find a big car... a new "luxury" model... with all the major Engineering Features that made Plymouth famous... yet a 4-door Sedan costs practically the same as comparable models of the very lowest-priced cars—WITHOUT ALL THESE FEATURES!

Consider that statement. Think what it means.

It means that without spending an extra penny, you can own this Special Six with Hydraulic Brakes... instead of a car with ordinary brakes.

It means that your family can ride surrounded and protected by a BODY OF SAFETY-STEEL... instead of the ordinary composite kind.

It means that you can have the added comfort of Individual Wheel Springing and patented Floating Power engine mountings. You get all four major features without paying a penalty.

And finally it means real pride of ownership.

For here is a smart automobile... with the luxury features people want. And the 4-door Sedan is priced at $620 f. o. b. factory.

LET'S TAKE A LOOK AT BOTH SIDES

Mr. A
Pays by Cash

He carries his money upon his person. On several occasions he has lost varying amounts of cash, and once was held up to the tune of $120.00. He spends considerable time making the rounds to pay obligations. He is always waiting for change and asking for receipts. And he never knows what has and what hasn't been paid until the bills roll in the first of the month.

Mr. B
Pays by Check

He carries a checkbook instead of cash. If he loses his checkbook or is held up, his funds are still safe. When paying obligations he saves time by writing checks for the exact amounts and mailing them. He needs no receipts—his cancelled checks are legal evidence of payment. His check stubs show exactly what he has paid and the amount of money he has on hand.

Consider both sides, then profit by the experiences of Mr. A and Mr. B... have a Checking Account at this bank for SAFETY and CONVENIENCE.

DIVISION OF CHRYSLER MOTORS

By HARRY GRAYSON

Old Hiram Conibear's reputation was based principally on his Washington shells beating mediocre California crews year after year. Conibear's record at Poughkeepsie was not out of the ordinary. His Huskies finished second to Syracuse in 1913 and were fifth the following June. Conibear never pulled an oar in his life, but a few years back, when Washington products were drafted by institutions in the east, midwest and California, there was talk of the former professional runner and trainer having revolutionized the sport. The Conibear system and stroke suddenly became the correct one.

Conibear was a splendid teacher, regardless of where authority ranked him. He taught the two most successful of current mentors—Ky Elbright, of California and Ed Leader, of Yale. "Rusty" Callow, of Pennsylvania, also was his pupil, and it was Callow who turned out Al Ulbrickson, the present Washington Coach.

"Rowing systems are greatly overemphasized, as football systems must be," said Elbright, the courteous little man whose Golden Bears qualified for and captured the last two Olympic championships, thrice scored at Poughkeepsie, and who have broken even with Washington since he reported at Berkeley in 1924.

EXECUTION COUNTS

"Stories are built around systems and strokes with the years. During our recent visit at Poughkeepsie I heard someone say that 'Pop' Elbright had told him that the Conibear stroke really was the old New England stroke and that Conibear got it from one Johnny Murphy on the Charles River.

"As in all other forms of athletics, the style is not as important as the way it is executed. And the slightest change is perceptible when eight men are pulling at once, which accounts for the numerous so-called systems.

"There are three big things in rowing—arms, body, and the straightening out of the legs, or you might say, arms bending, back bending, and the slide.

"It's the way they are put together that counts. We at California strive to do it all in uniform."

IT'S THE MEN

"Any style that wins is a fine one," replied Elbright. "We always were a stroke higher than the sturdy Washington men on the Hudson last Saturday, yet our boys grinned all the way down while fighting the crew that beat them by a deck on Lake Washington in April. Our stroke had a little more layback than the one we employed two years ago, but more reach.

"I told my boys to row their own race for two and a half miles, then look around and row. The stroke was higher than the one that he had to cut down his blade so it wouldn't be too tough for him. Burnley is not particularly strong, but he has the knack.

"After all, it's the men in the boat and not the system or stroke that counts the most," concluded Elbright.

"Give me a boatload of Burnleys and I'll be a great coach forever."

PERRY LAST OF BRITISH HOPES

English Newspapers Keep Tennis Star on Front Page

THEY EXPECT DEFEATS IN GOLF

BY HENRY MCLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 28.—To those who didn't understand the publicity given the right ankle Fred Perry injured in the French tennis championships must have seemed a bit absurd.

The lesser papers kept it on their front pages day after day, with statements by Perry, his physicians, and officials of the Lawn Tennis Association. And even such sedate organs as the Times and Guardian thought it worthy of editorial comment.

But those who knew understood. For Perry, now that the Walker and Wightman Cups, and the British Amateur trophy have made the same old east-to-west crossing, is the focal point of English athletic hope. He and he alone, by winning at Wimbledon and in the Davis Cup, can save England from rout in an international sports season it started so bravely, and with such high hopes.

The Walker and Wightman Cup setbacks were particularly severe disappointments to English sports followers. The golfers, playing over familiar St. Andrews, were almost two to one favorites, and the tennis girls, once again on a court whose every blade of grass they knew, were thought invincible, especially against an American side which lacked Mrs. Moody and Miss Marble.

Now only three events remain—the British Open, Wimbledon, and the Davis Cup. The first mentioned hasn't raised much fuss, for the American monopoly in the Open has usually been taken for granted. That's why Perry and his condition are of such prime importance. He is the final hope, the last remaining St. George in the path of the American dragons. If he falls all is lost.

Wimbledon has begun and Perry is in the thick of his most difficult task. What are his chances? Fifty-fifty, I'd say. On the wrong

SANTA ANA CAR PRESSES MILLS

BOWL RACE

Performing sensationally in two races, Chet Mortimore's No. 96, a car built in Santa Ana, proved during the Mid-Summer Motor Pageant at the Bowl last night that it will be a real contender in future midget auto races here.

Before the largest crowd of the season, the daring Mortimore, making his second appearance at the wheel of the Santa Ana car, turned in the fastest qualifying time of 15.1 seconds, won the two-lap trophy dash from the favored "Curly" Mills in 32 flat, defeated Mills in a special five-lap race, and finished second to Mills in the 30-lap main event as well as the opening five-lap trial.

Motor Trouble Costly

Motor trouble, developing on the twenty-first lap, cost Mortimore a possible victory in the main event. He trailed Mills by inches for two-thirds of the way, and almost passed the speedy yellow car three times. Mills went on to win in 8 minutes, 15.5 seconds, and Mortimore had sufficient lead over Bill Betteridge, No. 7, that he was able to place second after hastily solving engine difficulties.

Betteridge, coast champion who remained out of the races last week to have his machine overhauled and equipped with a new motor, developed engine trouble and could not generate sufficient speed to compete with Mills and Mortimore. He took an easy thing in the main event, however. John Keim piloted his black and red No. 22 to victory in the Class B 15-lap event in 4 min. 38 sec.

Queens Introduced

Introduction of Misses Martha Ziakel, Hazel Lee and Roberta Brown, who placed 1-2-3 respectively in the motor pageant queen contest; appearance of the Santa Ana Legion drum and bugle corps; a parade of new stock automobiles and introduction of members of the Santa Ana Legion's "Peck's Bad Boy," now being filmed in Santa Ana; were other highlights of the program.

The results:

Pastest qualifying times—Chet Mortimore, No. 96, 15.1 sec.; "Curly" Mills, No. 35, 16.2 sec.; Bill Betteridge, No. 7, 16.5 sec.; Don Arlen, No. 41, 17 sec.; Pat Warren, No. 62, 17.2 sec.

Two-lap trophy dash between Chet Mortimore, No. 96, and "Curly" Mills, No. 35. Mortimore won in 32 sec. flat.

Five-lap trial—Won by "Curly" Mills, No. 35. Mortimore, No. 96, second; Bill Betteridge, No. 7, third. Time, 1 min. 22.8 sec.

Five-lap trial—Won by "Spud" Nacarato, No. 51; Bill Betteridge, No. 7, second; Don Arlen, No. 41, third. Time, 1 min. 24.5 sec.

Class B 15-lap—Won by Howard Forest, No. 22; Happy Woodman, No. 2, second; Pat Warren, No. 62, third. Time, 1 min. 25.7 sec.

Five-lap trial—Won by Pat Warren, No. 62; John Keim, No. 22, second; Pete Nacarato, No. 19, third. Time, 4 min. 38 sec.

Class B 15-lap—Won by John Keim, No. 22; Pete Nacarato, No. 19, second; Pat Warren, No. 62, third. Time, 4 min. 38 sec.

Testa, Rush Win 6-Day Bike Grind

LOS ANGELES, June 28.—(UP)—More than 10,000 spectators early this morning saw Eddie Testa, Los Angeles, and Lew Rush, Victoria, B. C., win first place honors in the six-day bicycle race at Gilmore stadium.

The two cyclists combined their efforts several days ago when their own partners were forced out by injuries. They were in ninth place until Sunday.

Second place went to Charlie Winters, New York, and "Rabbit" Yates, Chicago.

U.S. Net Stars Again Advance In England

WIMBLEDON, England, June 28.—(UP) All five American singles players in the men's singles of the All-England Tennis championships advanced today to the fourth round.

George Lott, turned in the fifth victory by eliminating Nigel Sharpe of England, after five sets. Lott finally triumphed 7-5, 2-6, 6-3, 1-6, 6-4.

Lanky Lester Stofen, Los Angeles, hit his real stride for the first time in English play by eliminating Marcel Bernard of France, 6-4, 6-4, 6-3.

He was not forced to rely entirely on his cannonball service, but executed many backhand passing shots and cross-court forehand drives which burned the turf. His only weakness was in lobs and drop shots, which he frequently knocked out or netted.

Frederick J. Perry, English ace, gave the gallery a scare by allowing the Czech-Slovakian star, Roderick Menzel, to lead, two sets to one, before the latter wearied and lost. The score was 9-6, 6-3, 5-7, 6-4, 6-2. Menzel, wearing flapping shorts and long white stockings, showed his weariness in the

English Pro Golfers Hit At Amateurs

BY HENRY MCLEMORE
LONDON, June 28.—(UP)—More than one hundred British amateurs filed entries for the Open championship at Royal St. George's this week, and the professional golfers were almost sure enough to ask No. 10 Downing street to throw them out.

Throw out the amateurs, I mean. The pros consider the amateurs not only a nuisance, but a serious handicap to their chances of checking America's dominance of the championship.

The professionals argue this way. Of the hundred amateurs entered for the Open, fewer than twenty have any earthly right in such high class company. The only other qualifications possessed by the other eighty-odd are a week of leisure, a bagful of shiny clubs, a new plus-four suit for every round, and unimpeachable social standing.

"There's a horde of amateurs entered for the opening," one noted British pro said in explaining his side of it, "and most of them are only fair club players, and couldn't win with three-figure handicaps. And to make matters worse, they know it, so they don't take their play seriously, and just joke around. That would be alright if they were playing alone, but many of them draw keen professional players for partners, and that's tough on the pros.

"It's impossible for a man to shoot his best when playing with an indifferent, talkative partner. You can't draw any inspiration from a chap who just hasn't the shots. It seems to me the field should be limited to players who have some chance of winning, and not open to all whose school ties are the right color."

SPORTS BULLETINS

HAVERFORD, O., June 28.—Gilbert Hunt from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, provided the most stunning upset of the National Intercollegiate tennis tournament today when he eliminated the defending champion, Jack Tidball of the University of California at Los Angeles. Hunt won 6-4, 6-1.

RODGERS SAYS OILERS OUT TO WIN 2ND HALF

The last lap of the National league's stormy first-half begins tonight, with Olive and Torrance jousting at Olive. Other clubs give themselves up Friday, with Santa Ana going to Huntington Beach; Long Beach invading Westminster; Fullerton trekking to Anaheim.

Nothing is at stake except pride, and a possible place of money since total games won at the end of the season determine how third, fourth and fifth place teams share in the annual playoff plum. Huntington Beach already has the first-half flag in the sack, so what might have been its epic struggle with Santa Ana becomes just another ball game. Manager Joe Rodgers, happy as a schoolboy over the Oilers' stretch run, will not even be with his men. He departed today for a vacation, leaving Coach Fish in charge of the club.

Oilers Will 'Bear Down'

Manager Rodgers took time out, however, to pledge that Huntington Beach will "bear down" as diligently during the second-half as it did in the successful first round just completed. It is no secret that there was not a little official eyebrow-lifting last summer when Torrance, which had made a joke of the first-half by winning 18 out of 21 games, dropped to sixth place in the short second-half, annexing only 5 out of 14.

"We won't claim the second-half championship until it's won," Rodgers declared. "But you can count on us giving everything that we have to win every start. Huntington Beach believes it owes much to the fans who pay their money to see a game. With the pressure off, I really expect our club to do even better."

Meanwhile, more than one observer is cogitating over the prospect of a dog-eat-dog race from July 10 until August 24, Jimmie Heffron, the sage of Anaheim, dean of league writers, says every team in the league is afraid of Santa Ana which he terms "the most improved club in the league."

Coates Best '34 Rookie

There is no question that the Santa Anans will be contenders in the hitters give Jim Coates adequate support. Coates pitched so well during the first round that he stamped himself as the year's best freshman. He lost four games but all but one of these, the second Olive joust, were due more to his mates' helplessness than to his own deficiencies.

Manager Bill Cole believes the Oilers will figure in the fight all the way, and can win with "the breaks." The club is beginning to hit with Rod Ballard and Tommy Young coming out of a long slump, and Francis Conrad, swinging from the left side of the plate now, promising to transform himself into a high class bouncer-hitter just as Randolph Bell did a few years ago. Defensively, Conrad has been a brilliant addition to the roster. Joe Korah has aided the Stars offensively. He is over the 300 hump. His fielding is nothing exceptional but Korah never has claimed to be a first baseman. He figures to improve with experience.

Pomona recovered first place in the American Night league Tuesday night when San Bernardino lost a 1-0 pitcher's battle to Colton. The inland race closes next Monday, although two games that were rained out June 5—Riverside vs. Colton, and Redlands vs. Pomona—must be played off before the championship is decided. Statistics:

Klick, Canzoneri In Postponed Bout

NEW YORK, June 28.—(UP)—Frankie Klick, of San Francisco, and Tony Canzoneri, former lightweight champion, are slated to meet tonight in their scheduled fight, postponed last night due to rain.

Utility infielders include "Pepper" Martin, Cards, and Travis Jackson, Giants, for the National league, and Jimmy Foxe, Athletics, Jimmy Dykes, White Sox and Bill Knickerbocker, Indians, for the American leagues.

BRUSSELS PRO HAS 9-STROKE EDGE ON FIELD

SANDWICH, England, June 28.—(UP)—Enjoying a lead of nine strokes over his nearest rival, Henry Cotton of Brussels, Belgium, today became a highly probable winner of the British Open golf championship.

His aggregate of 132, approached only by Alfred Padgham's 141, seemed to his friends to be as safe as the Bank of England. Cotton was 14 under par after the first 36 holes.

One after another, the players who could have threatened his leadership were wholly unable to approach his magic figures of 67-65. Even the 71-70 scored by Padgham, the British ace, offered no immediate threat.

Denny Shute of Philadelphia, the defending champion, was two strokes back of Padgham, with 71-72-143. He was tied by Joe Kirkwood of Chicago who had 74-69-143, and by Charles Whitcombe of England with 71-72-143. Mac Smith of Chicago seemed out of it with 77-70-147, and Gene Sarazen of New York, original betting favorite, was a stroke further back. He had 75-73-148.

Robert Sweeney of New York and London unquestionably had failed to qualify for tomorrow's final 36 holes for his 79 today gave him an aggregate of 159. The qualifying limit appeared certain to be either 152 or 153. The low 60 players and ties continue Friday.

TEST CALF TENDONS IN TENNIS RACKETS

LOS ANGELES, June 28.—(UP)—Two innovations designed to speed up the game have appeared on the tennis-struck Pacific coast.

The first is the commercial debut of the long-headed tennis string made of calf tendon. The second is a racket perforated for diagonal stringing instead of rectangular.

The tendon string is made of processed calf tendon instead of sheep intestine. It is claimed that it is more resilient, harder and more nearly moisture-proof.

Raw, dried calves' tendon, in stiff four-inch lengths, is ground to floss in huge hoppers. The floss is carded into string. Four piles of string are twisted together in the opposite direction with a three-ply string. The resulting 12-ply cord, calculated to resist unraveling—the first stage of breakage—more stubbornly than single-wound gut, is processed and dried.

Manufacturers asked the University of California to conduct comparative tests of the new tendon and gut. Three rackets were strung with various grades of gut and one with tendon, and all were submitted to the pounding of mechanical hammers covered with padded felt. The results showed that the sinew string withstood approximately one-fifth more pounding than the best gut, and proportionately more than the other grades.

If its durability may be taken for granted, the tendon still needs a general trial on the all-important question of resiliency. Scores of "juries" are out on that question on the courts of Southern California.

The diagonal-stringing idea has gained considerable impetus from professionals, to whom it sounds reasonable. The principle has been variously applied, with success, to fish nets, suspension bridges and women's clothing—all "woven on the bias" for greater resiliency and resistance to strain.

Old Hiram Conbeare's reputation, and, with perfect timing, generate the peak power at the proper moment. In other words, we seek—and get—concentrated power.

"You heard it said that California was short in the water, meaning that the sweep of the oar was not long. There is no question that length in the water is a virtue, but power is the greatest one."

The discussion of systems went on. "Columbia oarsmen, with the Glendon stroke, do not pull the arms until the legs are straightened out," remarked Bob Harrow, veteran recorder of regattas. "They have a long body swing. They are almost flat in the shell at low stroke. That must be a good system too, for it has won many a race."

IT'S THE MEN
"Any style that wins is a fine one," replied Eblight. "We always were a stroke higher than the sturdy Washington men on the Hudson last Saturday, yet our boys grinned all the way down while fighting the crew that beat them by a deck on Lake Washington in April. Our stroke had a little more layback than the one we employed two years ago, but more reach."

"I told my boys to row their own race for two and a half miles, then look around and row accordingly. They certainly stuck in there during that last mile and a half. The race was a replica of our battle with Columbia in 1928. It was the changing of four from our second to our first boat that did the trick."

There were five sophomores in the California crew, two of them 19 years old and three 20. Speaking of length in the water, Dick Burnley, 19-year-old, six foot five inch, 165 pound stroke, was so sure that he had to cut down his blade so it wouldn't be too tough for him. Burnley is not particularly strong, but he has the knack.

"After all, it's the men in the boat and not the system or stroke that counts the most," concluded Eblight.

"Give me a boatload of Burnleys and I'll be a great coach forever."

EXECUTION COUNTS
"Stories are built around systems and strokes with the years. During our recent visit at Poughkeepsie I heard someone say that 'Pop' Glendon had told him that the Conbeare stroke really was the old New England stroke and that Conbeare got it from one Johnny Murphy on the Charles river."

"As in all other forms of athletics, the style is not as important as the way it is executed. The slightest change is perceptible when eight men are pulling at once, which accounts for the numerous so-called systems."

"There are three big things in rowing — arms, body, and the straightening out of the legs, or you might say, arms bending, back bending, and the slide."

"It's the way they are put together that counts. We at California strive to do it all in unison."

English Newspapers Keep Tennis Star on Front Page
THEY EXPECT DEFEATS IN GOLF

BY HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 28.—To those who didn't understand the publicity given the right ankle Fred Perry injured in the French tennis championships must have seemed a bit absurd.

The lesser papers kept it on their front pages day after day, with statements by Perry, his physicians, and officials of the Lawn Tennis Association. And even such sedate organs as the Times and Guardian thought it worthy of editorial comment.

But those who knew understood. For Perry, now that the Walker and Wightman Cups, and the British Amateur trophy have made the same old east-to-west crossing, is the focal point of English athletic hope. He, and he alone, by winning at Wimbledon and in the Davis Cup, can save England from rout in an international sports season it started so bravely, and with such high hopes.

The Walker and Wightman Cup setbacks were particularly severe disappointments to English sports followers. The golfers, playing over familiar St. Andrews, were almost two to one favorites, and the tennis girls, once again on a court whose every blade of grass they knew, were thought invincible, especially against an American side which lacked Mrs. Moody and Miss Maribee.

Now only three events remain—the British Open, Wimbledon, and the Davis Cup. The first mentioned hasn't raised much fuss, for the American team simply took the Open has usually been taken for granted. That's why Perry and his condition are of such prime importance. He is the final hope, the last remaining St. George in the path of the American dragons. If he falls all is lost.

Wimbledon has begun and Perry is in the thick of his most difficult task. What are his chances? Fifty-fifty, I'd say. On the wrong

SANTA ANA CAR PRESSES MILLS IN BOWL RACE
Pit County Amateurs Against Ringside A. C.

Ringside Athletic club warriors, ten deep, play a return engagement at the Orange County Athletic club's Bowl tonight, hoping to avenge a 5-4 setback suffered at the highway boxing emporium several weeks ago.

Chris Cardozo, regarded as one of the wisest managers in the amateur fight game, brings the Ringside stable here. His battlers are mostly Italians, the two standouts being Tony Garconi and Tony Soldano.

Garconi, nee Zalcomy, has fought with distinction several times at the Bowl. He thrashed "Bud" Parker in his most impressive start, that match ending a six-straight winning streak for Parker who has been on the shelf ever since.

Garconi fights "Smiling Jack" Curley on this interclub program. They step five rounds in the main event.

Curley, a good and game 145-pounder from Long Beach, has something of a sensation. He has thrived on rough going, flashing a kind of Max Baer smile which his opponent has been able to wipe off. But Garconi probably will go into the pit favored to whip him.

Lightweights Soldano and "Baby Face" Romerelz operate in the five-round semi-windup. This one figure to be close, Romerelz proving he could take as well as give it last week when he got up twice to beat Gil Rivers.

A rematch between Paul Brown, Santa Ana schoolboy, and Rudy Elias is the third five-rounder. Elias won by a whisker last time.

Other bouts all four rounds: Jim Byrnes, Ringside A. C., vs. Benny Gomez, Pico, 160 pounds; Frank Gomez, Ringside A. C., vs. Al Lopez, Placentia, 147 pounds; Tony Cardozo, Ringside A. C., vs. Johnny Martinez, Santa Ana, 130 pounds;

Jack Collins, Ringside A. C., vs. Jesse Segobia, Wilmington, 128 pounds; Gene Espinosa, Ringside A. C., vs. Art Hernandez, Wilmington, 130 pounds;

Babe Lopez, Ringside A. C., vs. Art Lopez, Santa Ana, 125 pounds; Joe Martinez, Ringside A. C., vs. Don Vencor, Anaheim, 120 pounds.

WANA SEEKS TRIP TO PORTLAND TOURNAMENT
An elimination bout between Calvin Addie, Y.M.C.A. champ, and Bill Wana, Westminster southpaw welterweight, to see which will represent Southern California in the A.A.U. boxing tournament at Portland, Or., will be held at the Inglewood Athletic club tonight at 8:30.

Manager Rogers could time out, however, to pledge that Huntington Beach will "bear down" as diligently during the second-half as it did in the successful first round just completed. It is no secret that there was not a little official eyebrow-lifting last summer when Torrancia, which had made a joke of the first-half by winning 18 out of 21 games, dropped to sixth place in the short second-half, annexing only 5 out of 14.

"We won't claim the second-half championship until it's won," Rodgers declared. "But you can count on us giving everything that we have to win every start. Huntington Beach believes it owes much to the fans who pay their money to see a game. With the pressure off, I really expect our club to do even better."

Meanwhile, more than one observer is cogitating over the prospect of a dog-eat-dog race from July 10 until August 24. Jimmie Heffron, the sage of Anaheim, dean of league writers, says every team in the league is afraid of Santa Ana which he terms "the most improved club in the league."

Coates Best '34 Rookie
There is no question that the Santa Anans will be contenders in the hitters give Jim Coates adequate support. Coates pitched so well during the first round that he stamped himself as the year's best freshman. He lost four games but all but one of these, the second Olive bout, were due more to his mates' helplessness than his own deficiencies.

RODGERS SAYS OILERS OUT TO WIN 2ND HALF

The last lap of the National league's stormy first-half begins tonight, with Olive and Torrancia jousting at Olive. Other clubs give themselves up Friday, with Santa Ana going to Huntington Beach; Long Beach invading Westminster; Fullerton trekking to Anaheim.

Nothing is at stake except pride, and a possible piece of money since total games won at the end of the season determine how third, fourth and fifth place teams share in the annual playoff plum. Huntington Beach already has the first-half flag in the sack, so what might have been its epic struggle with Santa Ana becomes just another ball game. Manager Joe Rodgers, happy as a schoolboy over the Oilers' stretch run, will not even be with his men. He departed today for a vacation, leaving Coach Fish in charge of the club.

Oilers Will 'Bear Down'
Manager Rogers could time out, however, to pledge that Huntington Beach will "bear down" as diligently during the second-half as it did in the successful first round just completed. He lost four games but all but one of these, the second Olive bout, were due more to his mates' helplessness than his own deficiencies.

Manager Bill Cole believes the Oilers will figure in the fight all the way, and can win with "the breaks." The club is beginning to hit with Rod Ballard and Tommy Young coming out of a long slump, and Francis Conrad, swinging from the left side of the plate now, promising to transform himself into a high class bouncer-hitter just as Randolph Bell did a few years ago. Defensively, Conrad has been a brilliant addition to the roster. Joe Koral has aided the Stars offensively. He is over the 300 hump. His fielding is nothing exceptional but Koral never has claimed to be a first baseman. He figures to improve with experience.

WONDER WHO SELLS THE NEW "G3" GOODYEAR TIRES?

ANY SHELL SERVICE STATION, LADY!

WIMBLEDON, England, June 28.—(UP)—Enjoying a lead of nine strokes over his nearest rival, Henry Cotton of Brussels, Belgium, today became a highly probable winner of the British Open golf championship.

His aggregate of 132, approached only by Alfred Padgham's 141, seemed to his friends to be as safe as the Bank of England. Cotton was 14 under par after the first 36 holes.

Mac Smith of Chicago seemed out of it with 77-70-147, and Gene Sarazen of New York, original betting favorite, was a stroke further back. He had 75-73-148.

Robert Sweeney of New York and London unquestionably had failed to qualify for tomorrow's final 36 holes for his 79 today gave him an aggregate of 159. The qualifying limit appeared certain to be either 152 or 153. The low 69 players and ties continue Friday.

U.S. Net Stars Again Advance In England

WIMBLEDON, England, June 28.—(UP)—All five American survivors in the men's singles of the All-England Tennis championships advanced today to the fourth round.

George Lott turned in the fifth victory by eliminating Nigel Sharpe of England, after five sets. Lott finally triumphed 7-5, 2-6, 6-3, 1-6, 6-4.

Lanky Lester Stofen, Los Angeles, hit his real stride for the first time in English play by eliminating Marcel Bernard of France, 6-4, 6-4, 6-3.

He was not forced to rely entirely on his cannonball service, but executed many backhand passing shots and cross-court forehand drives which burned the net.

His only weakness was in the drop shot, which he frequently knocked out or netted.

Frederick J. Perry, English ace, gave the gallery a scare by allowing the Czech-Slovakian star, Roderick Menzel, to lead, two sets to one, before the latter weaved and lost. The score was 6-6, 6-3, 5-7, 6-4, 6-2. Menzel, wearing flapping shorts and long white stockings, showed his weariness in the

English Pro Golfers Hit At Amateurs
BY HENRY McLEMORE
LONDON, June 28.—(UP)—More than one hundred British amateurs filed entries for the Open championship at Royal St. Georges this week and the professional golfers were almost too busy to ask No. 10 Downing street to throw them out.

Throw out the amateurs, I mean. The pros consider the amateurs not only a nuisance, but a serious handicap to their chances of checking America's dominance of the championship.

The professionals argue this way. Of the hundred amateurs entered for the Open, fewer than twenty have any earthly right in such high class company. The only other qualifications possessed by the other eighty-odd are a week of leisure, a bagful of shiny clubs, a new plus-four suit for every round, and impeccable social standing.

The only other qualifications possessed by the other eighty-odd are a week of leisure, a bagful of shiny clubs, a new plus-four suit for every round, and impeccable social standing.

It's impossible for a man to shoot his best when playing with an indifferent, talkative partner. You can't draw any inspiration from a chap who just hasn't the shots. It seems to me the field should be limited to players who have some chance of winning and not open to all whose school ties are the right color."

CHARGES CRUEL TREATMENT AT DOG FOOD PLANT

Charges of inhuman treatment in handling the large stock of horses at the W. J. Ross dog and cat food factory in Los Alamitos are contained in complaints sworn out today against the company by F. J. Lee, state humane officer, and Fred Bixby, prominent rancher of Long Beach.

More than 950 horses have been received by the dog and cat food factory in a recent shipment from Southern Arizona and Mexico, and many of these animals, already in a poor condition from living only on the sagebrush of their former habitat, are now in a dying condition and are receiving improper care, according to the Bixby and Lee complaints.

Previously, it is reported, the dog and cat food factory has handled around 150 horses at a time, and has been able to dispose of this amount of stock in a proper manner. But this present supply of horses, which have been brought to the factory in daily shipments of from two to three carloads, is too large to handle in a humane manner, it is charged.

Charles C. Ocan, president of the Orange County Humane society, and Dr. J. H. Bower, Orange county meat and livestock inspector, are investigating the charges.

TO FACE COURT ON BURGLARY CHARGE

M. C. Kerr, Long Beach man charged with burglary in connection with the theft of a typewriter and adding machine from the Santa Ana Bottling Works on June 18, was held to answer in the justice court today by Judge Kenneth Morrison.

Kerr is under $2500 bail. He was arrested by sheriff's officers after a motorist's car had been seen near the bottling works the night of the burglary. A witness told the license number of the car and Kerr was traced to his home in Long Beach, where the equipment was recovered and he admitted the theft, according to police reports.

Moone's Emerald Oil Must Do Away With All Soreness, Swelling and Distress or Your Money Back

Two or three applications of Moone's Emerald Oil and in fifteen minutes the pain and soreness disappears. A few more applications at regular intervals and the swelling reduces.

And best of all any offensive odor is gone for good — It's a wonderful formula — this combination of essential oils with camphor and other antiseptics so marvelous that thousands of bottles are sold annually.

Every good druggist guarantees Moone's Emerald Oil to end your foot troubles or money back.

SEEK CAR DRIVER AFTER ACCIDENT

Following a four car wreck in which one woman was hurt, state officers and police are conducting a search for an alleged drunken driver who left the scene of the wreck at Stanton and Lincoln boulevards last evening without giving his name.

A truck driven by Ted Boersma, 25, Artesia, was being followed south on Stanton road by cars driven by F. L. Smith, 31, Los Angeles and Mrs. Letha Hodson, 25, Whittier. The missing driver crashed into the rear of the Hodson machine, which in turn hit the Smith car and caused it to crash into the truck.

The hit-and-run motorist stopped long enough to see if anyone was hurt and mentioned that he lived in Alhambra, then sped away. He is being traced through license numbers and is expected to be placed under arrest.

NEW PLYMOUTH IS RECEIVED IN S. A. BY THREE DEALERS

Walter P. Chrysler announced a new addition to the Plymouth line today, the Plymouth Special Six. The car is now in full production and is on display locally at the showrooms of the L. D. Coffing company, Fifth and Spurgeon streets, Otto Haan garage at 505 South Main street and Coast Motors company, 419 Bush street.

The announcement states that the Plymouth Special Six is "designed for motorists who want luxury features at the lowest possible cost, plus the latest in engineering and mechanical advances."

Lowest prices on the Plymouth Special Six are less than $565, f. o. b. Detroit. Models include a four-door sedan, two-door sedan, a town sedan, with built-in trunk; rumble seat coupe and a business coupe.

The Plymouth Motor Corporation's low-priced line includes the lowest priced car with hydraulic brakes and the lowest priced four-door six-cylinder sedan in the world. The Plymouth De Luxe Six, with 114-inch wheelbase, is the largest car of its type in the low price field.

"With Plymouth sales thus far this year more than double the same time last year, the introduction of the Special Six now gives Plymouth the most complete line of cars in the low price field," it is said by local dealers. "It has been the aim of the Corporation to produce in this addition to the Plymouth line, a motor car that would really be deluxe in every way, and at the same time have all of the mechanical advantages that we know people want."

COMMITTEE MAKES PLANS TO SEEK FEDERAL WATER FUNDS FOR NORTHERN END OF COUNTY

FULLERTON, June 28.—Declaring they have no intention in view of doing anything that would in any way hamper a county unit application for flood control and water conservation, members of the neighborhood committee on water conservation, meeting last night in Fullerton Chamber of Commerce headquarters, agreed that their committee will interview Francis Cuttle, Tri-Counties Conservation association president, on the possibility of getting federal aid for flood control and conservation in Northern Orange county.

This move for federal aid will be taken irrespective of action on a county wide project. Ray Smith made the suggestion for the new investigation.

This conclusion was reached when the committee had heard the report of Walter Humphreys, representing a committee appointed from the group to investigate. Humphreys, with Walter Mucken-thaler, Richard Nelson and William Schumacher, comprised the committee.

Humphreys pointed out that the status of the Orange county problem of water conservation and flood control is evidently again occupying a great deal of time of officials. Humphreys thought it impossible to get government aid for part of the project, like Brea creek control, even though that is approved in the general plan made by Engineers Elliott and Butler in their reports.

Nevertheless, outlining clearly that their plan is not running counter, but is in co-operation with the engineers' plans, the group determined to try to get part of the project approved that work may be started soon, without waiting for the contested plans of the large project to be settled. They agreed to wait until after the meeting Friday, when 25 organization representatives are meeting under auspices of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the county to consider unity of action on the Elliott plan, as submitted by the supervisors to Frances Cuttle for presentation to the federal government.

In discussion of the county wide project, John Tufree, sitting as a guest member of the committee last night, and saying he represented no company officially, said the water companies have not been obstructing but have been co-operating with plans for flood control and conservation. He questioned, personally, the advisability of rushing to Washington plans like the Elliott plan without having consulted the people and especially those interested in water.

A. B. Hillabold presided and Harry M. May was secretary of the meeting. Another will be called when the committee is ready to report on the result of an interview with Cuttle.

COLLINS TO GIVE REPORT ON WATER

Congressman Sam L. Collins, who just returned from Washington, D. C., appeared before the board of supervisors today to inform them that he will meet with them next Monday to relate circumstances surrounding the submission of a water report and proposed program for Orange county which was included in President Roosevelt's message to congress. Collins has reopened his offices in the First National bank building here, and made public a request that any of his constituents who desire may contact him at the office. He asked that mail be directed here instead of to Washington.

Pile Sufferers

Can You Answer These Questions?

Do you know why external remedies so seldom give quick and permanent relief?

Why cutting does not remove the cause?

Do you know the cause of Piles is internal?

That there is congestion of blood in the lower bowel—the veins flabby, the parts lifeless?

Do you know the cause of harmless internal remedy for itching, bleeding or protruding piles discovered by Dr. Leonhardt and known as HEM-ROID that is guaranteed?

HEM-ROID banishes piles by removing the cause. It stimulates the circulation in the lower bowel—drives out the thick impure blood, and restores the affected parts.

HEM-ROID is so successful in even the most stubborn cases that McCoy and Walgreen Drug Store and all good druggists advise every sufferer to get a bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets today—take them as directed—then if not completely satisfied with results—your money back—Adv.

CLAIMS DILLINGER SEEN AT BALL GAME

CROWN POINT, Ind., June 28.—(UP)—Robert Volk who is familiar with John Dillinger's appearance, said today he saw the outlaw attending a baseball game at the Wrigley Field in Chicago Tuesday.

Volk was among those in a Crown Point garage from which Dillinger stole the car in which he made his sensational escape from jail here last March 3. He said he was positive that he not only saw but talked to Dillinger at the baseball game but was too frightened to tell police until his disclosure to Lake County authorities today.

According to Volk's story Dillinger walked into the upper tier bleachers of the Cubs' Park on Chicago's north side and sat down beside Volk. Volk was fidgety since he recognized Dillinger at once. Dillinger seemed to recognize him too.

CHARGES CRUEL TREATMENT AT DOG FOOD PLANT

Charges of inhuman treatment in handling the large stock of horses at the W. J. Ross dog and cat food factory in Los Alamitos are contained in complaints sworn out today against the company by F. J. Lee, state humane officer, and Fred Bixby, prominent rancher of Long Beach.

More than 950 horses have been received by the dog and cat food factory in a recent shipment from Southern Arizona and Mexico, and many of these animals, already in a poor condition from living only on the sagebrush of their former habitat, are now in a dying condition and are receiving improper care, according to the Bixby and Lee complaints.

Previously, it is reported, the dog and cat food factory has handled around 150 horses at a time, and has been able to dispose of this amount of stock in a proper manner. But this present supply of horses, which have been brought to the factory in daily shipments of from two to three carloads, is too large to handle in a humane manner, it is charged.

Charles C. Ocan, president of the Orange County Humane society, and Dr. J. H. Bower, Orange county meat and livestock inspector, are investigating the charges.

TO FACE COURT ON BURGLARY CHARGE

M. C. Kerr, Long Beach man charged with burglary in connection with the theft of a typewriter and adding machine from the Santa Ana Bottling Works on June 18, was held to answer in the justice court today by Judge Kenneth Morrison.

Kerr is under $2500 bail. He was arrested by sheriff's officers after a mysterious car had been seen near the bottling works the night of the burglary. A witness took the license number of the car and Kerr was traced to his home in Long Beach, where the equipment was recovered and he admitted the theft, according to police reports.

SEEK CAR DRIVER AFTER ACCIDENT

Following a four car wreck in which one woman was hurt, state officers and police are conducting a search for an alleged drunken driver who left the scene of the wreck at Stanton and Lincoln boulevards last evening without giving his name.

A truck driven by Ted Boersma, 26, Artesia, was being followed south on Stanton road by cars driven by F. L. Smith, 31, Los Angeles and Mrs. Letha Hodson, 25, Whittier. The missing driver crashed into the rear of the Hodson machine, which in turn hit the Smith car and caused it to crash into the truck.

The hit-and-run motorist stopped long enough to see if anyone was hurt and mentioned that he lived in Alhambra, then speeded away. He is being traced through license numbers and is expected to be placed under arrest.

NEW PLYMOUTH IS RECEIVED IN S. A. BY THREE DEALERS

Walter P. Chrysler announced a new addition to the Plymouth line today, the Plymouth Special Six. The car is now in full production and is on display locally at the showrooms of the L. D. Coffing company, Fifth and Spurgeon streets, Otto Haan garage at 505 South Main street and Coast Motors company, 419 Bush street.

The announcement states that the Plymouth Special Six is "designed for motorists who want luxury features at the lowest possible cost, plus the latest in engineering and mechanical advances."

Lowest prices on the Plymouth Special Six are less than $545, f. o. b. Detroit. Models include a four-door sedan, two-door sedan, a town sedan, with built-in trunk; rumble seat coupe and a business coupe.

The Plymouth Motor Corporation's low-priced line includes the lowest priced car with hydraulic brakes and the lowest priced four-door six-cylinder sedan in the world. The Plymouth De Luxe Six, with 114-inch wheelbase, is the largest car of its type in the low price field.

"With Plymouth sales thus far this year more than double the same time last year, the introduction of the Special Six now gives Plymouth the most complete line of cars in the low priced field," it is said by local dealers. "It has been the aim of the Corporation to produce in this addition to the Plymouth line, a motor car that would really be deluxe in every way, and at the same time have all of the mechanical advantages that we know people want."

DIAPERS

A business man walked into the NRA. "I manufacture diapers," he said. "What code do I come under?"

They sent him to the cotton textile division. The people in that office were sure that diapers did not come under their jurisdiction. They referred him to the light sewing division.

The light sewing administrator looked into the matter and held that diapers constituted wearing apparel. He shunted the manufacturer to the apparel office. There the lawyers went into a huddle and disagreed violently. After much argument they were unable to pin the diaper problem down. It was referred to the official NRA policy board for determination. The board now has the matter under advisement.

It only goes to show the trouble you get into when you start fooling with fundamentals.

DRESSES

If that story is not enough to convince you of the inner difficulties of NRA, consider what happened at a recent hearing by the dress code authority.

The head of the authority was trying to prove that cotton wash dresses belong under the dress code instead of the cotton garment code. He produced two young women, one clad in a cotton dress made under the cotton garment code, and another wearing a dress made under the dress code. He explained the difference between the two types.

Then he brought on a flock of young ladies and asked the audience to judge which ones wore house dresses and which wore cotton wash dresses. As the girls walked across the platform, the audience shouted its guesses.

The guesses were about half and half. The code authority turned to the audience and said: "Gentlemen, you have proven my point eloquently. None of these dresses was a wash dress. All were house dresses."

He did not know it, but he also proved that the NRA is reducing itself very near to absurdities in trying to make different specific detailed regulations for every manufacturer of diapers, dresses or doughnuts.

ROMANCE

Don't look surprised if that promised wedding of a most prominent Republican widow and a former Republican party official takes place suddenly.

The inner longnet circle can detect the first faint prospective tinkle of the bells. That is because the gentleman in the case recently purchased an estate in nearby Maryland. He is furnishing it with paintings and works of art which cannot be intended for his own enjoyment alone.

It is unlikely that the news about the wedding will come out until it is over.

NAZIS

President Roosevelt seems to follow the old poker rules in most of his international dealings: "Play a strong hand weakly and a weak hand strongly."

He had a very weak hand when he made that strong threat of trade retaliation against Germany recently. You can be sure there will be no trade retaliation.

The reason is that we have a favorable balance of trade with Germany. Retaliation would hurt us. Last year we sold the Nazis $62,000,000 more of goods than they sold us. Normally we sell her from two hundred to three hundred millions more.

We could refuse to sell them goods and it might help to drive Germany in the ditch, but it would cost us upwards of sixty millions a year to do it.

The Germans know that. So do Mr. Roosevelt's economic advisers. They tossed their arms in the air when they heard that the White House had hinted trade retaliation because of the German suspension of international payments.

SOFT SOAP

There are some deep-dyed skeptics who will contend that the extraordinary cordial attention given the visiting president-elect of Colombia had certain material aspects.

Mr. Roosevelt did go to unusual lengths to be friendly with Colombia and its president-elect. State Secretary Hull went to the station in person to meet the visitor. There were pictures and statements carrying extra cordiality and friendship. Also, Mr. Roosevelt intends to return the visit in person on his Hawaiian cruise. It is the only such visit he will make.

You will recall that we made our first reciprocal trade treaty with Colombia and that the treaty now is pending in the Colombian Senate. Those who know their Colombian politics say that the Colombian Senators are somewhat like ours—chronically uncertain. They might hold up their treaty to see what kind of a trade bargain their neighbors get with us.

BLEAGLE

A group of junior executives in the NRA have pooled their resources and leased a large estate in Virginia for the summer. It has a swimming pool, tennis courts and other luxuries. As all work under the Blue Eagle, the place is called "Bleagle-on-the-Potomac."

Dr. Wirt will not be visited there.

NEW YORK

By James McMullin

GOOSE-EGGS
New York experts call the elaborate plans and lavish publicity for direct loans to industry by the RFC and the Federal Reserve much ado about nothing. Doubtless there'll be plenty of applicants but the nation won't be saved by the cash handed out—despite $500,000 the first day. Here are a few reasons why.

1. Loans for plant improvement and construction purposes are barred. It's estimated that will eliminate about 80 per cent of the applicants right off the bat.

2. Loans can't be used to pay off other debts except to a minor degree. This squelches hopes of relief for another large batch of small companies.

3. Collateral must be sound and yet the applicant must prove inability to get credit through normal banking channels. That will have to be done with mirrors unless the definition of "sound" is as broad as an English A. Contrary to general impression bankers haven't been ducking for cover at sight of a would-be borrower—at least not in recent months. They insist they've rejected no proposition backed by adequate security unless they were for too long a period. In the latter case the move may help some—though even there the banks have relaxed their requirements.

4. The Federal Reserve will be participating with its fingers crossed. Committees will be set up to go through the motions but in general they are likely to be more predisposed towards justifying the judgment of member banks than to dishing out credit. It's a safe bet that any arrangement between RFC and Federal Reserve will find the former handling the longer term loans of a purely industrial character and the latter shorter advances involving financial institutions.

5. Companies borrowing from RFC must take orders as to officers' salaries and pay no dividends without permission. This will discourage plenty of potential applicants whose need isn't really urgent.

CONFIDENT

Republicans scent a swell break in the making. They figure the ratio of satisfied to disappointed applicants for direct loans will be microscopic. They'll be all set to soothe the rejected with biting remarks about a government that lured them to false hopes.

Also they'll be watching like a cat at a mouse-hole for any trace of political favoritism as a factor in granting loans. They're confident they'll be able to dig out a few samples for campaign use.

SPUR

The direct loan gesture may accomplish indirect good by stimulating banking interest in immediate loans. Banking ideas about the legitimacy of three to five year credit are being gently but systematically prodded from Washington and one motif for RFC activity is to spur the competitive spirit. Summer developments along this line will bear watching.

SUPER

The most significant result of the conference of business leaders at Hot Springs was the plan to reconstruct the industrial advisory board and create a nucleus of five paid and permanent members.

This step will enormously increase the industrial influence in Washington by enabling big business to maintain close and continuous contact with the government.

Up to now the board has had a personnel of big shots rotating frequently in office. They have had neither time nor opportunity to follow developments in detail nor to formulate a coherent advisory policy on industry's behalf. The permanent section of the new board will remedy that.

It might be unkind to refer to the new set-up as a super-lobby but keen observers remark that such a description wouldn't be far off the mark.

REGULATORS

Wall Street is privately pulling every possible wire to land one of its own on the Securities and Exchange Commissions. That's why you see so many inspired stories naming various individuals identified with the Stock Exchange as likely appointees. It's true that the stories themselves emanated from Washington but the original inspiration came from here.

The boys have thought up an ingenious argument to further their cause. It runs that one member from Exchange circles could do no harm as an impotent minority while his inside knowledge would be valuable to the Commission. This approach has gone over well in certain Washington quarters and may achieve its object. Of course nothing is mentioned about the help it would be to Wall Street to have inside knowledge of the Commission's workings.

Brokers have gotten used to the idea of taking orders from James T. Landis. His administration of the Securities Act makes him a known quantity. George Mathews causes no alarm. He has a reputation here as a square-shooter trading to his rational handling of the stiff Wisconsin blue-sky law. Pecora as a master would gall him if they were sure of a hometown nominee at the same time. Messages to this effect have been conveyed where Wall Street thinks they will do the most good.

POPULAR

Richard Whitney's much-advertised press conferences got off to a cloudy start—too much "background" and not enough news. His formality was chilling and he apparently thinks it undignified to smile. If he doesn't learn to relax he'll be about as popular with the press as Hoover—and what a help to Exchange public relations that would be.

COUNTY QUOTA FOR CCC CAMP IS SET AT 90

A warning to young men desiring to enroll for a six months term in the Civilian Conservation Corps to apply now to designated agents in the various counties was issued today by State Emergency Relief Administrator R. C. Branton, who is in charge of junior members for California.

A new enrollment to recruit the service to its capacity of 17,500 in California, will take place early in July, it was announced.

The recruiting agent for Orange county is Welfare Director B. V. Curry, whose offices are in the county welfare department in the courthouse annex, Santa Ana. The Orange county quota is 90 young men for the July CCC enrollment.

There will be room for 4100 boys between the ages of 18 and 25 in the junior quota of the California CCC at this enrollment. Enrollment of these young men is supervised by the State Emergency Relief Administration. Enrollment of 1029 experienced woodsmen and of 381 veterans who act as overseers in charge of the forestry service and the U. S. veterans' bureau, respectively.

CCC enrollees are quartered in 76 camps in the state and perform service of public value for which they receive $30 a month in the ranks, $36 as assistant leaders, and $45 as leaders. Allowments of not less than $22 and not more than $25 monthly pay to dependents is required of each enlisted man. Attempt will be made to select young men from families in need of relief.

DIAPERS

A business man walked into the NRA. "I manufacture diapers," he said. "What code do I come under?"

They sent him to the cotton textile division. The people in that office were sure that diapers did not come under their jurisdiction. They referred him to the light sewing division.

The light sewing administrator looked into the matter and held that diapers constituted wearing apparel. He shunted the manufacturer to the apparel office. There the lawyers went into a huddle and disagreed violently. After much argument they were unable to pin the diaper problem down. It was referred to the official NRA policy board for determination. The board now has the matter under advisement.

It only goes to show the trouble you get into when you start fooling with fundamentals.

DRESSES

If that story is not enough to convince you of the inner difficulties of NRA, consider what happened at a recent hearing by the dress code authority.

The head of the authority was trying to prove that cotton wash dresses belong under the dress code instead of the cotton garment code. He produced two young women, one clad in a cotton dress made under the cotton garment code, and another wearing a house dress made under the dress code. He explained the difference between the two types.

Then he brought on a flock of young ladies and asked the audience to judge which ones wore house dresses and which wore cotton wash dresses. As the girls walked across the platform, the audience shouted its guesses.

The guesses were about half and half. The code authority turned to the audience and said: "Gentlemen, you have proven my point eloquently. None of these dresses was a wash dress. All were house dresses."

He did not know it, but he also proved that the NRA is reducing itself very near to absurdities in trying to make different specific detailed regulations for every manufacturer of diapers, dresses or doughnuts.

Expect Tax Delinquency Not To Exceed 10 Per Cent

$4,003,669 IS COLLECTED BY DEADLINE DATE

A prediction that Orange county's delinquent taxes will amount to no more than 10 per cent was made today by County Tax Collector John Lamb.

"The figures look good to me," he declared. "I know of no other institution collecting 90 per cent of its bills. I believe that by the time of closing our books, we will be not more than 10 per cent delinquent on county property and perhaps reach 11 per cent for cities whose municipal taxes are paid through this department."

The total tax levy for county purposes, the amount supposed to be collected for the county, was $3,716,001.64. Collections to April 21, 1934, amounted to $3,265,204.82. The percentage of delinquency as shown on the delinquent roll was 12.13 per cent in the county, exclusive of street assessments, but collections from April 20 to June 26 brought the county tax delinquency percentage down to 10.02.

The entire levy, including taxes collected for municipalities on percentage basis, was $4,655,904.27 while the amount actually collected is $4,003,669.41, leaving a balance of $652,234.86 uncollected. This uncollected balance represents 14.01 per cent, but since April 20, when the figures were compiled, collections have reduced the percentage to 12.20 per cent for all taxes in the entire county, including street assessments.

"I wish to call your attention to the fact that the greater portion of the properties noted in the published list is of little or no value," the tax collector pointed out. "Tiny oil (?) lots, 25x50 feet, many without right of way, unoccupied subdivisions, etc. Some good property, of course, is listed, but for the most part only one year delinquent and many of these will be cleared before another collection period."

"Our people pay their taxes and grin about it, even if it is a bit difficult. We hear very little complaint. The reduction in penalty is appreciated. Some years ago we were obliged to charge 15 per cent on delinquent first installment, with additional five per cent if not paid at the time second installment became due, then five per cent on second, making 20 per cent on the first installment and five per cent on the second installment."

"The tax collectors of the state, by concerted effort, succeeded in having the first reduced to 10 per cent. That is the best that could be done until last legislature, when it was reduced to eight per cent and three per cent. I believe we have the most liberal delinquency laws in the country," he said.

STATE GIVES APPROVAL TO SERA PROJECTS

Three new projects today were in the office of Don Mulherson, construction superintendent of the works division of the Orange county SERA with the stamp of approval of the state SERA on them. Men will be put to work on the projects as soon as the work assignments can be made.

One of the projects was for the Huntington Beach elementary school district repair program. This project will cost $1905, of which the SERA will pay $1180 for labor costs and the sponsor $725 for materials and supervision.

The second project was for extension of sewers in Anaheim at a total cost of $5465, of which the SERA labor cost is $3617 and the sponsor's cost $1848.

The Talbert drainage district had a project approved for installing drain pipes. This one will cost a total of $16,135, of which sum the SERA will pay $5115 and the sponsor $11,021.

These are in addition to the Fullerton stadium project, which now is well under way.

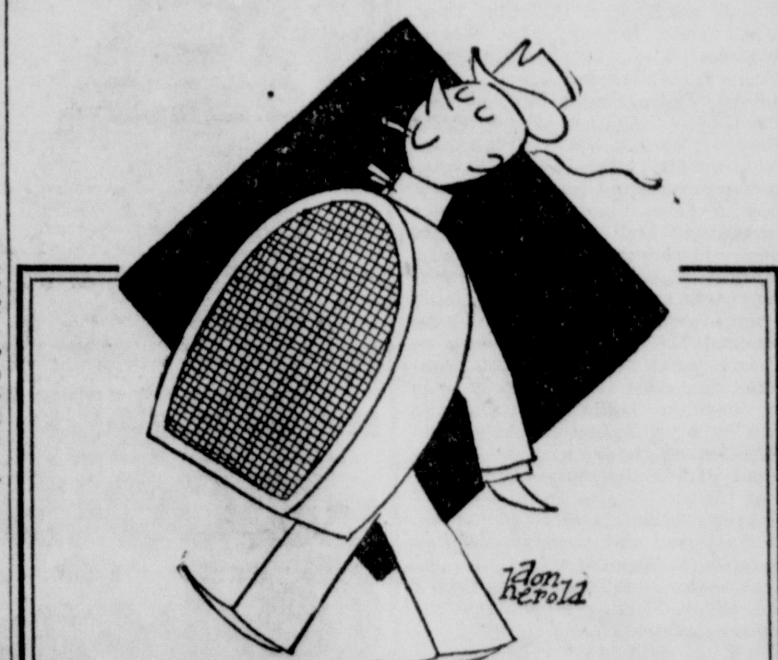

Members of the Orange county SERA committee will meet at 6:15 o'clock tonight in headquarters in the Hill building to complete the selection of a director. Charles Schottland, field representative of the state SERA, is acting as temporary director until the permanent director is named.

TEACHERS AT LONG BEACH GET PAY CUT

LONG BEACH, June 28.—All employees of the Long Beach school district will suffer another slash in pay next term as a result of action taken today by the board of education here.

The reduction in salaries of teachers will be about three per cent under the 1934 rate, which was from 12 to 17 per cent under the base rate for 1932. The salaries and wages for the coming term will represent a cut ranging from 4 to 20 per cent under the 1932 rate.

The percentage of reduction varies with the size of the salaries, those receiving the highest pay being given the largest cuts.

Serbian Assassination Set World Ablaze

TRAGIC EVENT OCCURRED JUST 20 YEARS AGO

BY MILTON BRONNER (Staff Correspondent)

SARAJEVO, June 28.—"On this historic spot Gavrilo Princip proclaimed liberty on St. Vitus' Day, June 28, 1914." Such is the inscription on a plain memorial tablet set in a house on the river quay-side in Sarajevo. On February 2, 1930 this tablet was unveiled, the date coinciding with the fifteenth anniversary of the death of Princip in an Austrian prison. The Yugoslav government officially took no part in the ceremonies. In fact, it forbade any speeches being made. But one of the 80 young Bosnian and Serb students, arrested with Princip 20 years ago, went to the tribune and, addressing the assembled crowd, said: "People, we have met here to pay tribute to him who was greatest among us. At present the most dignified tribute is silence."

After two minutes of quiet, the speaker wound up the ceremonies by saying: "Glory to the hero, Gavrilo Princip."

And the crowd responded by chanting in unison: "Glory! Glory! Glory!"

Who was this hero, this great young man? He was the perpetrator of the most fatal crime in the history of the modern world. For he assassinated the Archduke Franz Ferdinand and his wife in Sarajevo on June 28, 20 years ago today. This murder of the heir to the Austro-Hungarian empire led to the ultimate of the old Serbia and let loose the fatal chain of events which led to the wholesale human butchery of the World War.

WHERE ASSASSIN'S GUN INCITED GREAT WAR

The awesome shadow of a great war slowly was descending over the unsuspecting world of 1914 when, as shown upper left, the Archduke Franz Ferdinand—Austria's throne heir—and his wife, the Duchess Von Hohenberg, left the Senate House in Sarajevo. A few minutes later Gavrilo Princip, a Serbian student, had slain them, and lower left you see the young assassin as Serbian police seized him after the fateful shooting. PUMPING PLANT EFFICIENCY IS BULLETIN TOPIC

Research and studies of the past four years are combined in a bulletin on pumping plant efficiency including data on duty of water, methods of organization of cooperative pumping plants, issued today by the Orange County Farm Bureau water committee following the completion of field demonstrations on the same subject.

Field demonstrations held Tuesday at the Piscus estate ranch on Vermont street south of Anaheim attracted 125 persons, while the demonstrations yesterday at the J. W. Williams plant three miles south of Fullerton attracted 40 persons.

Harold E. Wahlberg, farm advisor, was in charge of the session. R. D. Flaherty, Farm Bureau executive, outlined the research and studies made in connection with the matter. He pointed out that it is imperative to farmers to have a satisfactory water supply, especially if they are to obtain federal loans.

M. N. Thompson, flood control engineer, gave a short discussion on the water levels in the areas demonstrated. George Sullivan, power specialist with the Edison company, discussed the efficiency of pumping plants and how this efficiency could be increased.

J. B. Brown, irrigation specialist with the University of California extension service, explained in detail the savings possible to farmers through increasing the size of pumping units.

The bulletin issued by the Farm Bureau included a number of tables, in which information was compiled on pumping costs, relative efficiency of various types of pumping, showing how farmers could operate a cooperative pumping plant at considerable saving in power bills and thereby increasing efficiency at the same time. Expect Tax Delinquency Not To Exceed 10 Per Cent

$4,003,669 IS COLLECTED BY DEADLINE DATE

STATE GIVES APPROVAL TO SERA PROJECTS

A prediction that Orange county's delinquent taxes will amount to no more than 10 per cent was made today by County Tax Collector John Lamb.

"The figures look good to me," he declared. "I know of no other institution collecting 90 per cent of its bills. I believe that by the time of closing our books, we will be not more than 10 per cent delinquent on county property and perhaps reach 11 per cent for cities whose municipal taxes are paid through this department."

The total tax levy for county purposes, the amount supposed to be collected for the county, was $3,716,001.64. Collections to April 21, 1934, amounted to $3,265,204.82. The percentage of delinquency as shown on the delinquent roll was 12.13 per cent in the county, exclusive of street assessments, but collections from April 20 to June 26 brought the county tax delinquency percentage down to 10.02.

The entire levy, including taxes collected for municipalities on percentage basis, was $4,655,904.27 while the amount actually collected was $4,003,669.41, leaving a balance of $652,234.86 uncollected.

This uncollected balance represents 14.01 per cent, but since April 20, when the figures were compiled, collections have reduced the percentage to 12.20 per cent for all taxes in the entire county, including street assessments.

"I wish to call your attention to the fact that the greater portion of the properties noted in the published list is of little or no value," the tax collector pointed out. "Tiny oil (7) lots, 25x50 feet, many without right of way, unnecessary subdivision, etc. Some good property, of course, is listed, but for the most part only one year delinquent and many of these will be cleared before another collection period."

"Our people pay their taxes and grin about it, even if it is a bit difficult. We hear very little complaint."

"The reduction in penalty is appreciated. Some years ago we were obliged to charge 15 per cent on delinquent first installment, with additional five per cent if not paid at the time second installment became due, then five per cent on second, making 20 per cent on the first installment and five per cent on the second installment."

"The tax collectors of the state, by concerted effort, succeeded in having the first reduced to 10 per cent. That is the best that could be done until last legislature, when it was reduced to eight per cent and three per cent."

"I believe we have the most liberal delinquency laws in the country," he said.

TEACHERS AT LONG BEACH GET PAY CUT

LONG BEACH, June 28.—All employees of the Long Beach school district will suffer another slash in pay next term as a result of action taken today by the board of education here.

The reduction in salaries of teachers will be about three per cent under the 1934 rate, which was from 12 to 17 per cent under the base rate for 1932. The salaries and wages for the coming term will represent a cut ranging from 4 to 20 per cent under the 1932 rate.

The percentage of reduction varies with the size of the salaries, those receiving the highest pay being given the largest cuts.

TRAGIC EVENT OCCURRED JUST 20 YEARS AGO

BY MILTON BRONNER
(Staff Correspondent)

SARAJEVO, June 28.—"On this historic spot Gavril Prinzip proclaimed liberty on St. Vitus' Day, June 28, 1914." Such is the inscription on a plain memorial tablet set in a house on the river quay-side in Sarajevo. On February 2, 1930 this tablet was unveiled, the date coinciding with the fifteenth anniversary of the death of Prinzip in an Austrian prison. The Yugoslav government officially took no part in the ceremonies. In fact, it forbade any speeches being made. But one of the 80 young Bosnian and Serb students, arrested with Prinzip 20 years ago, went to the tribune and, addressing the assembled crowd, said: "People, we have met here to pay tribute to him who was greatest among us. At present the most dignified tribute is silence."

After two minutes of quiet, the speaker wound up the ceremonies by saying: "Glory to the hero, Gavril Prinzip."

And the crowd responded by chanting in unison: "Glory! Glory! Glory!"

Who was this hero, this great young man? He was the perpetrator of the most fatal crime in the history of the modern world. For he assassinated the Archduke Franz Ferdinand and his wife in Sarajevo on June 28 20 years ago today. This murder of the heir to the Austro-Hungarian empire led to the ultimatum by the Austro-Hungarian empire to the old Serbia and let loose the fatal chain of events which led to the wholesale human butchery of the World war.

CHURCH WOMEN SOCIETY THE HOME WEDDINGS CLUBS FASHIONS HOUSEHOLD

Supper Guests Present Artistic Glassware To Miss Mathes

Latest of the many parties which are making so memorable this final week before the marriage of Miss Mathes and W. Floyd Croddy, was that given Tuesday night by Miss Tessie Childers and Mrs. Robert Lowe (Ruth Langley), in the home of Miss Childers' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Childers, 615 North Baker street.

A buffet supper, an exciting session of contract and a gift shower were individual features of this pleasant evening for which the hostesses had elected to use a decorative scheme of green and white. In developing their ideas they used tall white tapers and snowy flowers combined with maidenhair fern to embellish the buffet from which the supper menu was served. Each small table bore white blossoms to center its snowy napers, while larger bouquets were placed about the home. The menu gave additional emphasis to the colors, ending with a pistachio ice for the sweets course.

In contract games introduced as the chief after-supper feature, Miss Carolyn Nash, house-guest of the Gerald Olivers, scored high and received a pretty bowl in china-patterned china. To Miss Elfrida Biggin, with second high score, was awarded a candelero in hand-decorated pottery.

At the same time Miss Mathes discovered that her position as guest of honor entitled her to lovely gifts from her assembled friends, who chose her favorite "America" pattern in glass with which to shower her.

Mrs. Lowe and Miss Childers were assisted by the latter's mother, Mrs. Walter C. Childers, in entertaining their guests, who included in addition to Miss Mathes, the Misses Marjorie Ann Mathes, Reva Hawkins, Wilma Flavan, Louise Young, Veda Ball, Alma Packwood, LaVelle Mitchner, Esther Jean Davis, Gladys Campbell, Mesdames E. M. Sundquist, Ralph Livenshire, Harry LeBar, Clarence McAdams, C. W. Hyde Jr., Lynn Crawford, Gerald Oliver, Warren Fletcher, Myra Flynn, all of Santa Ana; Miss Elfrida Biggin, Redlands; Miss Betty Parslow, Los Angeles, and Miss Carolyn Nash of Dallas, Texas.

Club Section Enjoys Garden Luncheon

Much success is attending plans of Social section members of Santa Ana Woman's club for a series of summer picnics, the June event held Tuesday with Mrs. J. A. King, 223 South Bristol street, being quite as enjoyable as any meeting of the club year.

It was in the pretty garden of the home that tables were arranged for the picnic lunch, each table shaded by its bright-colored umbrella. Later these tables were re-arranged for games, the majority of the guests choosing bridge as a diversion although one group played anagrams and quite a few of the guests whiled away the afternoon with needlework and chat.

Mrs. G. W. Coon took the bridge prize while a similar gift rewarded Mrs. S. E. Littrell, scoring in anagrams.

There were several guests, including Mrs. Elizabeth Rice of Cleveland, Ohio, who recently arrived to visit her daughter, Mrs. J. D. Watkins, 2050 Ocean boulevard, Balboa, a former president of the Woman's club. Mrs. Watkins suggested that Social section members might like to make her Balboa home their rendezvous for the picnic meeting on July 24 when a beach party will be featured.

Bride-Elect's Sister Entertains With Shower

With July named as the month for her marriage to Ray Stapp, Miss Jane Parris was honored at a miscellaneous shower Tuesday night when her sister, Miss Marie Parris, was hostess in their home, 611 West Washington avenue.

On arriving each guest paid a little visit to the mother of the honor guest and the hostess, Mrs. A. J. Parris, who was unable to take part in the evening's merriment.

Bridge was the main diversion of the evening, played with especially gratifying results for Mrs. Walter Dilley, winning a prize for scoring high. Miss Blanche Lewis was consoled. Refreshing punch and candy were served at intervals during card play.

Guests spent some time embrodering their names on one of the towels which the bride-to-be has in her cedar chest. Cantaloupe a la mode was served with coffee as the pleasant party drew to a close.

Miss Jane Parris was showered with many gifts. She displayed these along with her Haviland china and silver to which she is adding pieces from time to time.

Present for the event were Mesdames Walter Dilley, Albert Dublin, Ralph Watson, Thomas Andrew, and the Misses Cecilia Griggs, Blaine Brown, Ruth Weiss, Blanche Lewis, Lucille McIntosh, Santa Ana; Miss Maude Keever, North Hollywood, and the Misses Jane and Marie Parris.

Arrival in New York To Be Followed By Wedding

Miss Myrtle Graham's plans to leave Santa Ana next Wednesday for New York City, where she will become the bride of Luther V. Delaney, inspired a party given recently when Mrs. L. J. Gall entertained in her home, 1338 West Ninth street.

Guests met in the morning to hem towels for the bride-to-be. At noon, luncheon was served out doors at small tables bearing tea towels as appropriate covers. Sewing was resumed in the afternoon.

Taking part in the affair were Mrs. Frank E. Lindgren and the Misses Mabel Wilson, Norma Buck, Evelyn Crist, Evelyn Coffman, Lucille Smith, Dorothy McGulgan, Ethel Duckett, Audrey Duckett and the hostess and her honoree, Mrs. Gall and Miss Graham.

Miss Graham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Graham of Jacksonville, Tenn., has made her home in Santa Ana for the past four years. She is to make the trip as far as Tennessee in company with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Graham and son Henry, of 946 West Pine street.

YOU and your Friends

Mrs. Marie Turley and daughter, Miss Helen Marie Turley, 1904 Holliotrope drive, were registered this week at Hotel Sir Francis Drake, San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Oliver are entertaining in their home on Lido Isle, Miss Carolyn Nash of Dallas, Tex.

Theodore A. Winbiger, 207 East Ninth street, has arrived home from an extended eastern trip during which he attended the Kiwanis International convocation in Chicago and many other places of interest during his absence.

Mrs. Ansel McBroome, who recently underwent an operation for appendicitis at St. Joseph's hospital, has recovered sufficiently to be removed to her home, 301 South Main street.

Miss Tessie Childers and Miss Dorothy Broadway, both members of the Frances Willard teaching faculty, are completing plans to sail Friday on the S. S. President Cleveland for Manila. Miss Broadway will make the round trip on the Cleveland, but Miss Childers will go from Manila to Shanghai and thence to Peiping from which point she will return home on the President Hoover.

James A. Tarpley, 606 West Eighth street, has returned from a two weeks' trip to Portland, Ore., where he looked after property interests and visited relatives.

PATTERN 1817
BY ANNE ADAMS

Here's a frock that decided very early in its career to take a diagonal road to chic. It isn't until it gets down to the skirt that it does anything straight. And at that, it manages to be a frock that even the most exacting woman will like. In fact, the more exacting the more she likes it. That mock-bolero is young and becoming, and not one-third the trouble a real one is to make. And the half belt is smart, and the pleats at the bottom are there for comfort as well as chic. Did we hear someone say, "I wonder how it would look in linen?" Stunning... simply stunning!

Pattern 1817 is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16 takes 2 3/4 yards 26 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Breakfast

1/2 cantaloupe or 2-3 cup berries with 1 scant tsp. sugar, no cream 3 slices crisped bacon 1 large tomato, sliced and fried 1 slice dry bread toast with 1/2 tsp. butter 1 cup coffee with 1/4 cup hot skim milk, no sugar

Calory total—275.

The total was given, with a selection of cantaloupe. If berries with sugar are chosen the total will be 325.

Bacon crisps best in the oven. Pour off all the fat and keep hot. The thick slices of tomato are fried in a little of the hot bacon fat. You may omit butter for the toast and serve the hot fried tomatoes on the toast, with the juice from the pan.

The Milk and Orange Juice Diet Thursday, and the pain almost a memory. And right here, let me tell you that that is a record in an attack of neuritis. But am I hungry? To retain my status as a civilized person I take to the open spaces when the family has a meal.

The routine is still the same: a glass of orange juice on getting up, with coffee and hot skim milk 30 minutes later. Then full glasses of whole milk or orange juice at 2-hour intervals (milk and juice alternated). I'd be quite happy if I had a crust but since solids are taboo I grin like a lady. Constipation seemingly relieved, but I'm not optimistic. Weight is exactly the same as when the diet began, and that seems a bit strange.

Banana Bread
1/2 cup shortening
3/4 cup sugar
2 eggs, well beaten
8 tbsps. sour milk
2 1/2 cups cake flour
1 tsp. (level) soda
3 mixed bananas
1/2 cup finely chopped dates
1 scant tsp. salt.

Put the shortening, sugar and eggs into a bowl, and beat until the mixture is creamy. Add the sour milk and beat.

Sift flour with soda and salt, three times, then mix with the creamed part. Fold in the mashed bananas, then the chopped dates, and bake in a loaf tin 1 hour, oven slow.

A few chopped nut meats add richness to the bread and for dates sliced dried prunes or apricots may be substituted. The bread when a day old is delicious for sandwiches, and served piping hot, it makes a good luncheon, with jam and something to drink.

Job's Daughters Join With De Molay in Installation

With prominent place in the ritualistic work accorded various guardians and councilors from Masonic and Eastern Star chapters, Santa Ana bethel Job's Daughters and chapter of De Molay held joint installation of officers Tuesday night in Masonic temple.

Scores of guests assembled in the main chapter room for the occasion which was given an unusual charm of setting. A decorating committee composed of Mrs. V. Anderson, Mrs. Frank McDonald, the Misses Mary Crowe, Charlotte McCausland, Eloise Schrier, Dorothy Carlson, Evelyn Shepherd and Lorraine Wheeler, Messrs John Schrier and Calvin Breeding, had added the beauty of gladioluses and baskets of mixed flowers to the stately room, and had made the hall room gay with garlands of purple, white, green and yellow, sprays of apple blossoms and baskets of roses.

Rites were administered to officers of the two organizations alternately, by installing officers chosen from each group. Those installed by Job's Daughters were Frankie McDonald, honored queen; Audrey McDonald, senior princess; Eloise Schrier, junior princess; Lorraine Wheeler, guide; Fern Anderson, marshal, Mary Crowe, chaplain; Charlotte McCausland, recorder; Lenore McFarren, treasurer; Betty Hartman and Fern Farmer, senior and junior custodians; Marian Doty, pianist; Charles Miller, Letitia Morgan, Evelyn Shepherd, Dorothy Carlomson and Sylvian Combs, first, second, third, fourth and fifth messengers respectively; Carolyn Hills, inner guard, and Helen Pierce, outer guard.

Their installing officers were Ruth Dohmer, Margaret Sawyer, Dora Perkins, Elizabeth Roehm and Marian Doty, with Mrs. Winnie Dean, guardian, and Mrs. Frank Sawyer, associate guardian.

De Molay officers installed by Jack Wright, Abe Bergsetter, Garth Olsen, Dick Bradley and John Birt, with Carl C. Cowles, advisor, and Harry Pink, assistant advisor, were John Schrier, master counselor; Homer Edwards, senior counselor; Maurice Birt, junior counselor; Donald Lentz, senior deacon; Bill Hawkins, chaplain; Darrell Gaebe, senior steward; Dick Cocking, junior steward; Brook Wright, marshal; Bob Fowler, standard bearer; Warren Mann, almoner; Maurice Lyvan, orator; Dalton Young, Paul Rez, Franklin Munsel, Calvin Breeding, Mae Wernke, Tom Croddy and Hans Bergsetter, preceptors.

One of the most impressive moments in the ceremonial was during the prayer when the Daughters' officers stood in cross formation, while the De Molay officers formed a kneeling triangle about them. The Daughters installed were sweet peas and gardenias, while the retiring and incoming honored queens wore corsages of rosebuds.

Councilors and advisors introduced were Mrs. Winnie Dean, Mrs. Frank Sawyer, Mrs. George Wheeler, Mrs. Estelle McFarren, Mrs. V. Anderson, Messrs William J. Dean, Frank Sawyer, Carl C. Cowles, George F. Wheeler, Harry Crowe, Harry Pink and Dick Bradley. Mrs. Myrl Schwager, deputy grand guardian. Many Los Angeles and Long Beach guardians and councilors also were introduced, together with parents of the young people taking part, and Roy Wheeler, only Orange county member to have received the Legion of Honor.

Additional entertainment features included a whistling solo by Carolyn Hills and a piano solo by Miss Arline Birchard; the refreshment hour and a subsequent ball in the main ballroom of the temple. Miss Nadine Pennington, Miss Lenore McFarren, Mrs. Sawyer and Messrs Paul Rez and W. J. Dean formed the refreshment committee. Harry Crowe and Clyde Files were on the reception committee.

Supper Guests Present Artistic Glassware To Miss Mathes

Latest of the many parties which are making so memorable this final week before the marriage of Miss Maurine Mathes and W. Floyd Croddy, was that given Tuesday night by Miss Tessie Childers and Mrs. Robert Lowe (Ruth Langley), in the home of Miss Childers' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Childers, 618 North Baker street.

A buffet supper, an exciting session of contract and a gift shower were individual features of this pleasant evening for which the hostesses had elected to use a decorative scheme of green and white. In developing their ideas they used tall white tapered and snowy flowers combined with maidenhair fern to embellish the buffet from which the supper menu was served. Each small table bore white blossoms to center its snowy nuptial, while larger bouquets were placed about the home. The menu gave additional emphasis to the colors, ending with a pistachio ice for the sweets course.

In contract games introduced as the chief after-supper feature, Miss Carolyn Nash, house-guest of the Gerald Olivers, scored high and received a pretty bowl in chintz-patterned china. To Miss Elfrida Biggin, with second high score, was awarded a casserole in hand-decorated pottery.

At the same time Miss Mathes discovered that her position as guest of honor entitled her to lovely gifts from her assembled friends, who chose her favorite "America" pattern in glass with which to shower her.

Mrs. Lowe and Miss Childers were assisted by the latter's mother, Mrs. Walter C. Childers, in entertaining their guests, who included in addition to Miss Mathes, the Misses Marjorie Ann Mathes, Reva Hawkins, Wilma Plavan, Louise Young, Veda Ball, Alma Packwood, LaVelle Mitchell, Esther Jean Davis, Gladys Campbell, Meadames E. M. Sundquist, Ralph Livespire, Harry LeBar, Clarence McFadden, C. W. Hyde Jr., Lynn Crawford, Gerald Oliver, Warren Fletcher, Myra Flynn, all of Santa Ana; Miss Elfrida Biggin, Redlands; Miss Betty Parslow, Los Angeles, and Miss Carolyn Nash of Dallas, Texas.

Club Section Enjoys Garden Luncheon

Much success is attending plans of Social section members of Santa Ana Woman's club for a series of summer picnics, the June event held Tuesday with Mrs. J. A. King, 223 South Bristol street, being quite as enjoyable as any meeting of the club year.

It was in the pretty garden of the home that tables were arranged for the picnic lunch, each table shaded by its bright-colored umbrella. Later these tables were re-arranged for games, the majority of the guests choosing bridge as a diversion although one group played anagrams and quite a few of the guests whittled away the afternoon with needlework and chat.

Mrs. G. W. Coon took the bridge prize while a similar gift rewarded Mrs. S. E. Littrell, scoring in anagrams.

There were several guests, including Mrs. Elizabeth Ries of Cleveland, Ohio, who recently arrived to visit her daughter, Mrs. J. D. Watkins, 2650 Ocean boulevard, Balboa, a former president of the Woman's club. Mrs. Watkins suggested that Social section members might like to make her Balboa home their rendezvous for the picnic meeting on July 24 when a beach party will be featured.

Bride-Elect's Sister Entertains With Shower

With July named as the month for her marriage to Ray Stapp, Miss Jane Parris was honored at a miscellaneous shower Tuesday night when her sister, Miss Marie Parris, was hostess in their home, 611 West Washington avenue.

On arriving each guest paid a little visit to the mother of the honor guest and the hostess, Mrs. A. J. Parris, who was unable to take part in the evening's merriment.

Bridge was the main diversion of the evening, played with especially gratifying results for Mrs. Walter Dilley, winning a prize for scoring high. Miss Blanche Lewis was consoled. Refreshing punch and candy were served at intervals during card play.

Guests spent some time emulating their names on one of the towels which the bride-to-be has in her cedar chest. Cantaloupe a la mode was served with coffee as the pleasant party drew to a close. Miss Jane Parris was showered with many gifts. She displayed these along with her Haviland china and silver to which she is adding pieces from time to time.

Present for the event were Meadames Walter Dilley, Albert Dublin, Ralph Watson, Thomas Andrew, and the Misses Cecilia Griggs, Elaine Brown, Ruth Weiss, Blanche Lewis, Lucille McIntosh, Santa Ana; Miss Maude Kever, North Hollywood, and the Misses Jane and Marie Parris.

Arrival in New York To Be Followed By Wedding

Miss Myrtle Graham's plans to leave Santa Ana next Wednesday for New York City, where she will become the bride of Luther V. DeLano, inspired a party given recently when Mrs. L. J. Gall entertained in her home, 1338 West Ninth street.

Guests met in the morning to hem towels for the bride-to-be. At noon, luncheon was served out doors at small tables bearing tea towels as appropriate covers. Sewing was resumed in the afternoon.

Taking part in the affair were Misses Frank E. Lindgren and the Misses Mabel Wilson, Norma Buck, Evelyn Crist, Evelyn Coffman, Lucille Smith, Dorothy McGulgan, Ethel Duckett, Audrey Duckett and the hostess and her honoree, Mrs. Gall and Miss Graham.

Miss Graham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Graham of Jacksonville, Tenn., has made her home in Santa Ana for the past four years. She is to make the trip as far as Tennessee in company with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Graham and son Henry, of 946 West Pine street.

YOU and your Friends

Mrs. Marie Turley and daughter, Miss Helen Marie Turley, 1904 Heliotrope drive, were registered this week at Hotel Sir Francis Drake, San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Oliver are entertaining in their home on Lido Isle, Miss Carolyn Nash of Dallas, Tex.

Theodore A. Winbiger, 207 East Ninth street, has arrived home from an extended eastern trip during which he attended the Kiwanis International convocation in Ontario, Can., representing the local organization of which he is president. He visited the exposition in Chicago and many other places of interest during his absence.

Mrs. Ansel McBroom, who recently underwent an operation for appendicitis at St. Joseph's hospital, has recovered sufficiently to be removed to her home, 301 South Main street.

Miss Tessie Childers and Miss Dorothy Broadway, both members of the Frances Willard teaching faculty, are completing plans to sail Friday on the S. S. President Cleveland for Manila. Miss Broadway will make the round trip on the Cleveland, but Miss Childers will go from Manila to Shanghai and thence to Peiping from which point she will return home on the President Hoover.

James A. Tarpley, 606 West Eighth street, has returned from a two weeks' trip to Portland, Ore., where he looked after property interests and visited relatives.

Job's Daughters Join With De Molay in Installation

With prominent place in the ritualistic work accorded various guardians and councillors on Masonic and Eastern Star chapters, Santa Ana De Molay's Daughters and chapter of De Molay held joint installation of officers Tuesday night in Masonic temple.

Scores of guests assembled in the main chapter room for the ceremonial which was given an unusual charm of setting. A decorating committee composed of Mrs. V. Anderson, Mrs. Frank McDonald, the Misses Mary Crowe, Charlotte McCausland, Eloise Schrier, Dorothy Carlson, Evelyn Shepherd and Lorraine Wheeler, Messrs John Schrier and Calvin Breeding, had added the beauty of gladiolus and baskets of mixed flowers to the stately room, and had made the ballroom gay with garlands of purple, white, green and yellow, sprays of apple blossoms and baskets of roses.

Rites were administered to officers of the two organizations alternately, by installing officers chosen from each group. Those installed by Job's Daughters were Frankie McDonald, honored queen; Audrey McDonald, senior princess; Eloise Schrier, junior princess; Lorraine Wheeler, guild; Fern Anderson, marshal; Mary Crowe, chaplain; Charlotte McCausland, recorder; Lenore McFarren, treasurer; Betty Hartman and Fern Farmer, senior and junior custodians; Marian Doty, pianist; Clarice Miller, Letitia Morgan, Evelyn Shepherd, Dorothy Carlson and Sylvian Combs, first, second, third, fourth and fifth messengers respectively; Carolyn Hills, inner guard, and Helen Pierce, outer guard.

Their installing officers were Ruth Dohmer, Margaret Sawyer, Dora Perkins, Elizabeth Roehm and Marian Doty, with Mrs. Winifred Dean, guardian, and Mrs. Frank Sawyer, associate guardian.

De Molay officers installed by Jack Wright, Abe Bergsetter, Garth Olson, Dick Bradley and John Birt, with Carl C. Cowles, advisor, and Harry Pitt, assistant advisor, were John Schrier, master councillor; Homer Edwards, senior councillor; Maurice Birt, junior councillor; Donald Lentz, senior deacon; Bill Hawkins, chaplain; Darrell Gaebe, senior steward; Dick Cocking, junior steward; Brook Wright, marshal; Bob Fowler, standard bearer; Warren Mann, almoner; Maurice Lyan, orator; Dalton Young, Paul Rea, Franklin Munsell, Calvin Breeding, Mrs. Wernke, Tom Croddy and Hans Bergsetter, preceptors.

One of the most impressive moments in the ceremonial was during the prayer when the Daughters' officers stood in cross formation, while the De Molay officers formed a kneeling triangle about them. The Daughters installed were sweet peas and gardenias, while the retiring and incoming honored queens wore coronets of rosebuds.

Councillors and advisors introduced were Mrs. Winnie Dean, Mrs. Frank Sawyer, Mrs. George Wheeler, Mrs. Estelle McFarren, Mrs. V. Anderson, Messrs William J. Dean, Frank Sawyer, Carl C. Cowles, George F. Wheeler, Harry Crowe, Harry Fink and Dick Bradley. Mrs. Myrl Schwager, deputy grand guardian, Many Los Angeles and Long Beach guardians and councillors also were introduced, together with parents of the young people taking part, and Roy Wheeler, only Orange county member to have received the Legion or Honor.

Additional entertainment features included a whistling solo by Carolyn Hills and a piano solo by Miss Arline Birchard; the refreshment hour and a subsequent ball in the main ballroom of the temple. Miss Nadine Pennington, Miss Lenore McFarren, Mrs. Sawyer and Messrs Paul Rea and W. J. Dean formed the refreshment committee. Harry Crowe and Clyde Files were on the reception committee.

REL. SERVICES HELD AT L. B. FRIDAY

ORANGE, June 28. — Funeral services will be held at the Holton and Sons mortuary at Sixth and Locust avenues, Long Beach, tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock for the Rev. C. C. Bentley, former Orange pastor, who passed away from a heart attack at his home in Long Beach this week.

A special memorial service in his honor is being planned for July 15, the date previously set for an appreciation service for him, by members of the Orange Christian church, of which Rev. Bentley served as pastor from 1908 to 1913.

While in Orange, the Rev. and Mrs. Bentley accomplished many worthwhile projects, including the founding of the Japanese mission, of which Mrs. Bentley was superintendent and the Rev. Mr. Bentley a teacher. The Loyal Women's class of the church was organized during his pastorate and the present church auditorium constructed.

The Rev. Mr. Bentley participated in the golden anniversary celebration at the local church last November and preached the morning sermon on Anniversary Sunday.

After leaving Orange he served as pastor of the Eastside Christian church in Long Beach and directed erection of its present church building. After retiring from the ministry a few years ago he engaged in the printing business. He leaves his widow and an adopted son, Paul.

League Members Give 3-Act Play

ORANGE, June 28.—A large crowd was present to witness the presentation of the three act play, "Climbing Roses," which was given Wednesday evening in Walker Memorial hall by members of St. John's Junior Waltham league under the direction of Nelson Struck.

Members of the cast included Miss Esther Intort, Miss Sirena Muffman, Miss Velma Kuechel, Walter Randall, Miss Dorothy Amling, Miss Clara Meyer, Roland Drinkinger, John Veeh, Miss Lorene Becker, Arthur Egges and William Fitchsen.

NEW OFFICERS INSTALLED AT DINNER AFFAIR OF 20-30 CLUB

ORANGE, June 28.—New officers of the Orange 20-30 club to serve for the ensuing six month period were installed at the ladies' night installation party of the organization, held in the Orange Woman's club house Tuesday evening.

Walter F. Meier, local nurseryman, was installed as president, other officers including G. W. Coltrane, vice president; W. J. Winslow, Melvin Clement, Oscar Stuthett, and Raymond Terry, directors. Stan Wilson, retiring president, acted as installing officer and told of the ideals and progress of the Twenty-Thirty clubs as an inspirational and progressive force in their respective communities and in the lives of the individual members.

Under the direction of Clifford A. Swedberg, an entertainment program was enjoyed, including Bud Thurett, of Costa Mesa, in a group of guitar numbers and his sister, Miss Mary Thurett, in vocal and yodeling selections. John Hart Stout, talented young Orange violinist, gave a group of violin numbers, accompanied at the piano by Miss Hudson.

An attractively appointed dinner opened the evening's festivities, and following the installation ceremonies, bridge and "500" were played. Mrs. A. J. Niles won first prize with highest score for ladies, and Stan Wilson held the high score for men. Consolation prizes went to Mrs. Melvin R. Clement and Vincent Paine.

At conclusion of the card play, the Twenty-Thirties and their wives and friends went in a body to the American Legion clubhouse, where they were guests of the Lions club at a dance concluding the Lions annual installation party.

HEAD OF CIRCLE SHOWER HONOREE

ORANGE, June 28. — Complimenting Mrs. Joseph Peterson, president of Scepter Social Aid, Mrs. L. W. Thompson entertained Tuesday in the spacious gardens of her North Cambridge street home with a miscellaneous umbrella. Brilliantly colored umbrellas added charm to the garden.

During the afternoon, spent visiting, gifts were presented to Mrs. Peterson by her young daughter, Audrey June, and little Sharon Margaret Doregan.

At a late hour, tea was served to the guests from an elaborately decorated table, centered with a pink bootie, filled with dainty blue blossoms. Each guest was given a small pink shoe filled with sweets as a favor. Mrs. J. P. Rowley and Mrs. R. E. Davies presided at the tea and coffee urns. Assisting Mrs. Thompson as hostess were Mrs. S. B. Edwards, Mrs. Dan Gruwell, Mrs. E. S. Ross, and Mrs. E. H. Smith.

Present were Mrs. Joseph Peterson, Mrs. Logan Jackson, Mrs. J. W. Isbell, Mrs. Ernest Ross, Miss Edna Case, Mrs. Harvey Garber, Miss Ruth Towne, Mrs. Frank E. V. E. Brown, Mrs. Robert Bunch, Mrs. Lillian Bishop, Mrs. Dan Gruwell, Mrs. Sherman Gilgilly, Mrs. J. E. Rowley, Mrs. E. E. Kirkwood, Mrs.

DONNA of the BIG TOP by BEULAH POYNTER

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Donna Gabriel, circus performer, falls from the trapeze and is injured. To please her partner, Madeline Siddal, Donna goes to Madeline's home to recuperate, pretending to be the other girl. She is ashamed of the deception but keeps it up, even when Bill Siddal, Madeline's cousin, asks her to marry him. Bill and Donna are married. Amos Siddal, Madeline's grandfather, has a stroke. Meanwhile Madeline who has married Con David, the animal trainer, is killed. Con knows of Donna's deception and decides to blackmail her. He comes to the nearby town and Donna agrees to meet him. Bill learns of this and sends Bill an anonymous letter. When Donna reaches home after meeting Con she says she has been at a neighbor's. Bill knows she has not.

Next morning she goes to see Con who shows him the certificate of his marriage to Madeline. Bill thinks his wife has committed bigamy. During his absence Grandfather Siddal dies. Bill tells Donna he "knows the truth" and that he will leave immediately after the wedding. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XLV

Donna studied the contents of the clothes closet. What an accumulation of clothing she had—bungalow aprons, gingham dresses, her wedding finery. There was no need to take all that to New York. Her lips twisted as she smoothed the soft, silken folds of the garments she and Minnie had spent so much time making.

Her trunk, containing her circus wardrobe, was in the attic. It could move it alone, yet to ask Minnie to help would mean starting a train of questions Donna was in no mood to answer.

She would take the car, she decided, and find someone to drive it back from Lebanon. If she faced Bill again she would be sure to break down and plead for forgiveness and she wanted to keep what little self-respect she had. There was a train for Chicago at 6 o'clock. If she hurried she could catch it!

Once out of this house she would be able to put Bill out of her heart and life forever. He would divorce her, of course. Desertion was grounds for divorce.

If she remained at the farm until the will was read Bill would have more cause for bitterness against her. Perhaps, when the first hurt was over, he would contest the will and Con David's scheming would be ruined.

All of the other members of the household were down stairs—Minnie sobbing as though she had lost her nearest and dearest; Bill, hard and bitter and cold, feeling the loss of his granduncle scarcely at all in the face of his disfigurement. No one heard the sound as Donna dragged the big trunk down the stairs from the attic or heard her moan of pain as the edge of it crushed down on her instep.

had been foolish to think that she could. Her arms were not like steel now. She did not have the strength she once had, when the weight of her own body and Madeline's seemed nothing.

She decided to take only necessities in her traveling bag and leave a note asking to have the trunk shipped later. It could be delivered to one of the hotels in Lebanon and she could send instructions later where to have it forwarded. It might be some time before she would need it. She would have to do a lot of limbering up to make good in an act again. And bookings might not be easy to secure alone.

Alone—Oh, God, how could she go on alone? When she stepped out of this house she would be leaving more than a husband behind. She would be leaving her soul, her heart—all that had made life livable.

She tried to harden herself against Bill. It had been unjust for him to take Con's explanation as final, giving her no chance to justify herself. All the months of her devotion had counted for nothing against the word of a stranger. Perhaps in time she could learn to hate him. Now only the agony of separation mattered.

Poor old Grandfather! Would he know that she was not with the mourners when they lowered him into his final resting place? Would he know she had crept out of the house like the thief she was? She had made the old man's last days happy and nothing could destroy the fact. But for her he would have known that the grandchild he still looked upon as a little girl had fallen him.

"Some day," Bill Siddal sobbed aloud, "someday, Bill Siddal, you'll understand and be sorry you're treated me this way. Some day you'll come to me for forgiveness and I won't give it. I can be hard and bitter, too! I'm going to forget you. I'm going to be the greatest aerial performer in the world! When my name is plastered on billboards in three sheets and twenty-four sheets and I'm acclaimed in Europe, as well as here, you'll wish you hadn't driven me away!"

Then, because fame meant so little to her, because a career was the last thing she wanted, she dropped on the floor beside the bed and hugging Bill's pillow in her arms, moaned her love for him. Never again would her hands reach out in the night to touch his. Never again would she smooth his dark hair or kiss his cheek or hear him whisper, "What's the matter, honey? Can't you sleep?"

"Oh, Bill! Bill! If I'd never seen you—if I just didn't love you so much!—I wouldn't love me as I love you? Why wasn't I honest with you? I'd have told you before we were married if I'd told you the truth, but it wouldn't have been so hard then. It's my heart I'm leaving behind, and I can't stand it. I can't stand it!"

Suddenly, through her sobs, she heard Bill's voice in the hallway below. With a shudder she recognized the name he spoke. It was that of the undertaker. Donna sat tense, breathless, praying that when the others departed, Bill would seek her. But the door closed with a slam and no steps mounted the stairs.

She dragged herself to her feet, bathed her swollen eyes and face and combed her disordered hair. She put on her hat and the heavy coat and mittens. Then, carrying the traveling bag, she descended the back stairs.

At the pantry door she hesitated, wondering what she would say to Minnie if the girl inquired where she was going. But Minnie was not in sight and she passed through the kitchen unnoticed.

The bobbed stood in front of the house where Bill had left it. Donna decided it was safer to take the car and also quicker. If there was an accident and she was killed her problem would be solved.

The sun had melted the drifts considerably and she manipulated the car more easily than she had anticipated. Not until she had passed the Adam house did she remember that she had not written the note she intended to leave.

Well, she wouldn't go back. After all why trouble a man who despised her? She would wait for the morning train and send a boy from the hotel for her trunk. Then she could take it with her wherever she went.

Wagons and machines had passed over the road since she had last traveled it and a dark ribbon was cut through the snow. She made fairly good time. She discovered, when she reached the public square, that she had plenty of time to catch the 6 o'clock train. She drove the car into the garage adjoining to Central Hotel and asked Ben Goddard, the owner, to see that it was returned to Siddal farm.

"Going away?" Goddard asked. "Yes, to Chicago, My—Mr. Siddal couldn't drive me in. So I want you to take it back."

"How's Grandpa? Feeling any better?"

She did not stop to think. He's dead," she said dully.

"Dead? Ain't that something sudden? I hadn't heard anything about it."

Too late she realized that she should have withheld the news. "He died today," she explained. "My land! That's too bad. It must be something awful! Important that's taking you to Chicago when your Grandpa has just died."

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks pink, don't swallow a lot of salt, alkaline water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of life.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a more movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas blows up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel like a new man. They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. A recent substitute. 35-cent drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

REVEREND BENTLEY SERVICES HELD AT L. B. FRIDAY

ORANGE, June 28.—Funeral services will be held at the Holton and Sons mortuary at Sixth and Locust avenues, Long Beach, tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock for the Rev. C. C. Bentley, former Orange pastor, who passed away from a heart attack at his home in Long Beach this week.

A special memorial service in his honor is being planned for July 15, the date previously set for an appreciation service for him, by members of the Orange Christian church, of which Rev. Bentley served as pastor from 1903 to 1913.

While in Orange, the Rev. and Mrs. Bentley accomplished many worthwhile projects, including the founding of the Japanese mission, of which Mrs. Bentley was superintendent and the Rev. Mr. Bentley a teacher. The Loyol Women's class of the church was organized during his pastorate and the present church auditorium constructed.

The Rev. Mr. Bentley participated in the golden anniversary celebration at the local church last November and preached the morning sermon on Anniversary Sunday.

After leaving Orange he served as pastor of the Eastside Christian church in Long Beach and directed erection of its present church building. After retiring from the ministry a few years ago he engaged in the printing business. He leaves his widow and an adopted son, Paul.

ORANGE, June 28.—A large crowd was present to witness the presentation of the three act play, "Climbing Roses," which was given Wednesday evening in Walker Memorial hall by members of St. John's Junior League under the direction of Nelson Struck. Members of the cast included Miss Esther Intorf, Miss Sirena McFadden, Miss Velma Kuechel, Walter Bandick, Miss Dorothy Amling, Miss Clara Meyer, Roland Drinkinger, John Veeh, Miss Lorene Becker, Arthur Egges and William Fitchner.

DONNA of the BIG TOP

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Donna Gabriel, circus performer, falls from the trapeze and is injured. To please her partner, Madeline Sidal, Donna goes to Madeline's home to recuperate, pretending to be the girl's girl. Madeline is ashamed of the deception but keeps it up, even when Bill Sidal, Madeline's cousin, asks her to marry him. Bill and Donna are married.

Mrs. Planter, housekeeper, discharged by Donna, is an enemy. Sidal, Madeline's grandfather, has a stroke.

Meanwhile Madeline who has married Con David, the circus trainer, is killed. Con knows of Donna's deception and decides to blackmail her. He comes to the nearby town and Donna agrees to meet him. Planter learns of this and sends Bill an anonymous letter. When Donna reaches home after meeting him, she says she has been at a neighbor's. Bill knows she has not.

Next morning he goes to see Con who shows him the certificate of his marriage to Madeline. Bill thinks his wife has committed suicide. During his absence Grandfather Sidal dies. Bill tells Donna he "knows the truth" and that he will leave immediately.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XLV

Donna studied the contents of the clothes closet. What an accumulation of clothing she had—buntings, aprons, gingham dresses, her wedding finery. There was no need to take all that to New York. Her lips twisted as she smoothed the soft, silk folds of the garments she and Minnie had spent so much time making.

Her trunk, containing her circus wardrobe, was in the attic. It was so heavy she doubted if she could move it alone, yet to ask Minnie to help would mean starting a train of questions Donna was in no mood to answer.

She would take the car, she decided, and find someone to drive it back from Lebanon. If she faced Bill again she would be sure to break down and plead for forgiveness and she wanted to keep what little self-respect she had. There was a train for Chicago at 6 o'clock. If she hurried she could catch it!

Once out of this house she would be able to put Bill out of her heart and life forever. He would divorce her, of course. Desertion was grounds for divorce.

If he remained at the farm until the will was read Bill would have more cause for bitterness against her. Perhaps, when the first hurt was over, he would contest the will and Con David's scheming would be ruined.

All of the other members of the household were down stairs—Minnie sobbing as though she had lost her nearest and dearest; Bill, hard and bitter and cold, feeling the loss of his granduncle scarcely at all in the face of his disillusion.

One heard the sound as Donna dragged the big trunk down the stairs from the attic or heard her moan of pain as the edge of it crushed down on her instep.

The pain sickened her so that she was afraid she was going to faint. Obviously she could not move the trunk further, certainly not down another flight of stairs. She

NEW OFFICERS INSTALLED AT DINNER AFFAIR OF 20-30 CLUB

ORANGE, June 28.—New officers of the Orange 20-30 club to serve for the ensuing six month period were installed at the ladies' night installation party of the organization, held in the Orange Woman's club house Tuesday evening.

Walter F. Meier, local nurseryman, was installed as president, other officers including G. W. Coltrane, vice president; W. J. Winslow, Melvin Clement, Oscar Stutholt, and Raymond Terry, directors. Stan Wilson, retiring president, acted as installing officer and the installation ceremony was a success.

Under the direction of Clifford A. Swedberg, an entertainment program was enjoyed, including

HEAD OF CIRCLE SHOWER HONOREE

ORANGE, June 28.—Complimenting Mrs. Joseph Peterson, president of Scepter Social Aid, Mrs. L. W. Thompson entertained Tuesday in the spacious gardens of her North Cambridge street home with a miscellaneous shower.

Brilliantly colored umbrellas added charm to the garden. During the afternoon, spent visiting, gifts were presented to Mrs. Peterson by her young daughter, Audrey June, and little Sharon Margaret Donegan.

At a late hour, tea was served to the guests from an elaborately decorated table, centered with a pink bootie, filled with dainty blue blossoms. Each guest was given a small pink shoe filled with sweets as a favor. Mrs. J. F. Rowley and Mrs. R. E. Davies presided at the tea and coffee hours. Assisting Mrs. Thompson as hostess were Mrs. S. B. Edwards, Mrs. Dan Gruewell, Mrs. E. S. Ross, and Mrs. E. H. Smith.

Present were Mrs. Joseph Peterson, Mrs. Logan Jackson, Mrs. J. W. Isbell, Mrs. Ernest Ross, Miss Edna Case, Mrs. Harvey Garber, Mrs. Ruth Towne, Mrs. Frank Ey, Mrs. J. E. Browne, Mrs. Robert Bunch, Mrs. Lillian Bishop, Mrs. Dan Gruewell, Mrs. Sherman Gligo, Mrs. J. E. Rowley, Mrs. E. E. Kirkwood, Mrs.

"It is. Will you send the car back right away, Mr. Goddard?"

"Sure, sure. 'Nother death?"

"No."

"'Spose you're going to catch the 8 o'clock."

Feeling trapped, she said she was if she could get accommodations. To make good her word she walk-

C. H. Robinson, new president of the Orange Rotary club.

Bud Therout, of Costa Mesa, in a group of guitar numbers and his sister, Miss Mary Therout, in vocal and yodeling selections. John Hart Stout, talented young Orange violinist, gave a group of violin numbers, accompanied at the piano by Miss Hudson.

An attractively appointed dinner opened the evening's festivities, and following the installation ceremonies, bridge and "500" were played. Mrs. A. J. Niles won first prize with highest score for ladies, and Stan Wilson held the high score for men. Consolation prizes went to Mrs. Melvin R. Clement and Vincent Palmo.

ORANGE PERSONALS

ORANGE, June 28.—Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wolfe and two sons of New Haven, Conn., are visiting in the home of the former's mother, Mrs. Neleta Wolfe, of North Grand street.

Miss Hanna Neeser, teacher of languages in the Orange union high school left Tuesday evening for Peoria, Ill., where she will remain until the last of August.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Perry of Hemet were business visitors in Orange Tuesday.

Sunday guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Culter, of East Chapman avenue, included several leaders of the Bible institute in Los Angeles, Hugh Evans, president of the board of trustees; Dr. W. McCrea, dean of the institute and acting president; William Hale, dean of men; Miss Ruth Evans, assistant dean of women; Miss McCrea and Miss Mabel Culter, dean of women and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Culter.

Mrs. Grace Cleveland, who has been quite ill for some time is reported as improved. Miss Dorothy Jardine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Jardine, 251 North Shaffer street, has returned to her home after spending an enjoyable month's vacation at Escondido.

Mr. and Mrs. John McCrae of Pasadena, Miss Arva Knowlton, Miss Grace Blackstone and Charles Knowlton of Fullerton were guests this week in the home of Miss Edith Culter of East Chapman avenue.

ed toward the railroad station, carrying her luggage. Obviously, unless she wanted a worse scandal than the one sure to break, she could not stay overnight at the Central Hotel.

How foolish she had been to have to do about Grandpa! Cousin Dr. Freeman and the undertaker would tell the news, but they were both at the farm.

There was a hotel at the depot but it catered to the sort of transients a respectable woman would avoid. There was nothing for her to do but catch the train or stay over night at the Commercial House.

Within sight of the little red brick building, the enormity of what had happened rushed upon her with greater force. Was she really going away, never to return? Going away from all that life held dear? Had it been only a few months since the day they carried her from the train, carried her into a paradise that could not last? Bill's strong brown arms had held her on the stretcher. Grandfather, smiling, his sightless eyes searching as though they could see, had stood on that platform to welcome her. Now Grandfather was dead and Bill worse than dead!

She fought the impulse to run in the opposite direction, to seize the car and drive back to the farm. Then a shrill whistle split the air and the sound made Donna's decision. She began to run, stumbling blindly, hitting the heavy traveling bag against her legs. As the train drew to a standstill she reached the platform. There was no one to buy a ticket. A porter stepped down, lifted her luggage and helped her on the train.

"Fullman?" he asked. "Yes, to Chicago."

"I think this crooked house is grand, though it's like topsy-turvy land," said Goldy to the crooked man. "Who built a place like this?"

"It's just as different as can be, and that's why it appeals to me. I guess the builder must have let the whole job go amiss."

The crooked man laughed right out loud. "Why, of this place I'm very proud," said he. "I built it all myself, and I am satisfied."

"You never will find another like my place, no matter where you hike. No one has ever had the luck that I have, though they've tried."

Then Scouty said, "Well, we must go. Of course we all want you to know that we'd stay longer, but it's time to find some food, you see!"

"Ah, ha! You're hungry," said the man. "Well, if you'll wait, I think I can find plenty for each one of you. If you will wait with me."

"Oh, will we?" Duncy cried. "You bet." The man then started out to get the food that he had promised. Soon he brought some crullers in.

"Say," Goldy cried, "I know why you have crullers. 'Cause they're crooked, too." "You're right," replied their friend, "but they're good eating. Let's begin."

When they had finished with their meal, wee Cappy sighed and said, "I feel that I'd best get some exercise. What way we all depart?"

And so the whole bunch rushed

FRIENDS STAGE SURPRISE PARTY AT CLUBHOUSE

MIDWAY CITY, June 28.—A surprise party for Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Borgeson, who were married here June 16, was held at the Midway City clubhouse Tuesday, with the Misses Emma Hart and Beatrice Borgeson as co-hostesses. Mr. Borgeson was unable to be present.

A mock wedding was cleverly carried out, with old style evening gowns worn by the women, who carried bouquets of selected vegetables. The adults present dressed as children and the men wore buttonhole bouquets of a carrot and leaf, while an arch of asparagus and carrot leaves was carried down the aisle to the altar and cabbage and spinach leaves were scattered by the flower girls. A specially arranged service was carried out, with Miss Lois Hart at the piano. Mrs. Bert Hest acted as bride, Norman Tossaint, the groom. Daisies, flowers, Miss Borgeson, matron of honor; Mary Arnett, ring bearer, Dale Heil; best man, David Robertson; Minister, Mrs. W. H. Taylor; arch bearers, Forest Hart and Bobbie Enoch; bridesmaids, Emma Hart and Frances Heil.

Games, dancing and cards entertained during the evening and pie and coffee was served buffet style.

Present were Mrs. Wallace Borgeson, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Beaver, Mrs. Gerald Gill, Anton Weldman, Bobbie Enoch, Frances Heil, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Hart, the Misses Emma Hart, Dale Heil, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hazard, Mary Arnett, Bill Brumpton, Mrs. Hazel Jennings, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald McMillen, Ernest Whitson, Dr. and Mrs. Russell L. Johnson, E. E. Leith, Miss Amy Leith, Mrs. Fred Foley, Mrs. Saylor, Mrs. Georgia Robertson, Angus Robertson, David Robertson, Miss Robina Brentlinger, Irene Borgeson, Mrs. Borgeson, Mrs. W. H. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Nelson and Raven Borgeson.

HARBOR GROUP TO HOLD TWO DANCES

NEWPORT BEACH, June 28.—It was announced at headquarters of the Co-operative Workers' association of Newport Beach and Costa Mesa today that a benefit dance will be held under the sponsorship of the organization Saturday night at the Newport Beach dance hall on Central avenue at Twenty-first street. Another dance will be held next Tuesday evening. The high school orchestra will furnish the music at both gatherings.

On the Fourth of July, the Woman's auxiliary of the organization will hold a cooked food sale at the commissary in conjunction with a quilt and rug sale.

The organization has a committee at work acquiring equipment for a bakery and locating a place to install it. Those in charge of handling the fish are bartering for a fishing boat at this time.

Jim Willey is in charge of arrangements for the dances. A. Spencer Allen is president to the men's organization and Mrs. Allen is president of the women's auxiliary. Mrs. Sadie Bland is publicity representative.

Educated Horse Entered In Beach Parade Next Week

WINTERSBURG, June 28.—"Tony," an educated horse, is being entered in the Fourth of July parade at Huntington Beach by Clinton Brush, trainer of the animal, for the first time in public. The horse, a pinto, was bought from an Arizona ranch when six months old and has been in constant training since. The animal is able to ride a teeter totter, and can multiply and do other stunts.

Brush is chairman of the riding section for the parade and among those who will ride from here are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lipscomb, Conrad Worthly, Miss Edith Brush and Fred Brush.

LAGUNA BEACH GROUP READY TO GIVE PLAY

LAGUNA BEACH, June 28.—Director George Dunham and his staff of workers today were putting the finishing touches to the production of "Camille," Alexandre Dumas' famous play, to be staged tomorrow and Saturday nights at the Laguna Beach Community playhouse on Ocean avenue.

Reservations placed by Hollywood groups as well as by parties residing in Pasadena, Beverly Hills, Los Angeles, Riverside, Long Beach and Santa Ana, for the premiere tomorrow night, indicate a record attendance. Ticket sales indicate that Southland society will be represented at the event.

Several well known screen stars are expected to attend the opening performance. Following are the staff members who have contributed their services to the undertaking: Samuel C. Pierce, assistant director; Ed Hobart, stage manager; V. Tanner, electrician; Len Hardie, carpenter; Donna Foster, properties; and Helen Monahan, costumes. The sets for the play have been designed by T. W. Pemberton, Jr., and costumes have been supplied through a courtesy arrangement.

The title role is handled by Miss Dorothy Pierce, whose performances have attracted favorable comment in Southern California art circles. She is co-starring with Laurence Moore, a young talented player, formerly connected with the Pasadena Community players.

Tustin Girls To Meet Next Week

TUSTIN, June 28.—The Girl Scouts will hold a meeting at 7 o'clock Monday evening in the American Legion hall, according to announcement made today by Miss Laura Adams, publicity chairman. Miss Bonnie Kiser is temporary leader of the Girl Scouts for the summer.

LEAVE ON VACATION

BREA, June 28.—Miss Dorothy Boyce, teacher in the Laurel school; Miss Orpha Ford of Fullerton and the Misses Joyce, Margaret and Ardis Squire of Katella left today on a motor trip of three weeks, their objective being Yosemite. They will stop at Wasco enroute for a brief visit with a sister of Miss Ford. They will also visit Sequoia National park, Mammoth Cave and Lake Tahoe.

EXPECT 25,000 TO ATTEND H. B. COUNTY BOARD EVENT JULY 4

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 28.—With the start of the big parade here the morning of July 4, the city will begin the celebration of its 25th anniversary carrying out the most extensive Fourth of July program planned on the Southern California coast this year.

Other notable features of the program include horse races and a horse show, fancy riding and roping exhibitions, afternoon beach program, races for boys, girls, women and men with prizes and ribbon awards, old timers' picnic, beauty contest for girls between the ages of 18 and 35, a street dance and fireworks at night.

The city is filling up with concession shows of every description and the streets are being gaily decorated. The city camp ground on the beach will take care of auto campers who desire to spend the day or several days during the holiday period at the beach. In all, Chairman W. H. Gaillenne and his aides have prepared a full day for visitors on July 4 with a varied program going on every minute from 9 a. m. until midnight.

The street parade starting at 11 a. m. will be more than a mile long with Councilman John H. Martin as marshal of the day. Clint Brush is in charge of the horse division and D. W. Huston is in charge of the bathing girls parade for which some 50 girls are entered.

The American Legion will be represented by 21 Legion posts and color squads. A half dozen bands and drum corps will lead divisions of the parade. There is to be a baby show with awards for the babies.

The Fiesta de La Plata committee has arranged to take care of 25,000 visitors in the city and to provide entertainment and enjoyment for old and young.

BROTHERS' NIGHT OBSERVED BY LODGE

WESTMINSTER, June 28.—"Brothers' Night" for the Aloha Rebekah lodge was observed Tuesday evening at Odd Fellows' hall. A pot luck supper at 6:30 o'clock was attended by approximately 75 persons.

Mrs. Mildred Allen, past district deputy president, her marshal, Mrs. Eva Scott, and several others from Anaheim lodge and other from Sycamore lodge of Santa Ana, were special guests at the lodge meeting. Mrs. Freeman of the Hellman ranch who has been a Rebekah for 45 years, was a visitor.

Installation was announced July 10. At the July 24 meeting the state president, Mrs. Jessica Forner, will be guest of honor. Aloha lodge was presented with a new ballot box, the work of a member of the Anaheim lodge, by Mrs. Allen, Westminister lodge having won by a large margin the mileage contest.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hall was made general chairman of the committee composed of Mrs. Maude Michl and Mrs. Mae Mansperger for installation services. Cards followed the lodge meeting, both "500" and pinocle being played and homemade cakes were given for high scores.

Card Party Held At L. B. Clubhouse

LAGUNA BEACH, June 28.—One of the most successful events in the history of the Laguna Beach Community club was the benefit card party held Monday night at the play house registering a record attendance.

According to Charles Gilmore, a checkup on admissions showed not less than 152 players distributed over 38 tables. Included among the guests, in addition to local residents, were a large number of summer guests whose presence contributed in a large way to the success of the evening. Handsome prizes, some of which had been donated by local shops, were awarded to those holding the best scores.

Money taken in will be used toward defraying taxes on the Community club house. The event was brought to a close with the serving of refreshments.

YORBA LINDA, June 28.—Meeting yesterday in regular session, the board of trustees of Yorba Linda Grammar school district voted to call a $12,000 bond election July 19. It is proposed to build an auditorium costing $18,000. Of this sum $6,000 is to be secured through the SERA for labor for construction of the building.

FOUR HURT AS TIRE BLOWOUT OVERTURNS CAR

LAGUNA BEACH, June 28.—As a result of a blow-out of a rear tire, causing the car in which they were riding to turn over four times, four persons were slightly injured yesterday on the coast highway, the accident taking place halfway between Laguna Beach and Corona Del Mar.

Those injured were: Fred Backus, 29; Mrs. Fred Backus, 25; their daughter, Patricia Backus, 7, all of 4047 Forty-first street, San Diego, and Shirley Pierce, 9, also of San Diego. The injured persons were on their way to Long Beach, Mrs. Backus driving the car, when the accident occurred. They were picked up by J. D. Blue, Jr., of 3801 South Hope street, Los Angeles, and David B. Carmichael, of Santa Ana, who brought them into Laguna Beach for first aid.

Backus attributed the miraculous escape of himself and family to the shape of his new car, which instead of telescoping, rolled like an egg on the road.

Spanish Village Athletic Club To Hold Dance Soon

SAN CLEMENTE, June 28.—Invitations have been issued by the Empire Athletic club for its first annual sport dance signaling the opening of the summer season in San Clemente. The event will take place Saturday evening at the Social club house.

Dick Powell, Guy Kibbee and Walter Catlett will present a special number. It is announced. Dances will be presented by Ruth Warner, while a Los Angeles Negro orchestra will furnish music for dancing. Hostesses will be Misses Dorothy Latham, Lorna Barry, Jackie Robertson, Gloria Retteke, Esther Creighton, Katherine Stowell and Mesdames O. R. Robertson, George Higgins, R. H. Johnson, R. Tibbets and C. W. May.

The Empire Athletic club now a popular sports organization of San Clemente had its beginning when the upper grades of the grammar school organized the Empire Tennis club. The number of adult tennis players became interested and a senior group was formed which now in combination with the juniors constitutes the present organization.

ENGINEER AT LAGUNA

LAGUNA BEACH, June 28.—New arrivals in the art colony include Mr. and Mrs. A. Shaler Williams, formerly of Bridgeport, Conn., who have leased the Wheeler home on Thalia street. Williams, an engineer, has worked in the Philippines, China and Japan and Central and South America. He is now engaged in an oil survey at Huntington Beach.

HOLD BIRTHDAY PARTY AS BREA SOCIETY MEETS

BREA, June 28.—Birthday anniversaries falling in May, June, July and August were observed when the Ladies' Aid society of the Christian church met for an all day gathering at the home of Mrs. F. J. Schweitzer on East Elm street Wednesday. Luncheon was served in the garden on small tables under the shade of beach umbrellas. Spring flowers decorated the tables. The birthday cake was baked and cut by Mrs. Marie Tippin.

At the business meeting with Mrs. Marie Tippin, president, presiding, the society voted to return all officers and the Rev. J. Wesley Runyan, pastor of the church, installed them. The officers are, Mrs. Marie Tippin, president; Mrs. Robert S. Critchley, secretary; Mrs. John Burquist, treasurer; Mrs. Hugh Jones, chairman of birthday committee; Mrs. R. O. Williams, chairman of sunshine and table committee. Mrs. Tippin presented all officers with lovely corsages.

A pleasant feature of the day was the handkerchief shower given Mrs. Runyan who, with Anita and Robert, is leaving shortly to make her home with her parents at Riverside during the Rev. Mr. Runyan's stay in Nevada on special mission work. An original poem written by Mrs. Arthur Sullivan, was read with the presentation of the gifts.

Mrs. C. R. Merrifield, president of the Missionary society, announced that the next meeting will be held July 11. An ice cream social planned for this month has been postponed until some time in July, to be held at the Ray Clossen home.

Visiting Pastor To Preach Sunday

WINTERSBURG, June 28.—Evening services Sunday at the Wintersburg Methodist church will be omitted, it was announced today by the pastor, the Rev. W. A. Matson. A visiting minister, the Rev. Arthur Nagel, pastor of the Methodist church, south, of Santa Maria, will occupy the pulpit at 11 o'clock.

The Rev. and Mrs. Nagel, latter before her marriage, Miss Alice Willmarth, daughter of a former local pastor, are house guests of the Rev. and Mrs. Matson and with them are attending the Methodist conference in Long Beach.

JAM, JELLY DRIVE OF POST UNDER WAY

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 28.—The annual jam and jelly drive of the American Legion auxiliary of the Joseph Rodman post is under way and anyone wishing to contribute may leave their contributions at the De La Vergne home at Wintersburg or at the Chalmers grocery in Huntington Beach. The jams and jellies will be distributed in this section if calls from the soldiers' homes and hospitals are not received.

Garden Contest Is Opened By Scouts

SAN CLEMENTE, June 28.—San Clemente Boy Scouts are sponsoring a summer garden contest. The gardens, to be of uniform size, may be vegetable flower or a combination of both. Cash prizes will be awarded this fall, according to decisions of three judges who will be appointed by Scoutmaster Lindsay. Three weeks are allowed in which to qualify.

Nine boys have entered the contest thus far, Stanley Gajekski.

W. C. T. U. STAND ON MEDICINE IS TOLD AT BEACH

NEWPORT BEACH, June 28.—Stating the self-prescription of nostrums and to be one of the greatest dangers of illness, Mrs. Pearl K. Hesse, national director of the W. C. T. U., addressed the Newport Beach W. C. T. U. yesterday afternoon at their regular monthly meeting held in Christ Church, By-the-Sea. The topic was "Medical Temperance."

Mrs. Hesse spoke at some length concerning the evil of a promiscuous use of patent medicines. She also briefly outlined the stand of the W. C. T. U. concerning the use of medicines containing alcohol, stating that the W. C. T. U. is upheld in its work by the opinion of many of the world's leading medical authorities. She announced that steps are being taken by the organization to conduct a nation-wide battle against the use of narcotics.

The meeting was in recognition of Flower Mission day, and members brought bouquets to be delivered to shut-ins of the beach district. Mrs. J. J. Atwood and Mrs. Phoebe Bennett were hostesses for the occasion.

RIVER WEEDS REMOVED

TALBERT, June 28.—Work of cleaning weeds in the Santa Ana river bed is under way under the direction of directors of the Newport Protection district. A disc is being used in the main river bed and a crew of men is employed cleaning up additional weeds along the banks.

A meeting of district directors is slated for next Tuesday. Raymond Longbotham, George Smith, Richard Longbotham, Bud Shoemaker, Charles Sites, Allan Plume, Tommy Shoemaker and Donny Divil.

Every Conceivable Force WORKED TO TEAR THESE TIRES TO PIECES

But NOT ONE CORD LOOSENED! NOT ONE TREAD SEPARATED! Not one Blowout!

As thirty-three speed demons careened and slid around the steep banked curves of the hot brick track, tires shrieked and smoked . . . break-neck speeds, 150 miles and more down the straightaway—tremendous centrifugal force tugging to rip the tread from the body of the tire. In fact, every conceivable force worked to tear the tire to pieces, but not one cord loosened—and not a single blowout. What amazing proof of Tire Strength—Safety—Quality and Dependability!

Every one of the thirty-three drivers at the Indianapolis 500-mile sweepstakes chose and bought Firestone High Speed Tires. The fact that not one of the 132 tires failed is your greatest guarantee of the Extra Safety—Strength—and Dependability built into Firestone Tires.

HARBOR GROUP TO HOLD TWO DANCES

NEWPORT BEACH, June 28.—It was announced at headquarters of the Co-operative Workers' association of Newport Beach and Costa Mesa today that a benefit dance will be held under the sponsorship of the organization Saturday night at the Newport Beach dance hall on Central avenue at Twenty-first street. Another dance will be held next Tuesday evening. The high school orchestra will furnish the music at both gatherings.

On the Fourth of July, the Woman's auxiliary of the organization will hold a cookout food sale at the community in conjunction with a quilt and rug sale.

The organization has a committee at work acquiring equipment for a bakery and locating a place to install it. Those in charge of handling the fish are bartering for a fishing boat at this time.

Jim Wiley is in charge of arrangements for the banquet. The Spencer Allen is president of the organization and Mrs. Allen is president of the woman's auxiliary. Mrs. Sadie Bland is publicity representative.

Educated Horse Entered In Beach Parade Next Week

WINTERSBURG, June 28.—"Tony," an educated horse, is being entered in the Fourth of July parade at Huntington Beach by Clinton Brush, trainer of the animal, for the first time in public. The horse, a pinto, was bought from an Arizona ranch when six months old and has been in constant training since. The animal is able to ride a teeter totter, and can multiply and do other stunts.

LAGUNA BEACH GROUP READY TO GIVE PLAY

LAGUNA BEACH, June 28.—Director George Dunham and his staff of workers today were putting the finishing touches to the production of "Camille," Alexandre Dumas' famous play, to be staged tomorrow and Saturday nights at the Laguna Beach Community playhouse on Ocean avenue.

Reservations placed by Hollywood groups as well as by parties residing in Pasadena, Beverly Hills, Los Angeles, Riverside, Long Beach and Santa Ana, for the premiere tomorrow night, indicate a record attendance. Ticket sales indicate that Southland society will be represented at the event.

Several well known green stars are expected to attend the opening performance. Following are the staff members who have contributed their services to the undertaking: Samuel C. Pierce, assistant director; Ed Hobart, stage manager; V. Tanner, electrician; Len Hardie, carpenter; Donna Foeter, properties; and Helen Monahan, costumes. The sets for the play have been designed by T. W. Pennington, Jr., and costumes have been supplied through a courtesy arrangement.

Tustin Girls To Meet Next Week

TUSTIN, June 28.—The Girl Scouts will hold a meeting at 7 o'clock Monday evening in the American Legion hall, according to announcement made today by Miss Laura Adams, publicity chairman. Miss Bonnie Kiser is temporary leader of the Girl Scouts for the summer.

LEAVE ON VACATION
BREA, June 28.—Miss Dorothy Boyce, teacher in the Laurel school; Miss Orpha Ford of Fullerton and the Misses Joyce, Margaret and Ardis Squire of Katella left today on a motor trip of three weeks, their objective being Yosemite. They will stop at Wasco enroute for a brief visit with a sister of Miss Ford. They will also visit Sequoia National park, Mammoth Cave and Lake Tahoe.

EXPECT 25,000 CANDIDATE FOR TO ATTEND H. B. COUNTY BOARD EVENT JULY 4 IN STATEMENT

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 28.—With the start of the big parade here the morning of July 4, the city will begin the celebration of its 25th anniversary carrying out the most extensive Fourth of July program planned on the Southern California coast this year.

Other notable features of the program include horse races and a horse show, fancy riding and roping exhibitions, afternoon beach program, races for boys, girls, women and men with prizes and ribbon awards, old timer picnic, beauty contest for girls between the ages of 18 and 25, a street dance and fireworks at night.

The city is filling up with concession shows of every description and the streets are being gaily decorated. The city camp ground on the beach will take care of auto campers who desire to spend the day or several days during the holiday period at the beach. In all, Chairman W. H. Gallienne and his aides have prepared a full day for visitors on July 4 with a varied program going on every minute from 9 a. m. until midnight.

The street parade starting at 11 a. m. will be more than a mile long with Councilman John H. Marion as marshal of the day. Clint Brush is in charge of the parade division and D. W. Huston is in charge of the bathing girls parade for which some 30 girls are entered.

The American Legion will be represented by 21 Legion posts and color squads. A half dozen bands and drum corps will lead divisions of the parade. There is to be a baby show with awards for the babies.

The Fiesta de La Plata committee has arranged to take care of 25,000 visitors in the city and to provide entertainment and enjoyment for old and young.

BROTHERS' NIGHT OBSERVED BY LODGE

WESTMINSTER, June 28.—"Brothers' Night" for the Aloha Rebekah lodge was observed Tuesday evening at Odd Fellows' hall. A pot luck supper at 6:30 o'clock was attended by approximately 75 persons.

Mrs. Mildred Allen, past district deputy president, her marshal, Mrs. Eva Scott, and several others from Anaheim lodge and other from Sycamore lodge of Santa Ana, were special guests at the lodge meeting. Mrs. Freeman of the Hellman ranch who has been a Rebekah for 45 years, was a visitor.

Installation was announced July 10. At the July 24 meeting the state president, Mrs. Jessica Fornier, will be guest of honor.

Aloha lodge was presented with a new ballot box, the work of a member of the Anaheim lodge, by Mrs. Allen, Westminster lodge having won by a large margin the mileage contest.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hall was made general chairman of the committee composed of Mrs. Maude Michl and Mrs. Mae Mansperger for installation services.

Cards followed the lodge meeting, both "500" and pinocle being played and homemade cakes were given for high scores.

Card Party Held At L. B. Clubhouse

LAGUNA BEACH, June 28.—One of the most successful events in the history of the Laguna Beach Community club was the benefit card party held Monday night at the play house registering a record attendance.

According to Charles Gilmore, a checkup on admissions showed not less than 152 players distributed over 38 tables. Included among the guests, were a large number of summer guests whose presence contributed in a large way to the success of the evening. Handsome prizes, some of which had been donated by local shops, were awarded to those holding the best scores.

Money taken in will be used toward defraying taxes on the Community club house. The event was brought to a close with the serving of refreshments.

Yorba Linda Votes On Bond July 19

YORBA LINDA, June 28.—Meeting yesterday in regular session, the board of trustees of Yorba Linda Grammar school district voted to call a $12,000 bond election July 19. It is proposed to build an auditorium costing $18,000. Of this sum, $6,000 is to be secured through the SRA for labor for construction of the building.

FOUR HURT AS TIRE BLOWOUT OVERTURNS CAR

LAGUNA BEACH, June 28.—As a result of a blow-out of a rear tire, causing the car in which they were riding to turn over four times, four persons were slightly injured yesterday on the coast highway, the accident taking place halfway between Laguna Beach and Corona Del Mar. Those injured were: Fred Backus, 29; Mrs. Fred Backus, 25; their daughter, Patricia Backus, 7, all of 4047 Forty-first street, San Diego, and Shirley Pierce, 9, also of San Diego. The injured persons were on their way to Long Beach, Mrs. Backus driving the car, when the accident occurred. They were picked up by J. D. Blue, Jr., of 3801 South Hope street, Los Angeles, and David B. Carmichael, of Santa Ana, who brought them into Laguna Beach for first aid.

Backus attributed the miraculous escape of himself and family to the shape of his new car, which instead of telescoping, rolled like an egg on the road.

HOLD BIRTHDAY PARTY AS BREA SOCIETY MEETS

BREA, June 28.—Birthday anniversaries falling in May, June, July and August were observed when the Ladies' Aid society of the Christian church met for an all day gathering at the home of Mrs. F. J. Schweitzer on East Elm street Wednesday. Luncheon was served in the garden on small tables under the shade of beach umbrellas. Spring flowers decorated the tables. The birthday cake was baked and cut by Mrs. Marie Tiffin.

At the business meeting with Mrs. Marie Tiffin, president, presiding, the society voted to return all officers and the Rev. J. Wesley Runyan, pastor of the church, installed them. The officers are: Mrs. Marie Tiffin, president; Mrs. Marie Tiffin, vice president; Mrs. Robert S. Critchlow, secretary; Mrs. John Burquist, treasurer; Mrs. Hugh Jones, chairman of birthday committee; Mrs. R. O. Williams, chairman of sunshine and table committee. Mrs. Tiffin presented all officers with lovely corsages.

A pleasant feature of the day was the handkerchief shower given Mrs. Runyan who, with Anita and Robert, is leaving shortly to make her home with her parents at Riverside during the Rev. Mr. Runyan's stay in Nevada on special mission work. An original poem written by Mrs. Arthur Sullivan, was read with the presentation of the gifts.

Mrs. C. R. Merrifield, president of the Missionary society, announced that the next meeting will be held July 11. An ice cream social planned for this month has been postponed until some time in July, to be held at the Ray Clossen home.

Visiting Pastor To Preach Sunday

WINTERSBURG, June 28.—Evening services Sunday at the Wintersburg Methodist church will be omitted, it was announced today by the pastor, the Rev. W. A. Matson. A visiting minister, the Rev. Arthur Nagel, pastor of the Methodist church, south of Santa Maria, will occupy the pulpit at 11 o'clock.

The Rev. and Mrs. Nagel, the latter before her marriage, Miss Alice Willmarth, daughter of a former local pastor, are house guests of the Rev. and Mrs. Matson and with them are attending the Methodist conference in Long Beach.

JAM, JELLY DRIVE OF POST UNDER WAY

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 28.—The annual jam and jelly drive of the American Legion auxiliary of the Joseph Rodman post is under way and anyone wishing to contribute may leave their contributions at the De La Vergne home at Wintersburg or at the Chalmers grocery in Huntington Beach. The jams and jellies will be distributed in this section if calls from the soldiers' homes and hospitals are not received.

Garden Contest Is Opened By Scouts

SAN CLEMENTE, June 28.—San Clemente Boy Scouts are sponsoring a summer garden contest. The gardens, to be of uniform size, may be vegetable, flower or a combination of both. Cash prizes will be awarded this fall, according to decisions of three judges who will be appointed by Scoutmaster Lindsay. Three weeks are allowed in which to qualify.

Nine boys have entered the contest thus far, Stanley Gajekski.

W. C. T. U. STAND ON MEDICINE IS TOLD AT BEACH

NEWPORT BEACH, June 28.—Stating the self-prescription of nostrums and to be one of the greatest dangers of illness, Mrs. Pearl K. Hess, national director of medical temperance, for the W. C. T. U., addressed the Newport Beach W. C. T. U. yesterday afternoon at their regular monthly meeting, held in Christ Church By-the-Sea. The topic was "Medical Temperance."

Mrs. Hess spoke at some length concerning the evil of a promiscuous use of patent medicines. She also briefly outlined the stand of the W. C. T. U. concerning the use of medicines containing alcohol, stating that the W. C. T. U. is upheld in its work by the opinion of many of the world's leading medical authorities. She announced that steps are being taken by the organization to conduct a nation-wide battle against the use of narcotics.

The meeting was in recognition of Flower Mission day, and members brought bouquets to be delivered to shut-ins of the beach district. Mrs. J. J. Atwood and Mrs. Phoebe Bennett were hostesses for the occasion.

RIVER WEEDS REMOVED
TALBERT, June 28.—Work of clearing weeds in the Santa Ana river bed is under way under the direction of directors of the Newbert Protection district. A dike is being used in the main river bed and a crew of men is employed in cleaning up additional weeds along the banks.

A meeting of district directors is slated for next Tuesday. Raymond Longbottom, George Smith, Richard Longbottom, Bud Shoemaker, Charles Sites, Allan Plume, Tommy Shoemaker and Donny Dive.

Every Conceivable Force WORKED TO TEAR THESE TIRES TO PIECES

But NOT ONE CORD LOOSENED! NOT ONE TREAD SEPARATED! Not one Blowout!

As thirty-three speed demons careened and slid around the steep banked curves of the hot brick track, tires shrieked and smoked . . . break-neck speeds, 150 miles and more down the straightaway—tremendous centrifugal force tugging to rip the tread from the body of the tire. GENERAL GLASSFORD COMPLETES
REPORT ON IMPERIAL VALLEY

General Glassford has just left Imperial Valley, at least temporarily. He has been there three months. He has been representing the department of labor.

Shortly after arriving on the ground, after consulting with the local growers and packers, he seemed inclined to take their view of it. But after these weeks of study and observation, without being financially interested, with the responsibility to report to the Federal government, and with well-known hostility to everything that smacks of Communism and force in attaining ends, his convictions are well worth consideration. Let us quote from him:

"It is my conviction that a group of growers have exploited a Communist hysteria for the advancement of their own interests; that they have welcomed labor agitation, which they could brand as 'red,' as a means of sustaining supremacy by mob rule, thereby preserving what is so essential to their profit—cheap labor; that they have succeeded in drawing into their conspiracy certain county officials who have become the principal tools of their machine.

"It was my first endeavor to correct this situation by argument and persuasion. This failing to curb illegal assaults, intimidation and unfair convictions, it became necessary to take a decided stand against the continuance of these deplorable conditions."

He then urged the removal definitely of one official. He then goes further on to say:

"Spread upon the pages of recent Imperial valley history, are certain lawless and illegal events which have been suppressed or distorted in local news accounts, and which have not been investigated by officials, who are charged by law with that responsibility. Reputable clergymen, lawyers, businessmen, and other citizens of Imperial Valley have informed me of their personal knowledge and observations, insisting upon a promise of confidence so great was their fear of retaliation, boycott or actual violence. One active vigilante remarked: 'I'd like to be out of this mess, but what can I do? If I don't line up my business will be ruined.'

"Particularly do I recommend the investigation of the following:

"1. The kidnaping and abuse of Attorney A. L. Wirin on January 23, and the running of his automobile over an embankment on January 24. It seems to be common knowledge that one deputy sheriff and another county official were involved in these affairs.

"2. The conviction on February 21 of Emma Cutler on a charge of vagrancy when she had been in Imperial Valley, prior to her arrest, not more than a very few hours.

"3. The assault upon Attorney Grover Johnson under the shadow of the court house at El Centro, on March 28. It seems to be common knowledge that one county official participated in the assault, and two county officials stood over him in a menacing manner, one of whom is reputed by several witnesses to have declared, when Attorney Johnson asked for his eye-glasses: 'If you ever return to Imperial Valley, you won't need any eye glasses,' or words to that effect."

He then proceeded more in his report, which it is unnecessary for us to repeat here.

General Glassford's statement entirely vindicates the report of the Federal commission which investigated Imperial Valley conditions before General Glassford was sent to the scene.

There is no doubt but that the intelligent leaders of Imperial Valley wish that they had never embarked upon this course. We ourselves have talked with employers who have given this expression.

The condition of mind, which made this situation possible, was created by agitators going into Imperial Valley and giving talks magnifying the idea of a "red menace," and arousing fear in the hearts of the growers. Fear begets hate; hate begets violence.

Orange county has been free, pretty largely, from the agitators on both ends of this social scale. The agitators, in the main, have been sent out from Los Angeles, to carry out the program which has been wrought out pretty largely in Los Angeles, and is responsible for the hundreds of thousands of people who are rebelling against it and are finding expression in the Utopian society and other similar organizations.

These agitators, of course, have the right of free speech. We wouldn't deny it to them, but no organization of laboring men, or any organization of growers or Chambers of Commerce, is aiding in the natural course to have democracy receive its full expression by importing these "radical" speakers, whose purpose it is to array class against class, and stop the normal thinking in our society.

Orange county enjoys a peaceful time and there exists a friendly spirit, and General Glassford could not make such a report from this county.

But if the "flannel-mouthed" agitators on either side, who head up in Los Angeles, and spread out like poison ivy from that center, could have their way, hatred and malice would take the place of charity and friendship.

Let us "set our faces like a flint" against it! The "red" agitator can make no headway when openness and friendliness and tolerance and free speech and free assembly are the natural order.

WHERE THE UTOPIAN SOCIETY
THRIVES

We have been reading something of the Utopian society and have been talking with some men whom we suspect of membership.

It seems that the Utopian society is a secret organization, founded on the constitution, whose emblem is the American flag, whose method is democracy, and whose objective is the abolition of the profit system in industry. It seems to have its center of strength in the city of Los Angeles. It is declared to have many thousands of members now.

It is a remarkable thing that organizations of this kind are strongest in Los Angeles, and as you move away from the city, on toward the north, that these groups are not as numerous and not as active as they are in the city of Los Angeles. When you reach San Francisco, you find a place where these organizations can hardly get a foothold.

There must be a reason. In San Francisco you find a very liberal state of mind. You do not find officials and newspapers combined to frighten and threaten people in their expression of ideas. It is outspoken; whatever is said or done can be said or done in the open. Nobody is hounded because he differs with you.

But in Los Angeles they have had a leadership that has been as much akin to the Czarist rule in Russia as you could have anywhere in democratic America. It has been carrying on for many years, and it has created by that spirit relatively the same conditions in Los Angeles county that the Czar and his bludgeons created in Russia.

The masses of the people will find expression, and they will find it more determinedly, just in proportion as there is an attempt to crush them and deny such expression. In Los Angeles county a man has to fight for his ideas against those who believe in the suppression of ideas.

This develops tremendous force and finds expression in organizations for Sinclair and the Utopian society. Elsewhere, where ideas do not have to fight for their opportunity of expression, and where rights are well protected, the idea does not have the explosive power that it does where it is confined, and then is touched off.

The Evening Post of Los Angeles, we believe, is beginning to see this situation quite clearly. We will quote an editorial from this paper of Wednesday of this week, in part:

"The Utopian society draws thousands to its mysteries and its dreams. The Old Age Pension plan of Dr. Townsend finds its thousands of enthusiastic advocates. The White Guard enlists its army.

"And against each and all of these plans or schemes other thousands are both fearful and bitter in their opposition. In these heated debates over the merits or lack of merits of the various programs lies real encouragement. IT INDICATES THAT PEOPLE ARE THINKING.

"Disagree as much as you please with the Utopian or any other program that has been originated within the ranks of the citizenship; grant that their schemes are impractical and unworkable; admit that they are unsound economically. Then take hope from the fact that these movements are signs of life in a democracy and that democratic ideals cannot perish when people think and plan.

"That citizens have declined to think, neglected to plan, refused to vote, is responsible for most of the evils which now beset us. That has been true of every democracy and republic.

"Much fear has been indicated and much alarm has been expressed over these so-called dangerous movements, but why should some citizens be alarmed when other citizens give evidence of thinking and planning? THE EVENING POST IS NOT ALARMED, IT WILL NEVER BE AFRAID OF ANY MOVEMENTS, SCHEME, OR PLAN NO MATTER HOW UNSOUND OR IMPRACTICABLE, IF IT RESTS ITS CAUSE UPON AN APPEAL TO THE JUDGMENT AND INTELLIGENCE OF THE CITIZENS.

"When the people are thinking, there is little cause for fear. It is only when they stop thinking that the danger signals fly."

Fewer Motor Fatalities
New York Times

Commissioner O'Ryan's street and highway safety drive seems to be bringing results. Although the accident reduction contest between the various police precincts has been under way less than two weeks, a sharp drop has already been recorded, both in accidents and in fatalities, which are 16 per cent less than in the same period last year. The improvement began even earlier. Figures released by Health Commissioner Rice this morning indicate that during the first three months of this year fatal motor accidents in this city were twenty-six less than in the same quarter a year ago. The decrease is the more significant because it contrasts with a 20 per cent increase in similar accidents reported during the same period for the State as a whole.

It is too early to be over-optimistic as to the final results of the present effort, or overconfident as to the role played by the police. Weather and human frailty have a way of upsetting the best calculations. The "safety first" movement in the schools may have had much to do with moderating contemporary carelessness. But stricter enforcement of the traffic rules is undoubtedly an important factor in the advance already registered, and if the police keep on with their good work they should have much to show for it before the year is over in the saved lives of children and adults. Such an outcome, however, will require the continued cooperation of the public, both on foot and on wheels.

Apropos Of Glassford's Report

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

TO A WREN ON A GOLF COURSE

I'm very sure that you possessed
A lingering dislike for me,
Else why did you construct your nest
Just up beside the fourteenth tee?
The fourteenth tee—deep in your heart,
Which holds no vestige of remorse,
You know full well that there we start
The longest fairway on the course,
And that, when you pop out and sing,
I cannot make a decent swing.

The place is simply filled with trees
Which you could build in if you chose,
But when I try to stand at ease
And cuff the pellet on the nose,
Endeavoring with all my soul
To take the proper stance and swing,
You always issue from your hole
And flap your little wings and sing.
And, hypnotized by your rude sounds,
I slice, or drive far out of bounds.

This year I thought compassion might Have led your course some otherwhere;
For days I glanced from left to right
And murmured gladly, "He's not there!"
Then, when I took my driver out,
I heard a strident cheeping whirr;
I dubbed my shot and looked about,
I might have known it—there you were,
To cheep and cheep till you were hoarse—
I'm going to join another course.

The chief difference between pleasure and work is that you can neglect pleasure today and not regret it tomorrow.

We seem to recall that very few battles have been lost by nations that stayed out of wars.

A relative is a person who calls you lazy when you fail and lucky when you succeed.

Our idea of a practical man is one who always buys dandruff-colored suits.

Everything's been printed about the World war except the list of millionaires who were killed in it.

MAN MAY BE SUPERIOR IN SOME WAYS,
BUT HE CAN'T SMILE FOR TWO HOURS IN A RECEIVING LINE WHILE HIS FEET ARE KILLING HIM.

It's quite a trick to keep exactly neck and neck with your friends so they'll neither envy nor patronize you.

The modern version: two's a family and three's a crowd.
That man who suggested that taxpayers should have the right to bargain collectively was probably locked up for being dangerously sane.

AMERICANISM: Taking better care of monkeys in our zoos than we do of children in our slums; wondering where all the criminals come from.

Suggestion for christening a new battleship: smash a bottle of red ink on its stern.
Optimist: a man who thinks this world is just a little bit cock-eyed.

He's a stubborn ass or a man of strong will depending on whether he's on your side or the other.

A WOMAN IS A PERSON WHO FINDS JUST WHAT SHE WANTS AND THEN TRIES ON SEVENTEEN OTHERS BEFORE DECIDING TO TAKE IT.

Wives of great men oft remind us of it.
Avid vital needs: bigger and better ash cans to hold all the old copy-book maxims.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

THE BALANCED ECONOMY PLAN

I have from time to time during the last two years expressed my disbelief in the soundness of the present world-wide tendency towards exclusive economic nationalism, autarchy, or the self-contained nation, as the tendency is variously described. But I have never, if my memory serves me soundly, given in these articles a thorough statement of the position of the self-contained nationalism advocates with whom I differ at many points. Today I want to try to give a fair and impartial statement of their position and what they expect from their theory.

It is the belief of the new nationalists that the industrialization of the world has reached the point at which the old sort of world trade is impossible, in view of the rapid expansion of production in so many foreign fields to which we formerly exported heavily, and that we must of necessity work out a new philosophy of foreign trade.

In essence, they think this new philosophy of foreign trade should rest upon the following considerations:

The nation's foreign trade should be judged by its value to the people as a whole and not its value to a few economic imperialists alone.

When judged by its value to the people as a whole, the new nationalists think that foreign trade should be looked upon only as a means of securing for ourselves goods, services and relationships we could not otherwise enjoy.

The new nationalists think further that we should not export any more of our output than is necessary to pay for these imported goods and services and these relationships that we cannot secure other than through such exchange.

The new nationalists thus would put all foreign trade essentially on a basis of barter, the only exception allowed by their thinking would be in instances where we might be in debt to another nation and increased our exports beyond a flat interchange of goods and services to discharge the debt. Since we are now so completely a creditor nation this exception is not important.

Thus the new nationalists do not project a world without world trade, but they turn their backs upon the old world trade that was business as well as barter and turn towards a new world trade that would be—as I have said—a flat interchange of goods and services with exports and imports neatly balanced.

This new concept of world trade would, the new nationalists think, remove world trade from the list of causes of war.

THE TEMPTER

"Where you going, Tommy?"
"To the store. For mother."
"Want me to go along?"
"Sure. If you want to."
"What you going for? How much money you got?"
"For a loaf of bread. I got a dime."
"What size loaf?"
"Eight cents."
"Tell you what. Get a seven cent. Then we can spend the three cents over."
"I gotta take back the change. Mother said to bring back the two cents."
"She won't know. You say it costs ten cents."
"What for?"
"So we can buy something with the change."
"What?"
"Three penny bars."
"I'll ask my mother."
"She won't let you."
"Then I can't."
"Tommy? Tommy-ee-ee. What are you standing there for?"
"O, mother—can I spend the change for penny ba-a-a-rs?"
"Come back here, Tommy. Hurry. Now tell me what you want to do."

"Nickie says to get a seven cent loaf and spend the three cents for penny—"
"No, m'am, don't you believe him. I never did."
"You go along home, Nickie. Tommy, you did right to ask me first. You can spend one penny for a bar. But an eight cent loaf. Bring me the penny. Nickie gets none."
"All right, mother. Could I give him half?"
"No. Nickie goes home. He wanted to cheat, and to get you to cheat so he is out. No bars for him. Hurry. I'll wait until you get back."

Tommy was under strong temptation. Nickie was his friend and chocolate bars are good. It takes a good many years of experience to deny a friend and go without the chocolate that comes by cheating. We have to understand the emotional background of this situation and support the child who is struggling against it. Children are closer to each other than they are to us, even when mothers are concerned. The child's heart is with his friend and the pull is powerful, the decision painful.

Teach the little ones to be honest and honorable, but guard them against too severe a strain on their ideals. One never knows where the tempter is coming from, or who will fulfill his part next time. The friends are likely to take turns at the role and our only hope lies in teaching, watching and guiding. The stronger the background we can build against the stronger the child will be. But it takes time and children are weak, especially in the hands of their friends.

Consider this and be kindly as you stand on guard.

GENERAL GLASSFORD COMPLETES
REPORT ON IMPERIAL VALLEY

General Glassford has just left Imperial Valley, at least temporarily. He has been there three months. He has been representing the department of labor.

Shortly after arriving on the ground, after consulting with the local growers and packers, he seemed inclined to take their view of it. But after these weeks of study and observation, without being financially interested, with the responsibility to report to the Federal government, and with well-known hostility to everything that smacks of Communism and force in attaining ends, his convictions are well worth consideration. Let us quote from him:

"It is my conviction that a group of growers have exploited a Communist hysteria for the advancement of their own interests; that they have welcomed labor agitation, which they could brand as 'red,' as a means of sustaining supremacy by mob rule, thereby preserving what is so essential to their profit—cheap labor; that they have succeeded in drawing into their conspiracy certain county officials who have become the principal tools of their machine.

"It was my first endeavor to correct this situation by argument and persuasion. This failing to curb illegal assaults, intimidation and unfair convictions, it became necessary to take a decided stand against the continuance of these deplorable conditions."

He then urged the removal definitely of one official. He then goes further on to say:

"Spread upon the pages of recent Imperial valley history, are certain lawless and illegal events which have been suppressed or distorted in local news accounts, and which have not been investigated by officials, who are charged by law with that responsibility. Reputable clergymen, lawyers, businessmen, and other citizens of Imperial Valley have informed me of their personal knowledge and observations, insisting upon a promise of confidence so great was their fear of retaliation, boycott or actual violence. One active vigilante remarked: 'I'd like to be out of this mess, but what can I do? If I don't line up my business will be ruined.'

"Particularly do I recommend the investigation of the following:

"1. The kidnapping and abuse of Attorney A. L. Wirin on January 23, and the running of his automobile over an embankment on January 24. It seems to be common knowledge that one deputy sheriff and another county official were involved in these affairs.

"2. The conviction on February 21 of Emma Cutler on a charge of vagrancy when she had been in Imperial Valley, prior to her arrest, not more than a very few hours.

"3. The assault upon Attorney Grover Johnson under the shadow of the court house at El Centro, on March 28. It seems to be common knowledge that one county official participated in the assault, and two county officials stood over him in a menacing manner, one of whom is reputed by several witnesses to have declared, when Attorney Johnson asked for his eye-glasses: 'If you ever return to Imperial Valley, you won't need any eye glasses,' or words to that effect."

He then proceeded more in his report, which it is unnecessary for us to repeat here.

General Glassford's statement entirely vindicates the report of the Federal commission which investigated Imperial Valley conditions before General Glassford was sent to the scene.

There is no doubt but that the intelligent leaders of Imperial Valley wish that they had never embarked upon this course. We ourselves have talked with employers who have given this expression.

The condition of mind, which made this situation possible, was created by agitators going into Imperial Valley and giving talks magnifying the idea of a "red menace," and arousing fear in the hearts of the growers. Fear begets hate; hate begets violence.

Orange county has been free, pretty largely, from the agitators on both ends of this social scale. The agitators, in the main, have been sent out from Los Angeles, to carry out the program which has been wrought out pretty largely in Los Angeles, and is responsible for the hundreds of thousands of people who are rebelling against it and are finding expression in the Utopian society and other similar organizations.

These agitators, of course, have the right of free speech. We wouldn't deny it to them, but no organization of laboring men, or any organization of growers or Chambers of Commerce, is aiding in the natural course to have democracy receive its full expression by importing these "radical" speakers, whose purpose it is to array class against class, and stop the normal thinking in our society.

Orange county enjoys a peaceful time and there exists a friendly spirit, and General Glassford could not make such a report from this county.

But if the "flannel-mouthed" agitators on either side, who head up in Los Angeles, and spread out like poison ivy from that center, could have their way, hatred and malice would take the place of charity and friendship.

Let us "set our faces like a flint" against it! The "red" agitator can make no headway when openness and friendliness and tolerance and free speech and free assembly are the natural order.

WHERE THE UTOPIAN SOCIETY
THRIVES

We have been reading something of the Utopian society and have been talking with some men whom we suspect of membership.

It seems that the Utopian society is a secret organization, founded on the constitution, whose emblem is the American flag, whose method is democracy, and whose objective is the abolition of the profit system in industry. It seems to have its center of strength in the city of Los Angeles. It is declared to have many thousands of members now.

It is a remarkable thing that organizations of this kind are strongest in Los Angeles, and as you move away from the city, on toward the north, that these groups are not as numerous and not as active as they are in the city of Los Angeles. When you reach San Francisco, you find a place where these organizations can hardly get a foothold.

There must be a reason. In San Francisco you find a very liberal state of mind. You do not find officials and newspapers combined to frighten and threaten people in their expression of ideas. It is outspoken; whatever is said or done can be said or done in the open. Nobody is hounded because he differs with you.

But in Los Angeles they have had a leadership that has been as much akin to the Czarist rule in Russia as you could have anywhere in democratic America. It has been carrying on for many years, and it has created by that spirit relatively the same conditions in Los Angeles county that the Czar and his bludgeons created in Russia.

The masses of the people will find expression, and they will find it more determinedly, just in proportion as there is an attempt to crush them and deny such expression. In Los Angeles county a man has to fight for his ideas against those who believe in the suppression of ideas.

This develops tremendous force and finds expression in organizations for Sinclair and the Utopian society. Elsewhere, where ideas do not have to fight for their opportunity of expression, and where rights are well protected, the idea does not have the explosive power that it does where it is confined, and then is touched off.

The Evening Post of Los Angeles, we believe, is beginning to see this situation quite clearly. We will quote an editorial from this paper of Wednesday of this week, in part:

"The Utopian society draws thousands to its mysteries and its dreams. The Old Age Pension plan of Dr. Townsend finds its thousands of enthusiastic advocates. The White Guard enlists its army.

"And against each and all of these plans or schemes other thousands are both fearful and bitter in their opposition. In these heated debates over the merits or lack of merits of the various programs lies real encouragement. IT INDICATES THAT PEOPLE ARE THINKING.

"Disagree as much as you please with the Utopian or any other program that has been originated within the ranks of the citizenship; grant that their schemes are impractical and unworkable; admit that they are unsound economically. Then take hope from the fact that these movements are signs of life in a democracy and that democratic ideals cannot perish when people think and plan.

"That citizens have declined to think, neglected to plan, refused to vote, is responsible for most of the evils which now beset us. That has been true of every democracy and republic.

"Much fear has been indicated and much alarm has been expressed over these so-called dangerous movements, but why should some citizens be alarmed when other citizens give evidence of thinking and planning? THE EVENING POST IS NOT ALARMED, IT WILL NEVER BE AFRAID OF ANY MOVEMENTS, SCHEME, OR PLAN NO MATTER HOW UNSOUND OR IMPRACTICABLE, IF IT RESTS ITS CAUSE UPON AN APPEAL TO THE JUDGMENT AND INTELLIGENCE OF THE CITIZENS.

"When the people are thinking, there is little cause for fear. It is only when they stop thinking that the danger signals fly."

New York Times

Commissioner O'Ryan's street and highway safety drive seems to be bringing results. Although the accident reduction contest between the various police precincts has been under way less than two weeks, a sharp drop has already been recorded, both in accidents and in fatalities, which are 16 per cent less than in the same period last year. The improvement began even earlier. Figures released by Health Commissioner Rice this morning indicate that during the first three months of this year fatal motor accidents in this city were twenty-six less than in the same quarter a year ago. The decrease is the more significant because it contrasts with a 20 per cent increase in similar accidents reported during the same period for the State as a whole.

It is too early to be oversanguine as to the final results of the present effort, or overconfident as to the role played by the police. Weather and human frailty have a way of upsetting the best calculations. The "safety first" movement in the schools may have had much to do with moderating contemporary carelessness. But stricter enforcement of the traffic rules is undoubtedly an important factor in the advance already registered, and if the police keep on with their good work they should have much to show for it before the year is over in the saved lives of children and adults. Such an outcome, however, will require the continued cooperation of the public, both afoot and awheel.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

THE BALANCED ECONOMY PLAN

I have from time to time during the last two years expressed my disbelief in the soundness of the present world-wide tendency towards exclusive economic nationalism, autarchy, or the self-contained nation, as the tendency is variously described. But I have never, if my memory serves me soundly, given in these articles a thorough statement of the position of the self-contained nationalism advocates with whom I differ at many points. Today I want to try to give a fair and impartial statement of their position and what they expect from their theory.

It is the belief of the new nationalists that the industrialization of the world has reached the point at which the old sort of world trade is impossible, in view of the rapid expansion of production in so many foreign fields to which we formerly exported heavily, and that we must of necessity work out a new philosophy of foreign trade.

In essence, they think this new philosophy of foreign trade should rest upon the following considerations:

The nation's foreign trade should be judged by its value to the people as a whole and not its value to a few economic imperialists alone.

When judged by its value to the people as a whole, the new nationalists think that foreign trade should be looked upon only as a means of securing for ourselves goods, services and relationships we could not otherwise enjoy.

The new nationalists think further that we should not export any more of our output than is necessary to pay for these imported goods and services and these relationships that we cannot secure other than through such exchange.

The new nationalists thus would put all foreign trade essentially on a basis of barter, the only exception allowed by their thinking would be in instances where we might be in debt to another nation and increased our exports beyond a flat interchange of goods and services to discharge the debt. Since we are now so completely a creditor nation this exception is not important.

Thus the new nationalists do not project a world without world trade, but they turn their backs upon the old world trade that was business as well as barter and turn towards a new world trade that would be—as I have said—a flat interchange of goods and services with exports and imports neatly balanced.

This new concept of world trade would, the new nationalists think, remove world trade from the list of causes of war.

Tommy was under strong temptation. Nickie was his friend and chocolate bars are good. It takes a good many years of experience to deny a friend and go without the chocolate that comes by cheating.
